Well-Known Broker Was Victim of an Assassin This Morning.

CALLED TO DOOR TO BE MURDERED

Last Thursday He Received Infernal Machine Evidently Expected to Kill Him.

LITTLE HOPE OF HIS LIFE

At 1:45 o'clock this morning C. B. Allison, the well-known real estate broker and manager of the new House office building, at Smithfield and Water streets, was called to the front door of his home in Sheraden and shot by an unknown person. The bullet entered Mr. Allison's left side near the heart and at 5 o'clock it was reported that he had little chance to recover.

Mr. Allison retired before midnight and shortly before 2 o'clock was awakened and startled by hearing loud ringing and knocking at his front door. He secured his revolver and descended the front stairs. After standing at the front door listening for about five minutes he pulled open the door and looked out, but saw no one. He then opened the door wider and stepped out in the dark on to his front porch. While peering about in the darkness for the person who had aroused him a loud pistol report was suddenly heard and a flame flashed out from the darkness near the side of the house. Mr. Allison fell to the floor of the porch, but attempted to get up again and follow his assailant.

Mr. Allison succeeded in dragging himself to the porch railing, and after raising up and supporting himself on the railing he fired three shots after the assassin. Mrs. Allison, on hearing the four shots, rushed down the stairs to her husband's assistance and found him half hanging and half kneeling on the porch. She dragged him inside the house, and by that time the neighborhood was aroused and a physician summoned.

The physician found the bullet had entered Mr. Allison's left side above the heart and, striking a rib, continued its course to the right shoulder blade, where it lodged.

No attempt was made to extract the bullet, and it is probable Mr. Allison will be brought to a Pittsburgh hospital today, where the bullet can be probed for with the aid of the "X" rays.

No reason is known for the attempt on the life of Mr. Allison, nor who the man is that fired the shot which may cost Mr. Allison his life.

After the shooting it was said that on last Thursday an attempt had been made on Mr. Allison's life. Thursday evening, when Mr. Allison returned from his office in Pittsburgh, he was handed a small wooden box, which had been sent him through the mails. On opening it he found that the box contained a revolver wrapped in thin paper. The trigger of the pistol was held cocked by a thin piece of string, which was attached to the lid of the box in such a manner that, when the lid was removed from the box, the string would break and let the trigger fall, which would fire the revolver.

In some manner the scheme of the sender failed to work as planned, and the trigger remained cocked after the lid of the box had been removed.

This morning it was said that the shooting is the result of political trouble which Mr. Allison has had in the borough. Another reason given for the attempted shooting is that, by some, it is thought Mr. Allison is connected with the Anti-Saloon league, as the box containing the revolver was directed to "C. B. Allison, secretary of the Anti-Saloon league, Sheraden, Pa." It was denied this morning that Mr. Allison is in any way connected with the league.

After the shooting the person who fired the shot escaped toward McKees Rocks, and up to 4 o'clock had succeeded in evading the police of the country about Sheraden. The Pittsburgh police were notified of the shooting by the chief of police of Sheraden and the detectives on night watch immediately went to the foot of Fifth avenue to watch the incoming West End cars and arrest the shooter in case he attempted to escape by coming to Pittsburgh.

BOWEN AWAITS REPLY OF ALLIES

SITUATION MUDDLED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.

In the Venezuelan situation the issue was very strongly drawn today between the allied powers and the other creditor nations. The action of Great Britain, Germany and Italy in insisting on preferential treatment has caused the most serious discussion in some quarters of an alliance between the United States, France, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Sweden and Spain to offset the combination of the debt collecting nations whose acts still threaten the negotiations and cause distrust and concern in every capital in Europe. Hence, if the air should not speedily be cleared there may be another alliance as a foil to that put into operation by King Edward and Emperor William.

The matter was discussed in the cabinet meeting today and it can be stated that some persons in the administration are apprehensive and distrustful of the ultimate designs of the alliance and mystified as to the real reason the allies have in bringing forward a claim for preferential treatment which is distasteful to every other government which has claims against Venezuela.

After talking with the diplomatic representatives of the claimant nations outside of the alliance, I can say that their governments resent the effort of the powers to obtain favored treatment, and if the allied powers force Mr. Bowen to yield to their demand that the alliance be favored, these governments will not blame Venezuela, but will vent their displeasure probably in sharp protests to the allies who will have thus forced Venezuela to retract her promise that all claims would be settled on an equal basis.

"The allies have not yet answered Minister Bowen's proposition made several days ago that there shall be no preference of claims of Great Britain, Germany and Italy against Venezuela over those of other nations against the South American country.

It became known today that Mr. Bowen had addressed a note to the representatives of the allies which in a measure might be regarded as an ultimatum as defining his position. Mr. Bowen declines absolutely to discuss the question, but it is known that he said to the allies that if they persisted in their determination to receive preferential treatment in the matter of the settlement of the claims he would call together the other creditor nations having claims against Venezuela, with a view to their making a formal protest against the demands of those who participated in the blockade.

In view of the continued tension in the Venezuelan situation, senators and representatives who have been watching the condition of affairs with great care, especially in reference to the proposed isthmian canal, are discussing with some animation an article of the capal treaty with Colombia which appears to reassert with greater firmness than ever the Monroe doctrine.

By this article the republic of Colombia agrees that it will not cede or lease to any foreign government any of its lands or harbors near the bay of Panama, nor on the Atlantic coast of Colombia, between the Atrato river and the western boundary of Panama. The article in the treaty goes even further than this, and binds the United States government to lend "the material support that may be required in order to prevent the occupation of the said islands and ports, guaranteeing the sovereignty, independence and integrity of Colombia."

DROVE SPIKE INTO WORKMAN'S HEEL

Four Poles Held Fellow Countryman While Fifth Tortured Him for Revenge.

Anton Merhoor, a Pole, living at No. 42 Troy Hill road, Allegheny, was a victim last night to the inhuman cruelty of five of his countrymen, four of them holding him while the fifth with a heavy sledge drove a large iron spike through the heel of his shoe into his foot, the iron penetrating the flesh and bone about two inches.

The affair occurred at the Schoenberger mill at sixteenth street about 10:30 o'clock, and one of the men, Mike Krowesti, was arrested a short time later by Lieutenant Harry Myer and locked in No. 3 police station. The injured man, after having his wound temporarily dressed by a physician, was hurried to his home on the doctor's advice, as he feared lockjaw might develop. What caused the trouble could not be ascertained, but it is thought that it was due to an old grudge.

MORGAN WILLING TO PAY TAXES HE DOES NOT OWE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—"I do not want to be a tax dodger. I believe every man doing business in New York should pay something, and while I could make a sworn statement showing that I am not liable for any personal taxes here, I do not take any such oath.

"I will agree, voluntarily, to pay on $400,000, but if I am required to swear to the formal statement I shall prove I am not liable and I shall not pay a dollar."

In these words J. P. Morgan today swore his personal assessment down from $600,000 to $400,000, and placed himself on record as owning no taxable personality in this city, yet volunteered to pay to the municipality $5,800 this year as his tribute toward the expenses of maintaining the local government. The offer was accepted.

ONE OF THE HUMORS OF THE CAMPAIGN.

VON STERNBERG IS CONCILIATORY

STATES HIS MISSION

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.

"The Monroe doctrine is at least as well understood as it is here and will doubtless be as thoroughly respected.

"In the present instance the kaiser has no ulterior motive, and a grab of South American land is no part of the intention of Germany."

These sentences were emphatically spoken today by Baron Speck von Sternberg, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Germany to the United States. He had just arrived in Hoboken on the Hamburg-American liner Augusta Victoria.

The baron talked freely on the Venezuelan situation with a reporter for The Gazette while the ship was being docked. He asserted that Germany's attitude regarding the affair is much misunderstood not only in this country but in Venezuela as well.

"Germany has no intention," he reiterated, "of violating the Monroe doctrine. Reprisal, pure and simple, is the cause of any demonstrations which have taken place in Venezuelan waters." The baron positively denied reports of an anti-American feeling in Berlin, either among the populace or in official circles.

"It is my earnest desire," the baron said, "to fully assure the American public that instead of entertaining an anti-American feeling, the sentiments of the German public and the German government are of the warmest cordiality. Germany's hand is outstretched across the ocean and ready to be grasped that the bond of friendship between the two nations may be strengthened.

"I am not speaking without a complete knowledge of the conditions. While I was in Berlin I carefully ascertained, as a part of my equipment for my mission, the true state of sentiment. I want to assert to the public, through The Gazette, that everywhere I went as an official in court circles or unofficially among the people, I found a distinctly pro-American sentiment existing.

"As is well known, his majesty, Kaiser Wilhelm, is a warm friend of America, and this feeling is shared by his court and his people.

"It has been stated that I am to succeed Dr. von Holleben as ambassador at Washington. If this is true, I do not know it. I am commissioned as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, and my mission is simply in relation to the Venezuelan affair.

"I am the first representative of Germany at Washington who ever had an American wife. I shall have, therefore, to be as fair to America as to Germany in my diplomatic negotiations."

Accompanying the minister were the baroness and her sister, Miss Langham.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK

Philadelphia Flyer Crashes Into a Freight Train on Pennsylvania Railroad.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Jan. 30.—The Philadelphia flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad collided with a light freight train near Lofty, Schuylkill county, this evening. The engineer and fireman of the freight train were killed, the engineer and fireman of the passenger train seriously hurt and seven passengers injured. The killed:

ROBERT MOYER, engineer.
FRED GEARHART, fireman.

Both men resided at Weatherly, Carbon county. The engineer of the flyer was Israel Carey of Pottsville, and the fireman John Smith of the same town. Smith was taken out of the wreck unconscious. Engineer Carey went to his home.

Between Hazleton and Lofty there is a single track which is used by both the Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania railroads. Through a misunderstanding of orders, both trains got on this single stretch of track. Both locomotives came together with a terrific crash. The freight engine plunged into the chair car. The passengers in this car were hurled in every direction. The porter, Harry Heyward, colored, was probably fatally injured. The railroad officials state tonight that none of the passengers was seriously injured and all will be able to resume their journey in the morning.

Joseph Chamberlain's Wife Gets Diamonds in South Africa

(Associated Press Cable to The Gazette)

Kimberley, Cape Colony, Jan. 30.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain arrived here today and were accorded a remarkable reception. The town was lavishly decorated, and Mrs. Chamberlain was presented with a casket of diamonds by the ladies of Kimberley.

RUSHED WITH WORK FOR YEAR

BIG SHOPS FOR L. & N.

New contracts have been crowding in on the American Bridge Company in such volume recently that practically the entire capacity of the shops of the company is engaged for the year of 1903. The Pittsburgh office of the company has within the past 10 days taken contracts aggregating about $2,000,000, and requiring 21,200 tons of material.

Yesterday the Pittsburgh office closed a contract with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company for the steel erection of ten new shops to be located at South Louisville. This requires 5,500 tons of material. One of the shops will be 800 feet long and 170 feet wide. The steel work will have capacity for carrying 100-ton cranes. The Louisville & Nashville has also placed with the American Bridge Company the contract for the superstructure of a double-track drawbridge to span the Cumberland river at Clarksville, Tenn. The bridge will be about 420 feet long and will require 1,000 tons of structural material. The two contracts amount to about $500,000 and are to be fulfilled within the year. The work of fabricating the material will start at once.

The bridge company has just taken the contract for the steel work of an extension to the trainshed of the St. Louis Union station. The present shed accommodates about 130 trains and the station is the greatest of the world. The trainshed extension will run out 180 feet and will require 700 tons of steel. A short time ago the company closed the contract for the erection of a double-track elevated cut-off 7,000 feet long around the St. Louis tunnel. This will end at Eads just after crossing the river. It will carry trains into the station and substitute the objectionable tunnel. The bridge company has also taken the contract for the steel lining of a baggage tunnel at the station. This and the elevated cut-off requires 14,500 tons of material. All the St. Louis work is to be completed in time for the fair.

At its new plant at Ambridge the American Bridge Company has started the forging of the great eye-bars to go into the cantilever bridge of the Wabash over the Monongahela and Ohio rivers. These bars will be 16x2½ inches, with 33-inch heads and 85 feet long. The company had no plant that could handle the work, and rushed the construction of this shop to get the bars out in the time required by the Wabash.

Work on the other big shops at Ambridge has been dragging somewhat through delays in getting material and scarcity of men. The plant will employ nearly 5,000 men and will handle 500,000 tons of structural material in a year.

UNION RECOGNIZED AND WAGES RAISED

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—There will probably be no strike on the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which is part of the Wabash system. The advance in wages demanded by the engineers, firemen and trainmen has been granted. The advance amounts to about 10 per cent. The main contention of the men, however, was that the company should recognize the union, and that will be done.

WABASH CLOSING GAPS IN ITS LINE

Connecting Up the West Virginia Central With the Western Maryland.

LOREE SAYS LITTLE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, Jan. 30.—Gould interests are actively at work on the plans to fill in the links needed to connect the West Virginia Central with the Wabash. This calls for the construction of about 180 miles of railroad, of which about 30 miles is in rebuilding a small line that has been acquired. Connection with the West Virginia Central is to be made at Bellington, W. Va., and from that place the link will run via Parkersburg, W. Va., to Zanesville, O., where the Wabash system is joined.

What is known as the Little Kanawha syndicate, with $10,000,000 capital, was formed to carry out this work. Contracts have been let for the reconstruction of 30 miles of line east of Parkersburg and for the further extension of the road about 50 miles to Burnsville, Braxton county, West Virginia. From the latter place the final link of about 30 miles has to be built to connect with the West Virginia Central.

Contracts will soon be awarded for building the new $1,000,000 bridge across the Ohio river at Parkersburg, to be used by the Wabash. This bridge will span the river a short distance below Blennerhasset island and will be 90 feet above low water. Its channel span will be 550 feet long.

From Zanesville, which is on the Wheeling & Lake Erie line of the Wabash to Parkersburg, is 68 miles over the route adopted for the extension. This will cost about $70,000 a mile. There will be three tunnels and a number of small bridges. The purpose is to make the line as straight a line as possible and to force it through whatever difficulties that the topography of the route may produce.

President Loree of the Baltimore & Ohio, in response to a query as to whether any deal had been made giving to the Western Maryland trackage rights over the Baltimore & Ohio between Cumberland and Cherry run, replied:

"We have not made any such arrangement."

It will be noticed that Mr. Loree diplomatically refrains from saying that such a deal will not be made.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 30.—Judging from developments of the past few days, the Wabash has again revived its scheme to build a cross-town line to connect with the Ann Arbor road. Investigation disclosed the fact that nearly every piece of property along the proposed line has been tied up by options and several pieces have been purchased recently by local people very close to the Wabash management. Several months ago President Ramsey had a scheme of this kind. However, after considerable discussion, it was abandoned.

The present projects involve the building of an elevated line across the heart of the city, but the latest scheme is to move the line one block farther west to avoid the expense of condemning several new and expensive buildings.

REPUBLICANS OF PITTSBURGH HOLD FIVE LARGELY ATTENDED AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETINGS

REGISTER G. H. STENGEL MAKES TELLING SPEECH

Says That Moral as Well as Political Character Is Issue of Campaign—O'Brien Tells Why He Supports Haymaker.

That Republicanism is asserting itself and the voters of Pittsburgh are flocking to the standard of John C. Haymaker for city recorder was demonstrated at five enthusiastic, well attended mass meetings held in different parts of the city last night. The candidate, Mr. Haymaker, addressed two of the meetings and was greeted with applause and cheers. He manfully asserted his platform and declared himself a representative of the people.

The voters of the Nineteenth ward came out in great numbers to attend the Republican meeting held in the Garfield school, in North Atlantic avenue. Mr. Haymaker made a telling speech and was received with marked approval. The other speakers were William M. Hall, Samuel Hamilton and J. McK. Carpenter.

The Republican headquarters of the Thirty-seventh ward, at Brushton avenue and Susquehanna street, was packed to overflowing with enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Haymaker. The candidate made a speech, as did J. C. Wasson, J. C. Gray, Jere Carney and C. M. Logue. Mr. Logue read a letter he received yesterday from W. S. Guffey, a brother of Col. James M. Guffey, in which he declared he would support the Republican candidate, and giving his reasons for so doing.

Meetings Enthusiastic.

Col. Archibald Blakeley delivered a convincing speech at a mass meeting held in Main street school, Seventeenth ward. Other speakers were Charles F. McKenna, E. B. Vail and M. C. Acheson.

At Mugele's hall, No. 1805 Fifth avenue, the voters of the Eighth district of the Eleventh ward, held a largely attended smoker. A. H. Beltch, chairman of the campaign committee of the district, presided and made an address. Other speeches were made by Dr. Cadwalader Evans and F. C. Beihauer.

The Republicans of the Twenty-fifth ward on the South Side made up one of the largest meetings of the present campaign, held last night in Schiller Glocke hall, Twenty-sixth and Jane streets. Geo. H. Stengel, register of wills of Allegheny county, and a Democrat, made a strong speech favoring the candidacy of John C. Haymaker. Charles A. O'Brien, chairman of the Jacksonian city committee, also made a speech in which he declared all honest men should support the Republican nominee.

Mr. Stengel's speech was frequently interrupted by outbursts of spontaneous applause. He declared his reasons for supporting Haymaker in the present contest. Mr. Stengel's speech, in part, follows:

Moral Character an Issue.

A remarkable statement was made at a Citizens meeting in the Seventeenth ward last night that in the present recorder's fight it is not a question of moral character, but political character. This attempt to excuse Mr. Hays' candidacy was greeted with applause from the Citizens supporters. But I want to tell you that it is a question of moral character, even more than political character. A man is either honest or dishonest. He cannot be dishonest politically and honest morally. He must be one or the other.

I do not wish to besmirch the character of the Citizens candidate, but if he has not a good character morally he cannot have a good one politically.

There has been a good deal of talk about William Flinn being the real issue at stake in this fight. This is not so. Flinn has not, nor will he have anything to do with this fight. As Mr. Haymaker said, he will have absolutely no boss but himself. Mr. Flinn has not in the past controlled Mr. Haymaker, and in the future will not do so. The Republican candidate says that if he is elected next February it will be an end of Flinnism in Pittsburgh, as well as the decidedly worse Bigelowism. John C. Haymaker will be the next recorder of Pittsburgh and he will be the tool of no man or men.

Bigelow Named Hays.

The Citizens candidate was nominated by Thomas S. Bigelow, while the Republican candidate is the choice of the people. Mr. Bigelow said a few days before Hays' nomination: "William B. Hays is the man I name for city recorder and he is the man who will be nominated." Bigelow made good. He nominated Hays and showed the people just exactly what bossism is and what it can do.

Mr. O'Brien spoke in scathing terms of the Democrats who had sold out their party at the West End convention, when they indorsed Hays' candidacy. He asserted that he would vote for Haymaker because he was better fit in ability and character to administer the affair of the important office of recorder. Mr. O'Brien told of Mr. Haymaker's reputation and work as district attorney, and cited cases which proved that Haymaker was not a man to be influenced by politicians or bosses.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Charles H. Herizog. Other speeches were made by Jere Carney and Edward Struber, members of the Allegheny county bar, and several others.

James Brooks presided at the Thirty-seventh ward meeting. Every seat in Williams hall was filled and the standing room was utilized. The speakers were Mr. Haymaker, J. C. Wasson and George J. Chamberlin. This letter was received from Wesley S. Guffey, who had been asked to make an address:

Guffey Gives His Reasons.

I regret to decline your invitation, but feel that I must do so. My total lack of experience in public speaking makes it impossible for me to attempt an effort of this kind now. Although always deeply interested in the success of my party and its candidates, I have never in my life attempted to make a political speech.

The position of the Democracy of Pittsburgh in this campaign is very peculiar—we have no candidate, no leader, and from a party standpoint no organization whatever. The Democratic voters of the city are left to choose between two Republicans. The element that controlled the recent city convention at Foley hall in the West End is no sense represented the Democratic party. That convention was dominated by a band of hired retainers. The latter I cannot, as a man in the most impassible. It is for him to indorse the action of that convention. The Democratic party as and always has been, the supporter of honest government, public order and the enforcement of the laws.

The Citizens movement in this city never had my support. I did not vote for any man on the fusion ticket at either of the late elections who was not known to be a Democrat. I always doubted the integrity of the party because of the friends it seemed to make. I can never become enthusiastic in the support of any undertaking that is led by the Quays and the Bigelows.

I have investigated Mr. Haymaker as fully and carefully as I can. At the time of his nomination I knew but little about him. I have made inquiries of some of the best men in the city, who are not politicians and who at the same time are in a position to judge him accurately. From the information I have received I believe that he is competent and honest and that he will, if elected, give the city the best government it has had since Wyman fully guard the interests of the public. His nomination was brought about by the unified efforts of the best element in the Republican party, and I do not believe that he will, when in office, be controlled by any set of politicians who seek to serve their own ends against the people's interests.

How Hays Hopes to Win.

It is my opinion that the leaders of the opposition to Mr. Haymaker hope for success through the organization of the lawless elements in both of the old parties. The voters of Pittsburgh should remember that under the existing law, the recorder has infinitely more power than the mayor formerly had. If Mr. Hayes should be elected our city government would be in the unrestricted control of the Quays and the Bigelows. What the result of this would be to the taxpayers, business men and residents of this city is beyond the possibility of conjecture. The people of this city cannot now possibly comprehend what would be in store for them if this undertaking should result successfully.

I intend to vote the Jacksonian ticket at the coming election, and in every honorable way in my power I will support Mr. Haymaker. I do not hesitate to tell you this. It was very hard for me to make up my mind to support the head of the regular Republican ticket, but having no Democrat to vote for I am forced to this determination by my sense of duty to Pittsburgh and to my friends and neighbors among its residents.

My opinion is that Mr. Haymaker will be elected by a large majority, and from what I now know of the feeling of the people, I venture the prediction that the Jacksonian ticket will receive more Democratic votes than the Citizens ticket.

Joseph C. Wasson, common councilman from the Twentieth ward, said in part:

I have appeared so often before you of late that I take it for granted you are all acquainted with the fact that I was once an humble soldier in the ranks of the Citizens party. T. S. Bigelow says I was drummed out of camp, but I was not. My separation from that delectable organization was entirely voluntary, and because I believed no honest and patriotic man could longer afford to be identified with a party that had violated every noble pledge it ever made and had become a band of dishonest boodlers, bent on gathering the spoils of victory and enthroning a boss and Bigelowism.

Just Like Vanderbilt.

Honest citizens have been cheated and robbery of a worthy movement has been stolen by a man who is mad with the desire to establish himself as a czar of your political destinies, whose motto is, "The public be damned," and who has an abiding faith in the almighty power of his check book.

If you have not had these things proven to your satisfaction during the past year, go down to Third avenue, get an audience, if you can, and then after you have elbowed a motley crowd in the front room and have scraped and bowed and made an obeisance to the king, I heard the guess you will come away perfectly satisfied that what I say is the exact truth. All the good the Citizens movement ever stood for is now to be found in the platform that was adopted at Old City hall on the night of January 5 last at the convention of the Republican party and the people of Pittsburgh, and ever which I had the honor to preside.

I was born a Republican, was reared in a Republican atmosphere and have never been loyal to its true principles, and I believe that whatever is to be accomplished in the way of genuine reform will be accomplished by the Republican party, and not by its discredited offspring. If the Republican party has erred, it is because it has been misled. I do not wish to decry the Citizens movement, as viewed from its original purpose, for no good thing it has incidentally accomplished. The effect that it has had upon the Republican party is not to be denied. New organizations rarely accomplish genuine reform, but they surely had their effect upon stable parties, showing them may errors and abuses, infusing into them new life, better ideals and better aims.

Has Been Under the Light.

Not only is the Republican party backed by a party of stability and worth, as I have said, but it has as its candidate for the exalted office of recorder of Pittsburgh, a man not only of ability, character and true worth, but a man whose whole life has been revealed under the light that is always turned upon the conduct of the office of district attorney, in which the protection and security of the community is to a large extent intrusted.

I beg to be excused from indulging in any abuse, and all I desire to say respecting the personal qualifications of the two candidates, Mr. Haymaker and Mr. Hays, is just this: The life and character of one man is an open book.

INDIANS FAINT ON SEEING CHICAGO'S BLOODY PRIDE

CHICAGO, ILLS., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The slaughter houses are too savage for the savages. Today a band of full blood Blackfeet Indians, sight-seeing at the Union stock yards, weakened at the gory spectacle in the Armour packing plant.

Under the guidance of several prominent officials of the great concern, the red men made a tour of the various departments, and were deeply impressed with all they saw. The climax came when they visited the great slaughtering rooms. The process of killing hogs and cattle, and the streams of blood coursing over the floors, struck the noble sons of the forest with horror. They threw up their hands in disgust and sought to get out.

One fainted dead away and three others became so sick they had to be supported by the escorts. The others covered up their faces.

Superintendent Conway hurried them out to the fresh air, and later gave them refreshments in the lunch room. Most of the Indians are students from Carlisle, Pa.

There is not a muffled cry or a soiled page in it. It is a record of honorable life, representative of worth and higher aims; a life notonly of ability and character, but of reputation as well. He has discharged every duty committed to his care with fidelity and ability and he has been in the public eye long enough for you to get a proper measure of his standing. Those men, patriotic Republican men, who have freely said to me that so far as the men were concerned, the Republican municipal ticket stood head and shoulders above the other; that there was no comparison between them, and if it were only a question of men, there would be no doubt whatever about the election of Mr. Haymaker. But Haymaker is Flinn, so they say, and you are to be asked to go about Flinn, and we will be obliged to overlook the character, ability and many of the shortcomings of W. F. Haymaker.

The Flinn Bugaboo.

It is the bugaboo of Flinn which they are constantly injecting into this campaign; that constitutes their only argument, and the people are expected to listen to it. But, however, look at it as you choose, it is not largely a question of the man. You cannot cut away from the personal qualifications of the candidates they confront you on every side, and if you are true to your duty as fathers and have a proper sense of regard for the welfare of your city, for the proper administration of its affairs, the security of your home and the sanctity of your fireside, you will not be long in making a choice between John M. Haymaker and the willing tool of T. S. Bigelow.

After the nomination of Mr. Hays I went to Mr. Bigelow and endeavored to point out to him the folly of Hays' nomination and predicted just the happening of what has come to pass. Should he persist in holding him out as the representative of the movement he did not mean up to the second to get him to take up a man like Wm. H. Stevenson, and I was told frankly that he, Mr. Bigelow, could not afford to have in the office of Recorder any man that he could not absolutely depend upon, and that he had no confidence in Mr. Hays, and that he knew that his interests would be protected by him. Therefore, under no circumstances would he be pulled down. That fact, gentlemen, is known to me, and it is convincing proof that if Wm. B. Hays by any chance whatsoever should be elected recorder, and I do not think that he has the ghost of a chance, he will only be a dummy in order in name, the personal representative of Thomas S. Bigelow, who will be the power behind the throne.

Not a Patriot.

Is Mr. Bigelow in this fight actuated solely by patriotic motives? Has he spent, it has been alleged, upwards of $50,000 in the last campaign actuated solely by patriotic motives? If you think so, let me point out a few facts.

When I was elected to councils I was elected upon the platform which provided that thereafter no franchise should be granted in perpetuity or without consecration to the city. When the several electric light franchises were taken up by the corporation committee, one ordinance that was not limited in duration and that did not provide for compensation to the city was that of the Bigelows. Every effort was backed up by the Bigelows personal pay roll. Party caucuses and pledges were violated, notwithstanding my protest, to put this franchise through without limit and without compensation to the city. And why? Because the Bigelows were back of it, or supposed to be back of it, and I am not sure but what that theory obtains to-day.

Who was back of the brilliant cut-off Pennsylvania ordinance. Who was responsible for the additional property amendments offered in the interest of the people to that ordinance when it was up for passage? The caucus pledges to stand by those amendments and who handled the real estate end for the right of way from Fifth avenue through to the Allegheny. Bigelow, the brother of the man who is aspiring to be the political boss of Pittsburgh.

Who complained when wholesome amendments were offered with the ordinance so long incumbered that we were trying to prevent him from carrying out his agreement with the president of the Pennsylvania railroad? It was T. M. Bigelow.

Bigelow Against Wabash.

Let me put another proposition having a further bearing on the man now occupying the distinction of boss before the people of Pittsburgh. What noted about the Wabash ordinance in connection with the passage of the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance. Mr. Bigelow said:

"All I want is to get the Pennsylvania ordinance through, in order that I may carry out my agreement with the president of the Pennsylvania railroad. I am not interested in the Wabash ordinance in any manner whatsoever, and you can do anything you like with regard to it."

Mr. Haymaker in his Thirty-seventh ward speech went over much the same ground covered in his former addresses. Among other things he said:

A man in making a speech said that I was interested in a syndicate to place down the Ohio river, that he did not want to tell an untruth, but he understood that I got a rake-off, he wasn't sure whether it was one-fifth or one-tenth. He wished to create the impression that he would not tell an untruth, when as a matter of fact, it is a question whether he ever told the truth in his life in a speech.

I am going from this to the Nineteenth ward. I had hoped to come into closer contact with you, and I may on some future occasion. All I ask is that you investigate these charges, first and from friends of Mr. Bigelow, over means you think proper, and ascertain who you wish at the head of the government of this city, and when you make up your mind to that effect vote for him no matter who he is, and I will be content with the result.

Flinn Was Scored.

Ex-Senator William Flinn was warmly rebuked at the Republican meeting in the Eleventh ward. Mr. Bindhamer made these remarks concerning Mr. Flinn:

In all campaigns there are issues, but it appears to me there is only one in this campaign from the other side of Flinn. From Flinn himself. In going around the city all I hear is this from those who are supporting the other side, "I am here this evening to try and disprove to you that Flinn is not the issue of this campaign, that Flinn has nothing to do with this campaign, that Flinn is not a Republican, that the issue of this campaign is good, honest government, Republican principles in government conducted on business principles. In the last two campaigns that we have passed it has been demonstrated by the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county that they are opposed to Flinn. Flinn is not within the ranks of the Republican party and cannot be counted a Republican. Not long ago when Flinn was a member of the senate he helped the insurgents, he did not vote for the nominee of the Republican party, therefore he cannot be counted a Republican. In the last campaign did he support Mr. Pennypacker for governor? No, and according to the rules of the Republican party he should support the nominee of the party.

Don't be afraid to take any other issue; they promise you reform, but don't allow them to get your votes under false pretense.

Dr. Cadwalader Evans said:

In order to explain my position on municipal politics I will say that up to the year the old city charter was adopted I had been a quiet member of the Republican party, but the adoption of that charter was the starting point of my dissent, and I have kept it up consistently, ever since. For about 15 years I was and had been a member of city councils for many years, when the charter came up for adoption in councils I opposed it, because I did not think the form of government that would give satisfaction to the people. I thought it would result in building up a ring to control the people with, and it did exactly as was expected.

Has Been Consistent.

This charter brought about the ring. One after the other of them have passed away, and the only one of the original ring that is active in politics are the Bigelows. They are active and fighting to get into power after having been kicked out by the other fellows. I have ever since the day that charter went into effect continued to oppose the ring, and in my opposition have joined hands with any party whose help I could get in order to make my opposition to it effective, and that is the reason why I have appeared in so many different parties. I claim, however, not to have changed; I think I have been consistent in my course.

Understanding as I did the full scope of power under an elected and not appointed recorder, I was anxious to choose a man fully equipped to handle a height of the complex of government. I had spent years striving to get to this point. I had seen many oppose me who were driven to John Bigelow's door to get good government. I knew why, and what was needed was the men to put them into execution, and when this man's choice came before the citizens party and I realized that it was going to be a man I organized as totally unfit for the place, and I saw that the discarded ring men had obtained control of the citizens party and were about to destroy all the work I had been doing for 15 years.

The Republican party agreed to all the reforms the Citizens had professed and nominated John G. Haymaker, with a distinct pledge to carry out the good reform and the work I have labored for for years. I am confident he will do this to the letter; he is a man of his word and he is a responsible person. I do not think it right for a man to be lifted up into power under him. The Bigelows will disappear and few will regret their departure from politics, for they have always been a source of trouble to the Republicans, and their disappearance from its councils will encourage many disaffected Republicans to come to the party and insure the election of Haymaker as a victory for good government.

Other speakers at the Eleventh ward meeting were A. F. Noah, George C. Van Kirk, A. Mackrell, Jacob Loeley and J. H. Yoskam. A. H. Holtsch presided.

PLANS FOR NIXON THEATER READY

New Playhouse Will Be One of the Finest in the Country.

WORK STARTS AT ONCE

Electrical System Similar to Wireless Telephone to Carry Voices to Players--Incline from Auditorium to Balcony.

Plans proposed by Architect Benjamin H. Marshall of Chicago for the magnificent theater Nixon & Zimmerman are to build in Pittsburgh on the block in Sixth avenue, between Montour way and Cherry alley, and which will, in all probability be adopted just as they have been presented, were yesterday placed on exhibition in the lobby of the Alvin theater. They show in miniature what will be one of the finest playhouses in this country. Mr. Marshall, who has the reputation of being a leading theater designer of this country, came to Pittsburgh yesterday to explain his ideas and plans to Samuel F. Nixon.

With the plans was displayed a sketch of the theater as it will be when completed, with a full view of the front; also a model of clay and wood of the interior. The sketch shows a five-story structure, of beautiful architectural appearance and with many points similar to those of some of the Parisian theaters.

The main entrance is in the center and is to be 42 feet wide. The width of the building will be 122 feet and the length 172 feet. The front of the building, to the second story, will be constructed of granite, and the four upper stories of glazed terra cotta. The ceiling of the entrance will be 40 feet above the floor.

Dome Over Entrance.

Over the entrance will be a large dome of bronze and glass mosaic, 75 feet high. The first floor will be constructed for four storerooms and the four upper floors for about 20 offices.

The auditorium of the playhouse will not be surpassed in elegance and appointments by any theater in the United States. It will be commodious, with a seating capacity for 2,300 persons. The stage will be of unusual size, 122 feet wide and 50 feet deep.

In the rear of the stage will be dressing rooms in tiers, and a large waiting room at either end for the supers, who will reach the stage by stairways from their dressing rooms in the basement. This arrangement separates the supers from the other performers and prevents confusion.

Some of the features planned for the new theater are not known in Pittsburgh or elsewhere. One of these will be an electric system of accoustics, something on the wireless order. The entire stage will be constructed on glass and will thereby be perfectly insulated from the earth. On the rear wall of the stage will be large copper plates, and in the rear of the audience there will be what are called receivers, both connected with electric batteries. It is stated that an electric current will thereby be created that will make it possible for a player's voice to carry to the remotest part of the house. The acoustic properties will be further enhanced by the character of the ceiling, which will be built on what is known as the "half-shell" plan, forming a monster sounding board.

Other Unique Features.

Another distinct feature will be a nine-foot incline from the lower floor to the balcony. This will do away with the objectionable stairway and will make the balcony seats as desirable as those on the first floor. The incline will not be of a greater grade than the slope on the first floor from the rear of the auditorium down to the stage.

The auditorium will be in the form of an ellipse, with seven aisles from the stage to the rear, and so arranged that there will not be more than six or eight seats in a row. This will remove a source of much annoyance from persons compelled sometimes to crowd through long rows of occupants to reach their seats.

Supporting the balcony will be marble columns every eight feet apart, back of the audience. On the first floor will be 10 boxes, each box connected with a private parlor in the rear.

Besides the entrance, there will be a porte-cochere, or carriage way, in Montour way. Just inside the foyer at this point will be an automatic sign for the convenience of persons waiting on their carriages. The arrival of a carriage at the door will be announced by the number of the carriage being displayed on the sign, the coachman pressing an electric button on the outside. On the Cherry alley side will be the entrance to the gallery.

The construction of the theater will be commenced March 2. It will be completed and open for entertainment by October 1.

The name selected for the new playhouse is "The Nixon." Its construction will be supervised by Architect Marshall and Mr. Nixon's son, Fred G. Nixon, who has arrived in the city to remain here until the building is finished and opened. It is estimated that the cost of the theater will be in the neighborhood of $500,000.

NEW CAPTAIN ELECTED.

W. L. Adams Will Command Duquesne Grays Henceforth.

William L. Adams of South Highland avenue was elected captain of the Duquesne Grays, the famous old military company of Pittsburgh, at a special meeting last night in the armory above the Market house. He succeeds Capt. Wiley of McKeesport.

There are new 32 members of this historical organization, and of the number 14 were present at last night's meeting, it is said. The election was a contest between the Younger element in the organization and the Veteran corps of the company, who did not favor the election of the new captain. Mr. Adams was at the head of the Grays for several years, but resigned about two years ago.

A Swindler Caught.

Several druggists and grocers around New York have been victimized during the last few months by the old trick of taking orders for some well-known goods at a suspiciously low price and delivering and collecting the money for packages the outside wrappers of which resemble so closely the genuine, that the victims often pay without further examination. When opened, the packages are found to be empty, or to contain rubbish of some sort.

We are glad to be able to announce that one swindler has been caught in Philadelphia by the Liebig's Extract of Meat Company while working this game. He gave the name of James Carter when arrested, although that was supposed to be an alias. He was held by the grand jury and has recently been tried, convicted and sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

CRAWFORD MUST MAKE A REPORT

Failure to Secure Site for Polytechnic School to Be Investigated.

MATTER LONG DELAYED

President Lambie Says He Will Have Something of Interest to Tell Soon—City Must Buy Grounds for Institution.

Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, can no longer delay the report of the committee appointed to secure the consent of Mrs. Mary Schenley to the use of Schenley park land for the Carnegie polytechnic school. John S. Lambie, president of select council, who has been acting on the committee with President Crawford, has recovered from his recent illness and has stated that a report will be forthcoming at the next meeting of councils.

As previously published in The Gazette, this report will be adverse to the park site, but there are some matters which President Crawford will be called upon by members of common council to explain. The committee was appointed several months ago.

A couple of weeks ago President Crawford asked council to give him an extension of time, stating that Mrs. Schenley was ill in France, and that it was impossible to communicate with her. This explanation was not satisfactory to councilmen, but they postponed an investigation. Nothing was heard of the matter afterward until President Lambie intimated that he would have something to say to councils in the very near future.

The failure to obtain the park site leaves three other sites under consideration. One is the Schenley hillside property between Fifth and Center avenues, owned by Mrs. Schenley, consisting of 52 acres, which Mrs. Schenley's agents have offered to the city for the sum of $1,200,000. It is alleged that Mrs. Schenley was advised by parties interested to refuse her consent to taking the park land, in order that the hillside tract might be sold to the city.

Another prospective site is what is known as the Flinn-Magee property in Forbes street, beyond the Institute, and about half way between it and the proposed park site. The Flinn-Magee tract consists of 30 acres, of which about 16 would be available for the polytechnic school, as the balance is hilly ground. It is stated that the price put on this property is $300,000.

The only other site remaining for consideration is the plot of 11 acres adjoining the institute and opposite the Hotel Schenley. This was the ground picked by Mr. Carnegie, and no other site was considered until the proposition was made to buy the Schenley hillside property between Fifth and Center avenue. Then followed the project to get a site free by taking enough park land for the purpose, but the failure of the committee to obtain Mrs. Schenley's consent has blocked this scheme.

WAMPLER GETS GOLD BRICK FROM CITIZENS

McKeesport Democrat Awakens and Discovers His Name Was Taken Off Ticket.

One of the "goldbricks" palmed off on the Democrats of McKeesport by County Recorder J. Denny O'Neil will have to be passed upon by the county courts. James N. Wampler, common councilman from the Fourth ward, who is a candidate for re-election, is the victim and has retained an attorney to fight his case.

Wampler is one of the leaders of the Democrats in McKeesport, and was given a place on the Citizens-Democratic ticket, with the permission of Recorder O'Neil. Since the ticket was made up, however, the recorder has changed his mind and Wampler's name was left off the nomination papers filed two days ago by Recorder O'Neil and Bert Ekin.

Wampler claims he did not know of his throw-down by O'Neil until too late to get out nomination papers of his own, but that he does not propose to submit if there is any possible redress. Wampler's attorney will soon file papers in court relative to the case. It is alleged that O'Neil had the name of one of his own men placed on the ticket in place of the Democratic candidate. Wampler says he will be on the Democratic ticket and will win in spite of the dictation of O'Neil. Wampler's papers were signed by all the Democratic members of the executive committee, as well as three of the Citizens members, who are opposed to O'Neil.

ALLEGHENY MEN LINE UP FOR THE STRUGGLE

Republican Workers Gather and Plan to Prosecute a Vigorous Campaign.

The final touches were put to the new organization of the Republican party in Allegheny at a meeting held last night in the office of Maj. H. K. Tyler. The meeting was called by Senator Charles Muehlbronner, who is acting as organization manager on the North Side and who will issue orders and give instructions to all Republican workers. At the meeting last night every district in the 15 wards in the city was represented. Ward and district chairmen were named and final arrangements for the fight completed.

The meeting last night was characterized by a showing of party spirit that inspires confidence in the leaders. During the next two weeks every voter in Allegheny will be seen and urged to vote for Dr. Woodburn and the Republican ward candidates. "Everything is ready now and the war is on," said Senator Muehlbronner after the meeting. "The situation looks very promising and we are going to win."

There was little said yesterday in Allegheny regarding the likelihood of suits being brought against Wyman. The story will not down, however, and it is hinted that next week will bring forth a sensation.

THE FELICITY OF FINE FURS.

Men Admire Them—Women Dote on Them.

Another spell of frigidity is at hand, once more giving singing emphasis to the need of furs. No woman's wardrobe is complete without a fur coat, a scarf, a boa and a muff—something for any spell of weather that can come along in November, December, January, February, March or early April.

At Gainsbelle's the muffs are all sold and so would be all the other necessities but for a New York furrier's sudden alarm when January opened with a warm week. Dismayed by the temperature this furrier turned over his entire stock of nearseal coats, fur collarettes and long boas to Gainsbelle's for sold-off nearly half the usual prices at "The People's Store."

HARD AT WORK FOR APPORTIONMENT

Governor Encourages Representative McWhinney in His Undertaking.

HE HOPES FOR SUCCESS

Remonstrances Against Proposed Monument to General Lee Presented in House—Bills to Repeal Local Option Acts.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.

Representative McWhinney is active in his efforts to secure support for his apportionment bill. He had a talk this morning with Leslie Yates, chairman of the legislative apportionment committee, who assured the author of the bill that he would do anything in his power consistent with the program of the Republican leaders to help the apportionment scheme.

Gov. Pennypacker and Mr. McWhinney had a short talk this afternoon. The governor reiterated his wish that a legislative apportionment should be made and complimented his visitor upon his having taken the initiative. Gov. Pennypacker said he could only make general recommendations; that it was not his province nor disposition to suggest to the senate and house the manner in which the state should be apportioned, his duty resting upon the conclusive act of approving or disapproving the bill in the event of its final passage. He thought, however, that Mr. McWhinney had made a good start, and if his bill is not acceptable in its present form it could be amended to suit the members of the assembly. He hoped this would be done.

New Appointments.

Gov. Pennypacker today made the following reappointments on the state board of medical examiners: Allopathic, Henry Beates, Jr., Philadelphia; H. S. McConnell, New Brighton; R. W. Ramsay, Chambersburg; homeopathic, John J. Detweiler, Easton; G. A. Mueller, Allegheny; C. S. Middleton, Philadelphia; eclectic, C. S. Johnstonbaugh, West Bethlehem; L. P. O'Neal, Mechanicsburg; C. M. Ewing, Tyrone.

The governor also appointed J. Chalmers Porte of Huntingdon sheriff of Huntingdon county, vice James Wilson, deceased.

In the house Speaker Walton this morning presented a number of protests from Grand Army posts against the passage of a bill making an appropriation for a monument to Gen. Lee on Gettysburg battlefield.

Several bills repealing local option acts concerning portions of Allegheny county were presented in the house by request today by Representative L. B. Cook. Local option prevails in several townships in Allegheny county and Mr. Cook's bills repeal the law so far as they retail to portions of townships now within borough lines, exempting from its provisions the parts of Wilkins and Patton townships, now part of Turtle Creek borough, and that part of Patton township in Wilmerding borough.

Bills Introduced.

Mr. Baker reported from committee a bill making an appropriation to Pittsburgh Newsboys' home.

Among the bills introduced were the following:

Mr. Hartman, extending the provisions of the act making treasurers of cities of the third class collectors of city, school and poor taxes, so as apply to any taxes the collection of which is regulated by any local or special laws.

Mr. Fox, appropriating $284,000 for an agricultural building at the Pennsylvania State college.

Mr. Soult, appropriating $12,000 for traveling state libraries.

Mr. March, requiring liquor license moneys to be paid to county treasurers and allowing them the same compensation as they have for paying moneys into the state treasury.

Mr. Kirk, repealing the act licensing peddlers in boroughs and townships.

Mr. Eberly, appropriating $35,000 to St. Francis' hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Thompson, appropriating $20,000 to Uniontown hospital.

Mr. Norton, appropriating $10,000 to state fish commission for a fish hatchery in Wayne county.

Mr. Snyder offered a resolution which was adopted, providing for the publication and distribution of 40,000 pamphlets containing the game, forestry and fish laws of the state.

The house cleared its calendar of bills on first reading and adjourned to meet on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

CAUSED BLAZE IN QUARANTINED HOUSE

Engine company No. 15 responded to a still alarm sent in last night for a fire in the home of Lewis Miller, whose wife and 3-year-old child are in the Municipal hospital suffering with smallpox. The fire, it is said, was caused by the upsetting of a gasoline stove in the hall. A quarantine officer who has been watching the house is said to have been drunk and kicked the stove over.

According to the story told by the Miller family the officer came to the house at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an intoxicated condition and fell asleep on a chair in the hall. Shortly after 8 o'clock Lieut. Henninger, his superior, came to the house and finding the watchman asleep, shook him up and told him to walk around the block until he was wide awake. Coming back in an angry mood, it is said, the drowsy officer vented his spite on the gasoline stove and succeeded in setting the house afire.

The Miller family had no means of escape by the stairway, as the flames blocked the way. They got on the roof and managed to get out to the street by going through the residence of the family living next door. Officer John Kornhauer took the frightened family to the home of Mr. Miller's mother at No. 1341 Penn avenue, where they remained until the fire was extinguished. The officer who caused the excitement ran away and was not seen again. His name could not be learned at the office of the board of health.

ANOTHER TRUST COMPANY.

The company will open for business as soon as arrangements can be made for quarters. It will be the first institution of the kind in the borough.

William R. Stokes of Coraopolis will probably be president, and the following members of the board of directors: W. A. Sergeant, F. H. Stark, W. Reed McCabe, J. E. Snell, A. T. Byers, Harry W. Peree, George A. Lashell, P. O. Laughner and Horace J. Thomas of Coraopolis and James C. Chaplin of Sewickley.

DENIED CHARTER FOR BOULEVARD

William A. Stone Tells of Grants He Made to Traction Lines.

GERWIG IS EXONERATED

Ex-Governor, Back in Pittsburgh, to Practice Law—Says He Approved Acts Filed by His Secretary.

Ex-Gov. William A. Stone announced last night that he had refused to grant a traction charter over Grant boulevard in connection with the lot of seven for elevated and other lines, secured by Pittsburgh Railways Company, in November. During his term he stood adverse to the issuance of any charters which would put rails on the Pittsburgh boulevards, and is much opposed to such a move now.

He declared his disapproval of the state refusing charters to new interests asking for them, on the ground of their showing what might be regarded as inadequate capital paid in at the start. This, he said, not in any specific reference to the recent stand of Gov. Pennypacker when he refused a charter to the Dondra Light, Heat and Power Company, because its three charter applicants only showed that they had paid in $100 of a capitalization of $1,000.

He was asked for an opinion on this case last night at the Hotel Schenley, and said:

Drives Revenue Away.

"I am not familiar with this case, and would not criticise the action of the governor if I were. The governor certainly has the right to refuse a charter. However, I will say that charters have been frequently taken out while a comparatively small amount of capital has been shown to be invested, the idea of the company being that when it is ready for business it will increase its authorized capital and investment. Such charters are very frequently not used.

"Refusal to grant charters because of inadequacy of capital will cut off just so much revenue from the state and the applicants will turn to the neighboring state of New Jersey with its liberal charter laws. A primary intent of the present charter laws was to broaden the conditions so that the revenue, which had been pouring into New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia and other states, where the charter legislation is most liberal, could at least, in part be held in Pennsylvania. I do not want to be understood as referring to the specific case in which the governor has withheld a charter, for I know nothing of that.

Boulevards Held Sacred.

"In connection with the lot of Pittsburgh traction charters which I granted some time ago the application for a Grant boulevard charter was refused. I have in every instance refused to grant charters over any of the Pittsburgh boulevards. Soon after the passage of the franchise law charter applications were presented for all the boulevards and at once refused. I did that through an understanding that the purpose in building the boulevards was afforded convenience for driving and walking. If there were a charter covering the Grant or any other boulevard filed with this last lot I treated it like all the rest. My recollection is that such a charter was filed, which may have been withdrawn, but I had decided not to grant it. The other charters being regular on their face and the applicants having full rights to possess them, were approved.

Exonerates Gerwig.

"I have held in the case of the Grant and other boulevards, as they were built at great expense to the municipality to provide opportunities for travel in a city cramped between its two rivers and where it is impossible to spread out as in Philadelphia, that these thoroughfares should never be used for traction rails."

In relation to a report from Harrisburg that Edgar C. Gerwig, private secretary to Gov. Stone, had filed the Pittsburgh Railways Company charters in November, the ex-governor said:

"Mr. Gerwig may have received those charters. It was a very common practice for papers to be sent to him and for him to open my mail and dispose of the papers in their departments. Those charters may have been filed by him, but they were passed on by me, and the Grant boulevard charter refused. All this was, of course, entirely regular."

Will Resume Law Practice.

Ex-Gov. Stone arrived home last night after a rest at Atlantic City. He declared that he is not in the least concerned over municipal or other politics, and will at once resume his law practice in Pittsburgh.

The citizens of Wilkinsburg and Edgewood are wrought up over the secrecy of the recent applications for traction charters by a new independent traction interest, including the Squirrel Hill & Wilkinsburg Street Railway Company. This is one of the charters held up by Gov. Pennypacker on which there are to be hearings next Tuesday. Objections to the issuance of these charters have been filed by Attorney W. C. Farnsworth of Harrisburg, supposed to be representing the Pittsburgh Railways Company. In Wilkinsburg there is a movement to enter a protest against the charter affecting that borough, on the assumption that the projectors may want the state franchise for speculative purposes.

ITALIANS FOR HAYMAKER

Fifth Ward Citizens Declare Themselves in This Campaign.

Between 300 and 400 Italian voters of the Fifth ward held a meeting in the interest of John C. Haymaker's candidacy in the Republican auditorium, Sixth avenue, last night. Some warm speeches were made by Catroli Gigliotti, Vincent DeSensi, Salvatore Buonocore, F. Canuti, Frank Torchia, A. Fuezzi, G. Chicodo, John Fuezzi and Joseph Natale. The last-named was the chairman of the committee on resolutions. Peter Mauciso presided and Michael D. Buoncore was secretary.

The statement by the Citizens people, that the Italian voters could be bought like rats for $3 or $4 apiece, came in for some round scoring.

WILL NOT PASS DANGER POINT

LIMIT PUT AT 22 FEET

Local Weather Observer Says Rivers Will Not Go Over That. Railroad Tracks in Allegheny Out of Commission.

Not over 22 feet of water is expected on the upper Ohio river by this morning as a result of the sudden and unlooked-for rise on the Allegheny river. The flood appeared suddenly yesterday afternoon, and residents and business houses located in low-lying sections of Pittsburgh and Allegheny near the water fronts were warned of danger from high water by the police of both cities. After special reports were received from up-river stations last night, the local office of the United States weather bureau predicted that the high water would not go over the danger line, which is 22 feet on the Monongahela and Allegheny water fronts.

The water causing the flood is coming out of the Allegheny river entirely this time, and little danger from flooding is expected along the wharves of the Monongahela river. The strong current in the Allegheny has caused the Monongahela to back up to some extent, but it is not thought the water will reach a high stage, and there will be little trouble or damage experienced from the ice being put out by the Monongahela river.

Danger Line Reached.

At midnight the water had reached the danger line at Herrs island, but at the Sixth Street bridge the water was reported to be only at the 20-foot mark, which at this point is not sufficient to flood cellars unless water is backed up through the sewers. Reports from the upper Monongahela river stations showed that the river was rising slowly. At Greensboro 13.4 was reported, and at lock No. 4 16.2 feet was registered at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By 7 o'clock last night 21.8 feet was reported from Herrs island and 19.4 from Davis island dam. The water was rising two inches an hour at midnight. From Freeport, on the Allegheny river, reports were received at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon stating that the stage at that point had reached 20 feet.

The present high water is the result of the heavy rains and the warm weather of Wednesday and Thursday. Along the banks and in the mountains in the upper river districts much snow still remained on the ground from the big snowstorm of a week ago, and the warm rains and atmosphere melted this and the flood resulted.

Relief Is in Sight.

The Washington weather bureau last night predicted a continuance of the cold conditions of yesterday for the next two days, and this alone will be sufficient to stop any further rise on the rivers.

This morning at 1 o'clock five or six empty coal barges were swept past Davis island dam by the swift current. The coal pilots were swept over the dam and disappeared from view in the darkness.

Residents of the lower wards of Allegheny were making preparations for a flood last night. The rapid rise of the river yesterday afternoon and last night caused considerable alarm. The flood stage in the Allegheny is 20 feet, and at midnight the water was within little more than one foot of this mark and rising slowly. The lowest point along the Allegheny is at the foot of Sandusky street, close to the Pittsburgh & Western passenger station. Shortly before 10 o'clock the flood had reached the river tracks and station platform of the Pittsburgh & Western.

The Pittsburgh & Western tracks were put out of use yesterday evening, and all trains of that railroad and of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh were started from or run into the Baltimore & Ohio station, in Water street, Pittsburgh. The trains will continue to use this station over tomorrow at the least.

Scenes Were Exciting.

Among the residents of the lower wards the danger of a flood, although experienced several times a year, always causes alarm. Supt. Henry Muth of the police department instructed his officers early yesterday evening to warn all those living within the danger line to take precautions. Everybody got busy. Furniture was moved to the second and third stories. Shopkeepers of all kinds carted their goods to places of safety. Should the sewers be backed by the flood before morning it will do but little damage, except in the mills and factories along the river front.

In the event of a flood stage many factories within the flood line will be compelled to shut down. The water at 22 feet washes the fires in a score of places and will throw hundreds of people out of work temporarily. In Sharpsburg the water caused some inconvenience last night. Many of the short streets running from Main street to the river were under water and it looked as though the inundation would be widespread before morning as the river was rising.

Another two feet will put the water into Moorhead Brothers' mill, at the end of the Sharpsburg bridge, and will stop street car traffic on Main street. This will cut off all street railway traffic between Aspinwall and the city.

At 2 o'clock this morning it was reported that the water had reached a stage of 23.1 feet in Allegheny, where the water was rising at the rate of two-tenths of an inch an hour.

LIVELY FIST BOUT ABOVE MARKET HOUSE

Scheduled for 10 rounds, a lively mill in the armory of the Fourteenth regiment, above the market house in the Diamond, went eight rounds last evening, between Bert Snyder of Wilkinsburg and Billy McIsaacs of Lawrenceville. Snyder had the best of it all through and was awarded the decision. McIsaacs was pretty badly used up when the eighth round was finished.

About 600 persons were present at the mill, and before the principal contest was pulled off there were two preliminaries of four rounds each. All were carried off in good style and the police apparently had no wind of the affair. The purpose of the mill was to pay off a deficiency in the funds of a regimental football organization. Snyder is first sergeant of Company A, and is acknowledged the best man with the gloves in the regiment.

Herman Peterson, aged 44 years, an employe of Fred Burki, the Bellevue florist, was found in one of the latter's greenhouses yesterday morning almost dead from loss of blood. With a pruning knife the man had severed the arteries of both wrists some time on Thursday night with suicidal intent. He was removed to the St. John's General hospital.

Peterson, who is apparently insane, says his home is at No. 1017 Lawrence street, Philadelphia, where he has a wife and child. The Allegheny department of charities and correction yesterday notified the Philadelphia authorities of the case.

Paine's Celery Compound comes to the aid of suffering humanity when the best efforts of physicians prove fruitless—when hopeless men and women are pronounced incurable. The grateful and happy testimony of Mrs. J. G. Mack of Clear Lake, Wash., maintains the claim that "Paine's Celery Compound makes sick people well." Mrs. Mack says:

"Several years ago I was stricken with nervous prostration and two doctors declared that no medical skill could ever cure me. One of your books came into my hands just when I was very low with nervous prostration and congestion. After reading it, I asked and begged for Paine's Celery Compound. The medicine was procured for me, and you may think I am using exaggerating statements when I say that three bottles cured me, and made me feel like a new woman. My present condition of health I certainly owe to the marvelous virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful medicine; it is a Godsend to all weak, nervous people."

MEN IN MILLS WELCOME HIM

SUPPORT VOLUNTEERED

Many Old Voters of the Citizens Ticket Say That They Favor His Candidacy and Pick Him for a Winner.

The tour of John C. Haymaker, the Republican nominee for recorder, through some of the Lawrenceville mills yesterday proved that the candidate has the confidence of the people. At every hand he was cordially received and the workmen cheerfully volunteered their support. Of the day Mr. Haymaker said:

"I spent a most delightful day and the results were most gratifying indeed. I met hundreds of workmen who have been allied with the Citizens party in the past, but who are now with us and have assured me most heartily of their support and co-operation in my canvass for the recordership. I have never enjoyed anything more than this meeting with the men of brawn and muscle in the workshops of our city. It was not only highly interesting and gratifying personally to me as a candidate, but instructive as well. I learned many things about the arts that have made Pittsburgh famous the world over."

Mr. Haymaker was accompanied by Select Councilman W. J. Zahniser of the Seventeenth ward, Dr. M. C. Cameron and Edward Davison. The first call was made at the Keystone bridge works, in Fifty-first street. Mr. Brooks, the assistant manager, took charge of the party and piloted Mr. Haymaker through the many departments of the mammoth concern. Dust-begrimed workmen dropped their tools and clustered around the candidate everywhere he went, in an effort to take him by the hand, and many and sincere were the expressions of good will and pledges of support.

Cheers for Haymaker.

As the party entered one of the shops a brawny workman who recognized Mr. Haymaker from portraits of him he had seen, called out in stentorian tones:

"There he comes, boys; there's Haymaker. He's our candidate; hooray."

And then the others took up the cry until the rafters rang with the shouts of welcome. Then the handshaking began, while various members of the party supplied the workmen with campaign buttons, which were eagerly sought. Here and there Mr. Haymaker met veteran workmen who had been with the Keystone works for a quarter of a century, and one in particular, who had been there for 35 years. To all he gave a hearty handshake and smile of welcome.

"I'm for you, John," said one big-hearted fellow. "I was against the organization last fall, and I haven't changed my mind a bit about certain matters, but I know you will be recorder, in fact as well as in name, and you're the best man for the place. Put it down; I'm for you."

The campaign button brought forth some amusing incidents now and then. In the molding room one workman when handed a button asked: "Is this a Hays button? If it is you can throw it out the window, I'm for Haymaker."

The next moment he caught sight of the candidate and then called out to the others: "Boys, there's Mr. Haymaker; there's the man who's going to be elected next month."

More Volunteered Support.

Such incidents were a common occurrence throughout the day. When the party finally finished the round of the various departments a call was made at the big office building and Mr. Haymaker shook hands with many of the clerks and draftsmen, all of whom with but two or three exceptions, assured him of their support. The clerks in the auditing department were presented in turn, after which Mr. Haymaker made a few brief and appropriate remarks. Several of the men who had voted the Citizens ticket last fall told Mr. Haymaker that they have shaken the party since Bigelow began to show his hand, and stated that they would vote the straight Republican ticket hereafter.

On leaving the Keystone bridge works the party visited the office of Robert McDonald, superintendent of the Crescent works of the Crucible Steel Company. Mr. McDonald lives in the Twentieth ward, and is an ardent supporter of Mr. Haymaker. He accompanied the party through the works. As the candidate entered the rolling mill, one of the workmen recognized his tall figure and shouted: "Hey, boys, three lusty cheers; there's Haymaker."

The others took it up with a will and cheer after cheer followed as Mr. Haymaker and his party passed down the line of workmen. Every department was visited, and, like the works of the bridge company, there were numerous evidences of almost general support of Mr. Haymaker's candidacy.

They Knew Haymaker.

On leaving the Crescent works the party proceeded to Forty-second street, where dinner was served, after which the shops of the Velte Foundry and Machine Company were visited. Dr. Cameron had his electric automobile along and carried Mr. Haymaker from one establishment to another in that section of the city. William Velte, an old client of Mr. Haymaker, but who has been a Citizens party worker during the past two campaigns, piloted the party through his works. He said:

"I have known John for 25 years, and I never knew him to do a mean act. I'm for him for city recorder, and he shall have all the support I can muster to his aid. My workmen are for him, almost to a man."

In the trip through the works Mr. Haymaker got many personal pledges of support and the workmen seem to take great pleasure in meeting him and giving him assurances of their support.

The next stopping place was the works of the Pittsburgh Shear, Knife and Machine Company. C. W. Heppenstall, the secretary and treasurer, met the party in his office. He was told of the pleasant reception at the Velte works adjoining, and said:

Went One Better.

"Well, Mr. Haymaker, I think I can go Mr. Velte one better."

Mr. Heppenstall then took the lead, and the various departments of his works were visited. The first building visited was the heating furnace department. Cheers greeted the party as they entered and it was found that the men were already supplied with buttons.

"We got our buttons at headquarters," said one workman. "We're all for Haymaker, to a finish."

Mr. Heppenstall volunteered to shut down the works temporarily and give Mr. Haymaker a chance to talk to the men collectively, but Mr. Haymaker said he would rather not put him to that trouble, so the round of the various departments was made. All of the workmen throughout announced themselves for Mr. Haymaker.

In the machine shop one big man stepped forward and extended his hand: "John," said he, "we're for you. You've been a good citizen, a good public officer as district attorney, and you'll be the next recorder; mind what I tell you."

Many of the workmen addressed Mr. Haymaker as recorder and remarked that it was only a matter of waiting until the votes are counted. "We know you'll be elected," they would say.

The next establishment visited was that of the McConway-Torley Company, where the railway couplers are made. This concern employes between 1,200 and 1,300 men, and Mr. Haymaker was given an opportunity of meeting many of them and shaking them by the hand. Edward M. Grove, the purchasing agent of the company, accompanied the party through the works.

Will Get Many Votes.

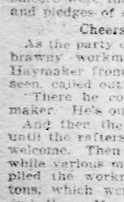
Many expressions of approval of Mr. Haymaker's candidacy were heard throughout the immense plant and the indications are that Mr. Haymaker will get a large share of support from that quarter. Many of the workmen live in the East End and not a few of them stated that they had been with the Citizens movement until Mr. Haymaker was nominated by the Republican party.

On leaving the McConway-Torley plant the party visited the Allegheny Valley station, roundhouse and machine shops. The railroad men were pleased to see Mr. Haymaker and with one accord pledged their support and assured him of their best wishes in his canvass for the recordership. One big machinist, who was engaged in putting a new tire on the driving wheel of a locomotive, wiped the dirt from his hands with some fresh waste, and then grasped the hand of Mr. Haymaker.

"I want to shake hands with the next recorder," said he. Then he introduced the candidate to his fellow-workmen.

Before leaving Lawrenceville for his home in the East End Mr. Haymaker visited the Metropolitan bank, and several business houses along Butler street, where he met many men who were with the Citizens party last fall, but who have come out for him for recorder. It was nearly 6 o'clock when Mr. Haymaker finally took a car for home. He remarked that the day had been a strenuous one, though exceedingly pleasant and gratifying, and that he desired to get a half hours' rest before going out to the evening meetings, at which he was scheduled to speak.

THE WEATHER.



Cold.

Cold weather will continue in this section for the next few days, according to the forecast sent out by the Washington weather bureau last night. The prediction is for fair conditions today and tomorrow in Pittsburgh. Yesterday Pittsburgh had considerable mixed weather. In the early morning there was a heavy fall of rain and about daylight it turned to snow, when a high wind set in, bringing the cold weather. The rainfall yesterday amounted to .23 of an inch and the highest velocity the wind reached during the day was 30 miles an hour. The temperature was 35 degrees lower at 8 o'clock last night than at the same hour Thursday night. Yesterday's maximum temperature was 32, and the minimum 28 degrees.

WILMERDING'S BRIGHT CHINK SEEMS TO BE GONE FOR GOOD NOW

YEE SUN, THE RUNAWAY.

Yee Sun, Wilmerding's bright Chinese schoolboy, the pride of the school and the despair of Truant Officer W. E. McClelland, is again missing. He has disappeared before often, but always returned. This time it is said he has gone for good. He is said to be in New York. Yee Gee, his brother, a laundryman in Wilmerding, stated yesterday that Yee Sun was in New York and would attend school there.

Yee Sun, aged about 12 years, was the youngest Chinese boy in Western Pennsylvania. He had been a resident of Wilmerding for more than a year. The point of his landing in this country has never been settled. He came from Hong Kong to Wilmerding, to visit his brother, a laundryman, and it is said he was smuggled across the border, thus escaping the Chinese exclusion act. Yee started to school in Wilmerding and rapidly became one of the brightest scholars. He soon became thoroughly Americanized, could beat the boys at all their games, and could play truant so successfully that he evaded Truant Officer McClelland for weeks. He was finally arrested for truancy and was threatened with deportment to China unless he attended school, and it is thought his horror of this fate prompted him to go to New York.

TOO MUCH TALK IS DANGEROUS

W. B. Rodgers Advises Citizen Orators to Be Careful of What They Say.

MANY DID NOT HEED HIM

Speakers at Soho Meeting Could Not Give Any Good Reasons Why Haymaker Should Not Be Elected.

"Be careful. Do not talk too much, as you are liable to talk yourself into a hole, and thus hurt your cause," said William B. Rodgers, the first speaker at the Fourteenth ward Citizens party meeting in the Soho school last evening. Mr. Rodgers probably had in mind the statement made by M. J. McCann at the Citizens meeting at Keane's ball Thursday night, when McCann said, speaking of the recordership fight: "It is not a question of moral character, but political character."

Several of the speakers who followed Mr. Rodgers did not heed the injunction, and the manner in which he spirmed during the remarks of some, who later came on the stage, showed that he feared the party would be injured rather than helped by many of the wild misstatements that were made.

There were about 600 persons in the hall when Chairman John B. Larkin called the meeting to order, and after a few introductory remarks, introduced Mr. Rodgers. Mr. Rodgers, in addition to his admonition to speak little, declared that he had nothing to say about Mr. Haymaker, the Republican nominee for recorder, but judged him by the acts of others. These "others," the speaker admitted, were denied by Mr. Haymaker as having any influence over him.

Hard for Brown to Decide.

Thomas M. Brown said: "John Haymaker has been a friend of mine ever since I was a boy, and I have nothing to say against him. I had a hard choice, when called upon to pick between the two nominees for recorder, but I finally decided on Mr. Hays.

"I asked my father, Former Recorder Maj. A. M. Brown, how he came to select William B. Hays for delinquent tax collector, when he made the change, and he told me that he picked him because he had known him for 20 years, and always knew him to be a man of honesty, integrity and sterling worth. As to my father's side in the present political fight, he has not declared himself as yet, but he will be heard from before long."

As he closed, the crowd made a loud yell for music from the colored quartet, which many of the people seemed to think more of than they did of the speakers, who were billed to talk on the campaign issues.

William J. Brennen urged that Haymaker was a stated candidate for many months and that Burchfield and Evans were only "masks" used by the powers who controlled him.

Fulton Is Dreaming.

Andy Fulton was a little hoarse and asked the crowd to excuse him from making a speech, declaring also that that is a little out of his line. He said that there is only one man on the other side of the fight, and that man is William Flinn. The election of Haymaker, he asserted, would result in a monarchy in this city, whose parallel could not be found on this side of the Atlantic.

At this point Chairman Larkin told the people of the Fourteenth ward that they have able and hard-working councilmen who are always looking out for the interests of their constituents, in Messrs. Stevenson, Crawford, Lawhor, Beckert and Booth. He did not mention that he and Stevenson, the chairman of the finance committee, had called off a meeting of the committee, thus delaying councils' work in order to go campaigning.

In turn Stevenson paid his compliments to Larkin. In closing he said: "Do not be deluded by the idea that you have an easy fight on hand. Far from it. It is a fight to the death. Nothing but hard work will land the rich prize we desire."

A meeting of the Democrats of the first 12 wards was to have been held in the Ralston school, Penn avenue and Fifteenth street, but for some reason only a quarter of the committeemen who were to have made reports showed up. By actual count there were only 117 persons in the hall, and the meeting that should have started at 8 o'clock did not begin until 9:15. Nominee William B. Hays made a 10-second address, as follows: "I am no speechmaker, and when the Republican speakers say that I am not, it is true."

Others who made addresses were Andrew Fulton, Thomas E. Alcorn, Tim O'Leary, John Ennis, D. Feigenbaum and Jere Doherty.

ORATORS SEE NEW FACES

Young Men's Republican Club Will Probably Have a Membership of Over 1,000—Rallies to Be Held Tonight.

The men who usually do not participate in elections are showing interest in this campaign. The man that is in the habit of staying at home is now attending the Republican meetings. The speakers all report that they see many new faces in their audiences.

"I have every reason to believe," said Attorney Harry Diamond yesterday, "that John C. Haymaker's addresses are being listened to by persons who heretofore have taken little if any interest in politics. Every meeting I have attended at which Mr. Haymaker spoke I have noticed many strange faces. They are not audiences of men who have always stood steadfastly with the Republican party in their various wards. Having been around a great deal, and being acquainted with the organization's best workers, I know their faces in a general way, and have been astonished to find the halls filled with people who have never before attended political meetings. This shows what the stay-at-home people think of the candidacy of a good man like Mr. Haymaker, and I am convinced argues well for a stampede in his favor at the polls. They come, see and are conquered by his strong arguments, having the foreknowledge that a man of his sterling character means what he says."

"We want the young man in politics," said Dr. Cadwalader Evans yesterday. "This is an era of young men. It is no longer considered necessary that a man shall have gray hair before he can become an important factor in the professions, business or politics. If the young man takes an interest in the management of local, state and national affairs, he will continue to display the same interest as the years go by. That means good government and the passing of the professional politician."

Many Are Responding.

These remarks were brought out by the remarkable success of the Young Men's Republican club, organized this week. Hundreds of applications for membership are being received daily, and it is probable that the original limitation of 1,000 members will have to be largely increased. The interest taken in the triweekly meetings is most remarkable, and greatly gratifying to Dr. Evans, who is the president and originator of the idea of the organization.

The headquarters of the Jacksonian Democracy is a very cheerful place these days. News is constantly being received of accessions to the Haymaker ranks of Democrats who last spring and fall were allied with the Citizens party. In the immense audience at the Republican meeting in the Thirteenth ward Thursday evening were a great number of Jacksonian Democrats. This holds good all over the city. Many letters have been received at the committee rooms from leading Democrats in the Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth wards, pledging their hearty support to Haymaker. In the Nineteenth ward, the home of the Bigelows, this is especially noticeable, and many surprises may be expected by the Citizens on election day.

The Jacksonian Democrats will establish headquarters in the Twenty-first ward, and promise to make the fight there as lively as it is in the Twentieth.

A Haymaker meeting has been called for Monday evening in the Eleventh district of the Twentieth ward. The call is signed by Citizens and Democrats who in the last two campaigns worked for the Citizens tickets.

Big Majority Indicated.

This is the district Mr. Haymaker lives in, and the Citizens are asserting that he cannot carry it. If he should carry it by the same majority given Mr. Larkin, and the vote throughout the city should run in the same proportion, it would mean a majority for Mr. Haymaker of from 15,000 to 18,000.

Four meetings are scheduled for this evening, each to be called to order at 8 o'clock, as follows:

The Polish-American voters of the South Side will gather at Schiller-Gloecke hall, Twenty-sixth and Jane streets. Candidate John C. Haymaker, W. A. Blakeley and E. Stauer will speak, and three Polish orators will make addresses in their native tongue.

At Belmar school, Lang avenue and Kedron street, addresses will be made by John C. Haymaker, George H. Stengel, J. H. Carey and George T. Herrick.

At Mannerchor hall, Republic street, Thirty-fifth ward, the speakers will be Charles A. O'Brien, Maj. R. H. Long and F. C. Beinhauer.

The Daizell club, composed of colored voters of the Lawrenceville district, will meet at No. 4409 Butler street, Seventeenth ward, where they will be addressed by George Neal, J. Welford and W. H. Stanton.

Mad Dog Attacks a Child.

Many people in Water street, McKeesport, were badly frightened by a mad dog running wild in the street yesterday morning. It entered the house of John Williams, No. 909 Water street, and bit Mabel, the 10-year-old daughter of Williams, on the leg. The dog was killed later by a policeman.

O'LEARY ALTERS LEGAL PAPERS

Takes the Liberty to Correct Document in Prothonotary's Office.

COURT TO BE INFORMED

Made Alterations in Papers Filed by Attorneys for the Bigelow Machine, After the Case Had Been Presented to the Court.

Timothy O'Leary, one of the Democrats who dealt with Thomas S. Bigelow and assisted in securing the Democratic nomination for William B. Hays, yesterday turned up in a new role. While examining the papers containing the objections to the nomination made by the Jacksonian party he found one that had been filed with the prothonotary that was not correctly drawn. O'Leary immediately changed the record. The action will be aired in court next Wednesday.

Lawyers say that the liberty taken by O'Leary amounts to the mutilation of a court record, but, of course, the agent of the Bigelow Democracy cannot see it in that light. O'Leary will probably set up the claim that Boss Bigelow has given him a roving commission and if he chooses to act for the judiciary and amend court papers, the public has no right to object. He entertains similar views to those a railroad magnate once expressed on the question of the public. He is commissioned to help elect Hays and trifling obstacles like those of yesterday will not bar the way.

Boss Bigelow gave orders that an attempt must be made to have the court set aside the nomination made by the Jacksonian party in 27 wards of the city. W. J. Brennen and L. S. Levin were the attorneys delegated to do the work. They made a general attack against the papers on technical grounds and rushed the objections into court at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Brennen presented the papers before Judge J. R. Macfarlane who ordered them filed and fixed Wednesday for the hearing.

Why They Object.

The objections are about the same in all of the papers. The real issue is that the nomination papers contain the names of the candidate for recorder, ward officers and election officers on one sheet, where under the law they should be on separate sheets. It is also charged that they were not signed by 2 per cent of the registered voters of the ward, and that the signers did not add their occupation and places of residence. It is further contended that some of the signers do not live in the ward specified on the papers signed by them.

The papers were taken down to the prothonotary's office. After 4 o'clock Timothy O'Leary went in to examine the objections to determine whether they had been legally drawn. At least he was not there for his health. All save one were passed as correct by the man with the Bigelow roving commission. This one was made out for the First ward and O'Leary said it was intended for the Thirteenth.

O'Leary Corrected the Paper.

He speedily convened himself into a court and counsel for the objectors. Motion to amend was silently made and granted, the "court" not even taking time to remove its silk hat while "sitting." Leave to amend having been permitted it was but a work of a few seconds on the part of the dextrous agent of the Bigelow Democracy to make "First" read "Thirteenth" in two places on the record.

Objections were filed to the nomination papers of Oscar E. Gallagher, as an independent candidate for select council from the Twelfth ward, Allegheny. Gallagher's certificate of nomination had been declared void, leaving a clear field to Morris Einstein.

Other objections were filed to the nomination papers of the Citizens party of the Thirty-second ward and to those of the Citizens party of the Fourth ward, McKeesport.

In common pleas court No. 1 Monday at 1 p. m. was fixed as the time for hearing the objections to the Democratic nomination of James G. Wyman, as recorder of Allegheny. The case will probably be heard by Judges R. S. Frazer and J. D. Shafer.

BURCHFIELD PLEASED.

The Major Lauds Select Council for Passing the Wabash Ordinance.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield of the chamber of commerce committee on railroads had this to say yesterday on the passage of the Wabash ordinance by select council:

I am delighted to note the action of select council on the matter of the Wabash and Pennsylvania ordinances and this community is to be congratulated on the business-like methods displayed and the result accomplished. Council rose equal to the demands of the people and I believe has given a sufficient guarantee that the platform pledges of the party are to be strictly observed.

There was no crack of whip over them, and so far as I am able to judge, there is no taint of boosism in their action. The decision to defer matters of dispute between the Wabash and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, to engineering ability is eminently fair and proper, and I have no doubt the two roads will arrive at a solution satisfactory not only to the city but to themselves.

We do not want anything that will hamper the development of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, the Pennsylvania or any other system of railroads. We have use for all of them. This is a wonderfully rich freight producing section, and no one railroad can meet the demands of our growing business.

HURRY TO HAMILTON'S SALE OF PIANOS

You'll have to hurry if you expect to participate in the bargain sale of pianos at Hamilton's.

The fact is, that people are flocking from all points to secure these great bargains, and it is only a matter of a short time 'till the entire lot of instruments included in this price reduction will be closed out.

The reputation of this old reliable house is such that customers have learned to expect very unusual things when a special sale is announced here. The present sale is very "special." You can discern that by referring to the reductions which, in some instances, save customers from $100 to $200 on the price of a single piano.

It is but just to the readers of this paper to explain WHY such great reductions are made in the prices of high-grade instruments. And here is the reason:

During the holidays some particularly choice pianos were slightly scuffed in handling, hence they have to be sold below the regular prices, although practically good as new.

Other instruments in this sale are samples of special design, which are selling at from 50 to 100 per cent below their value.

And if you wish a piano player, music box or organ away below the regular price, call or write and ascertain the exact extent of the reduction, which is considerable in every instance.

Store remains open every Saturday evening till 10 o'clock.

CATARRH ROBS WOMEN OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Pe-ru-na Makes Women Healthy and Beautiful.

Many Women Have Catarrh and Don't Know It.

They Call It Stomach Trouble, Female Weakness or General Debility.

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

THERE are a great many people who are actually invalids from chronic catarrh of some internal organ who have not the slightest suspicion that they are victims of this universal disease.

This is especially true in cases of chronic catarrh of the organs in the lower part of the abdomen, or pelvic organs.

The pelvic organs are especially liable to catarrh, which gives rise to weakening discharges, painful irregularities, backache, bearing-down pains, smarting and throbbing, with a host of other symptoms, peculiar to weak persons of both sexes, but occurring much more frequently in women, when it is called female weakness.

There are a multitude of women, especially housewives, and all other women obliged to be on their feet continually, who are wretched beyond description, simply because their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges.

Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the weakening drains are gradually cured. These results certainly follow a course of treatment with Peruna.

Mrs. Nellie McDonald, 216 S. Cherry street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"When I first began to take Peruna last spring I was unable to attend to my daily duties. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, and although I consulted two different physicians I found that they were not able to help me. I caught a severe cold during the winter, and it caused inflammation and scanty menses, and in addition I had griping pains and cramps and dreaded the time.

"One of my good neighbors advised me to try Peruna, telling me how grandly it had helped her. I followed her advice, as I was feeling desperately bad and was very anxious to get well. Thanks to Peruna, I am now well. Six weeks' faithful use of this medicine cured me. I feel like a new woman. Daily pains and misery are now changed to life and happiness, and I thank Peruna for the health I now enjoy."—Mrs. Nellie McDonald.

Mrs. Eva Bartho, 133 E. Twelfth street, New York City, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered for three years with leucorrhea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advocated an operation, which I dreaded very much and strongly objected to go under it. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles; but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am today in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

Mrs. Alice J. Bordner, Dauphin, Pa., writes: "I have found a cure in Peruna. I cannot recommend Peruna enough, and I also thank you for your kind attention to me. I am as well as could be ever since I began taking Peruna, and will recommend it to others. I only weighed ninety-five pounds before taking Peruna; now I weigh one hundred and twenty-five."—Mrs. Alice J. Bordner.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Otie Davis, Occidental Hotel, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has been of such great benefit to me to cure a bad cold and catarrhal difficulties that I am very glad to tell how it acted in my case. Before I began taking Peruna my cold was a month old and deep-seated, but in less than a week I felt better, my head was clearer and my throat and lungs not nearly so sore. I therefore kept on taking Peruna for three weeks and then my system was entirely free from the cold and catarrh. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."—Miss Otie Davis.

Miss Celia Harrington, 303 Second avenue, Detroit, Mich., writes:

"Weakness has filled many months of my life with suffering. Through carelessness I caught a severe cold two years ago, which settled in catarrh and seriously interfered with the regular functions of the body and made me nervous and irritable. I began taking Peruna and found in it a faithful helper, as it enriched my blood and invigorated the whole system. I have no pains now and am always well. I heartily recommend Peruna as a reliable medicine."—Miss Celia Harrington.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

At the first session of the bituminous mining wage conference there was disagreement and intemperate assertions. Persisted in such conduct will promote a strike which the country cannot afford. It is matter for congratulation that neither miners nor operators from the Pittsburgh district have had any part in this aggressive demonstration. The people from this region went to Indianapolis in reasonable mood, fat with prosperity, good natured and disposed to do their best to continue prosperity. That spirit should animate every man in the conference and the anthracite lesson ought not to be forgotten.

A fire at the Niagara Falls power house has tied up industries, trolley roads and what not in Buffalo, Dunkirk and other lake shore cities. This is one usadvantage of the production of electrical energy on a large scale and one not to be considered lightly. Our Buffalo friends who have been pointing to Niagara power as an offset to Pittsburgh cheap coal, while they fume over the breakdown of their system may take time to think that an accident to one Pittsburgh plant does not shut down the whole district. There are compensations in all things and this one is set down against cheap power from great central stations.

There is more in the refusal of the allies to admit all Venezuelan claims at a parity than appeared at first. The United States and France had claims allowed, but not paid, prior to the blockade. They are likely to insist upon having at least as good a chance as England, Germany and Italy. They are really entitled to preference, and if they should undertake to force conclusions the allies might well think twice before getting bumptious. Dealing with the United States and France is quite a different matter from bulldozing little Venezuela, bombarding her forts and sinking her toy gunboats. The Anglo-German attitude in this case is about the same as the European attitude toward China: "Get all you can and hold fast to all you get." But the other powers have something to say about it.

Conviction of Capt. Gannon of the New York police force on the charge of neglect of duty, because he was sitting in an illegal resort when it was raided, is significant of the vigor of the reform administration in New York. It is instructive in another aspect, namely, in indicating the duty of an officer of the law, so often overlooked. Capt. Gannon's duty was to proceed against the illegal resort, not to patronize it. That is the duty of every policeman and constable having knowledge of illegal resorts, and every such officer who fails to perform that duty is liable to prosecution for neglect just as Capt. Gannon has been prosecuted. Possibly this knowledge may stir some officers to action, or cause others to go their rounds with their eyes closed so they may not be classed with the man who "seen his duty and done it."

Consul General Mason's digest of the new German tariff, which it is expected will be approved in June and become operative next year, is very interesting. It is an agrarian bill, in the main, though it imposes prohibitive duties upon some classes of machinery as well as upon grain and products generally. The bill is aimed directly at American trade, without apparent effort to disguise its purpose, and Consul Mason doubts if American products can stand the tax. Meantime the United States senate "hold-up" favors the import of German sugar and refuses to take action to open markets elsewhere for the American products which Germany is trying to exclude. There is but one consolation. The German workman who must pay a higher price for his food will be compelled to demand higher wages for his work, thereby increasing the cost of German manufactures sold in competition with our own.

Numerous recent wrecks have excited discussion of means of prevention, or mitigation of the consequences of the "element of human fallibility." In the New Jersey case an engineer ran past the danger signals, automatic and hand-given. In the Colorado case an operator neglected to deliver orders. Neither was neglectful on purpose, but the results were not less terrible on that account. It is easy to say that neither of these catastrophes should have happened, or to urge punishment for the offenders, or to insist upon more strict observance of rules, but none of these things will help in the least to prevent future accidents of the same character. There are moments when the best of men lapse from watchfulness for the moment. It was said by the ancient: "Even Jove nods sometimes."

A more practical proposition as to alter the equipment of railroads to make every passenger train consist of vestibuled coaches. It is argued that would lower the death lists in collisions. At Westfield, N. J., the passengers of the vestibuled train suffered but little, while those in the ordinary coach train were slaughtered. More practical still are the suggestions of automatic devices that will prevent running past a "red block," by ringing a bell in the engine cab and setting the train brakes. But a great many railroads do not even have the block system, so it will require some greater pressure than mere talk to induce them to incur the expense of automatic safety systems. Not even the fear of heavy damages is enough to persuade some of them to take the most ordinary precautions, beyond sending out a flagman who may add sleepiness to the "element of human fallibility." As for the engineers who run past danger signals, they are inured to facing peril and thoroughly drilled in the necessity for "making time." They are not so much to blame. The management that insists upon "the schedule" is no more guilty than the public, always clamoring for higher speed. Accidents will happen and the faster we go the more disastrous they will be.

Minnesota has a legislator, too, who disapproves of kissing. He has introduced a bill providing among other things that no person shall kiss another without first having been examined and having obtained a certificate holding him guiltless of contagious or infectious disease, or a weak heart. It is not difficult to understand why the spread of contagion should be prohibited, but the weak heart provision is not so clear. Is it assumed the delight of osculation might prove fatal to one with a weak heart, or is the bill aimed at young lovers, all of whom are supposed to suffer from a heart affection? There is intimate enough connection between some types of heart weakness and the kissing habit, but it seems quite as necessary to be assured about the health of the kissee as that of the kisser. But there is a fatal weakness in all of the kissing bills. It is that they make no adequate provision for their own enforcement. The defect is probably due to impossibility, for even if every inhabitant of the state should be made an inspector, with moderate compensation, there might be a failure to mete out punishment for offenses in the darkened parlor. No witness can be compelled to give testimony to incriminate himself. It will be a long time before anti-kissing bills can be regarded seriously, and by that time the reign of common sense will preclude any consideration of them.

PROTECTION'S WORST FOE.

There is something pathetic in the thought that McKinley day saw the reciprocity policy which his dying utterance commended to the American people still obstructed, although a declared feature of Republican party policy and provided for by the Dingley tariff act of 1897. Senator Dolliver of Iowa was a member of the ways and means committee of the house which framed the tariff bill. He knew what the ideas of President McKinley were on that subject and recently during a senate debate described them as follows:

> It was in the mind of the late president of the United States that we had at last reached a period when the protective system, as a system, was without organized opposition anywhere in the United States, and I feel sure that I do not misrepresent his purposes and his convictions when I say that he looked forward to the gradual extension of American commerce, not by hostile agitation of the tariff question, but by a quiet and orderly extension of the principle of reciprocity, remitting duties, from time to time, that could be spared, and gathering in the commercial good will of all of the great countries of the world; and if his last public appearance before the American people and before mankind had any significance at all it meant that the future of American commerce depends in a large measure upon the gradual readjustment of those tariff schedules of 1897 which are no longer needed to give our own industries a fair and profitable footing in our own market place.

When it was first stated that Chairman Dingley of the ways of means committee purposely increased the rates of duty with a view to the 20 per cent reduction provided for in the reciprocity treaties authorized by the act, the fact was vehemently denied by several senators. A mass of testimony was immediately forthcoming conclusively establishing the truth of the statement. What the ways and means committee had in mind was the maximum and minimum schedules which have become a feature of European tariffs, the minimum rate being for the benefit of nations who concede tariff privileges. The committee sought to accomplish the same end by clapping 20 per cent additional on the duty judged necessary for protection, and then authorizing the administration to negotiate reciprocity treaties taking off the 20 per cent in return for tariff concessions secured by such treaties. This was no secret. It was explained to the house by Representative Hopkins of Illinois, chairman of the sub-committee of the ways and means committee which had charge of the reciprocity section of the tariff bill. In a speech on March 22, 1897, Mr. Hopkins advocated it on the ground that "we must have a maximum and a minimum rate on all articles manufactured and produced in this country."

It should be remembered that the inception of this policy goes back to James G. Blaine. The Wilson bill repealed a number of reciprocity treaties negotiated under Mr. Blaine's auspices. The Republican platform of 1896 denounced this repeal as a calamity to the country, and pledged the Republican party to re-establish reciprocity. The Dingley bill provided the legal authority. A number of reciprocity treaties were negotiated and the senate has never deigned to consider them.

While the consummation of the policy of the Dingley tariff act has been frustrated by the senate "hold-up," it has had important consequences as regards our tariff relations with other countries. Switzerland, France and Germany have revised their tariffs with the special aim of meeting American competition and putting maximum duties upon American products. This week cable dispatches announce that Austria and Russia are about to follow suit. The reciprocity section of the Dingley act was intended to benefit American commerce, and if carried out it would do so; the nullification policy of the senatorial hold-up has provoked foreign nations into schemes of retaliation. More than that, the whole tariff question is being rekindled as a political issue. Senator Dolliver was well within bounds in saying "that more violence has been done to the protective system of the United States by the quiet and uncommunicative failure of the senate of the United States to take action upon the treaties which were negotiated under the authority of the act of 1897 than by all the noise that has been made on the other side of this chamber about coal or the other so-called extortions of the law."

TRAILING THE PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt has discovered that there are some discomforts and disadvantages connected with being president of the United States. One of them is the continued publicity. There are occasions when the president wants to be just Theodore Roosevelt, but these great American agencies of publicity, the newspapers, don't see how he can be humored. They have looked the situation over from the front and from the rear, from above and from below and have thought it over. As it looks to them when a man becomes the chief servant of 70,000,000 people he holds his place for 365 days each year and for twenty-four hours each day, and they don't see how he can knock off from being president even for a minute. It must be said, too, that the newspapers have more than the active sympathy of the people in this. It is in answer to the demand from the people for information concerning the president that they follow his movements as they do. It isn't Theodore Roosevelt they are after, but the man who is at the head of the nation, and he is at the head of it all the time he is in office.

The commission of the president from the people doesn't say anything about vacations, and there isn't an eight-hour clause in it, or even a ten or twelve-hour limitation. When he arises in the morning it is as President Roosevelt; he breakfasts, lunches, dines and retires again and sleeps as President Roosevelt. He is shaved and he has his hair cut as President Roosevelt, and it is as president that he occasionally pines for seclusion and a private shot at a bear down in Mississippi or elsewhere, and it is as President Roosevelt that he pulls the trigger, whether he hits the varmint or whether it escapes into the next county.

The president, it seems, wants to go hunting for bear again, but he wants to go as Theodore Roosevelt, and it is rumored that he won't go hunting unless he can go in that disguise. It is even said he has opened diplomatic negotiations with newspapers and press associations for a permit, but the pour parlers haven't given him much hope. The first question that naturally presents itself to the journalists is where will the president be while Theodore Roosevelt is in the woods? Doubtless the president has been asked, and it may be that the attorney general is wrestling with the problem, aided by such facts as the state department, the navy, the secretary of war, the agricultural department, the clerk of the weather and the Carnegie Institute for the promotion of original research can drag to light. The newspaper publishers are not unreasonable. They don't want to pursue Theodore Roosevelt, but the publisher who doesn't keep track of the president is going to lose circulation, and circulation is the life of trade in the newspaper business. When the authorities after consultation make it entirely clear how President Roosevelt can be kept in sight while Theodore goes gunning there will be no further trouble.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

If any one entered the new year with the thought that this country had passed the crest wave of business prosperity and that the volume of trade would gradually diminish during 1903, he may now review the events of the first month and likewise revise his convictions. In this review he will note that railroad gross earnings have averaged between eight and ten per cent increase over the best record for any corresponding period in the history of the country. He will also note that this gain was made in the face of an embargo placed upon shipments of a number of important commodities from the west to the seaboard, and from the east to the west. Notwithstanding the addition of thousands of cars to the equipment of the roads and of hundreds of locomotives to motive power, the great problem of railroad management has been to escape being swamped with the pressing flood of traffic—and this problem has not yet been solved. In damming up the stream of freight at one point, in order to raise existing blockades, the flood has overtaken them at other points, creating new blockades. This condition of affairs is partly due to the coal famine, and the efforts of the railroads to relieve distress in this line have revealed the inadequacy of their facilities for taking care of other lines of trade.

The situation has been aggravated by the movement of grain to market, particularly the outward movement of corn. In 1902 we exported 85,000,000 bushels less corn than in 1901, owing to the short crop. During the past two months we have exported nearly as much corn as during the entire year 1902. The pressure of this corn to market, coming on top of the unprecedented demand for fuel and the unprecedented production of iron, with the movement of all the raw material entering into the latter, has simply overwhelmed the transportation companies. From the gulf ports to the northwest, and over a broad stretch of intervening territory to the Atlantic, there is a cry for more cars from farmers, merchants and manufacturers. Aside from the condition of the coal market, there is nothing really abnormal in trade conditions to produce this congestion of freights. That is, there is no impending tariff changes that would stimulate the importation and distribution of foreign goods; there is no war pending that would unduly stimulate foreign demand for our breadstuffs; there is no threatening industrial troubles that might disturb trade and admonish consumers to stock up. It seems to be a case of continuing prosperity, increasing the purchasing power of the masses and thereby stimulating the consumption of commodities.

In the financial world the reviewer of the events of the first month of the year will also note activity in all departments save that of stock market speculation. There have been unusual preparations made by the large corporations for financing improvements, particularly by the railroads. Despite the negotiation of large corporation loans, and despite the increasing demand of commercial and industrial borrowers, there has been a distinct change toward ease in the money market. Currency is flowing eastward and rates of discount are declining. The movement of merchandise abroad, and possibly the placing of some of our loans with foreign bankers, has affected rates for sterling exchange, so that international exchanges are now against exports of gold, and this possibility has for the time being been removed from money market calculations.

Altogether, January has made a good record, so far as the volume of trade and the removal of anxiety regarding the money market are concerned. The only grumbling has been confined to Wall street, which has missed the public from the stock market, for the reason that the public is more profitably interested in something else, or possibly is resting after the carnival of speculation of the past three years.

It is announced by one of the supporters of Candidate Hays that he resembles Gen. Grant in his inability to make a speech. Is there any other point of resemblance, except the final one, that the general is also dead?

Candidate Hays' spellbinders want it understood that morality is to be left out. Tough, isn't it, to be in the hands of such friends? But why not speak for yourself, William, as Haymaker does?

DENSE FOG BLANKET ENVELOPS GOTHAM

All Kinds of Inconvenience Caused by Muggy Weather.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.

New York is rejoicing over its release from the fog blanket that had held it down for three days. It was late today when a procession of ocean steamers, tugs, and miscellaneous craft came up the bay after lying outside the "Hook" all night. It was impossible to come into the harbor through the fog. Such a thick fog had not been seen in this part of the country for 15 years, and the conditions in New York from Tuesday to Friday morning were so bad that business was impeded, sickness stalked abroad, and most people felt as if it would be as well to cut short their existence without more ado. Colder weather has come, and the official forecaster says it will last over tomorrow. This is good news indeed. It means that the fog must go, because it will dispose of the dampness and clear the air in a healthful manner. High winds are threatened, but the craft which have been poking their way through the thick mists will not mind them. Compared with the insidious perils of fog, those of a hurricane or two are nothing at all. In New York city itself the chief evil from the damp, muggy weather of this week has been that disease has had such an opportunity to make itself felt and to cause so many deaths. Pneumonia has been frightfully prevalent, while grip has been busy in all parts of the community. The smells from the mud-laden streets have shrieked death into the faces of all persons that used them. The street cleaning department has not half done its work. The assertion is made by the commissioner that he could not do any better than he did because he was short of money. The personages on the board of estimate that control the appropriations, including the mayor, have paid little attention to the shouts of the street cleaning department for help and the consequence is that many of the side and downtown streets have been so filthy that the average Pittsburgher would be astounded and disgusted if he saw them in his own city.

Captain Resorts to Profanity.

"Higher up" goes the avenging spirit of justice which is hot on the slimy trail of negligent and dishonest police officials. Gannon, the former police captain who was today convicted of neglect of duty, was so maddened by impotent rage when he heard the verdict that he cursed the jury and everyone else connected with the case who had opposed him. He could not understand how a jury could have the temerity to find a police captain guilty of a crime which might send him to prison for a year, in the judge inflicted the full penalty. The common remark in the city tonight is that Gannon will not lack the company of other police officials if he should be sent to Sing Sing.

Pittsburgh Faces in Manhattan.

Pittsburghers may be found in many important positions in New York city, and it is no uncommon thing to recognize a familiar face in that of some official high in the city or state government. For instance, there is Ernest K. Coulter. For several years he was a newspaper writer in Pittsburgh, and as such made the acquaintance of most of the big men of the city. He came to New York and soon became equally well acquainted with officials here. Now he is clerk of the new children's court and is the most important officer connected with it except the judge on the bench. Mr. Coulter was born in Columbus, O., but was long enough in Pittsburgh to be looked on as belonging to that city.

The Railroad Commission.

Agitated out of their usual attitude of self-satisfaction by the dreadful railroad accident near Westfield two days ago, a number of New Jersey legislators are quoted as saying that their state should have a railroad commission like New York's. A bewailing New Yorker remarked this afternoon that they might take New York's, but that if the commission did not accomplish any more in New Jersey than it had on this side of the Hudson river, what was the good of it? A railroad commission that did the work expected of it would be good anywhere, but Gothamites are just waiting for their own to improve traffic conditions as well as to find out who is in fault when there is a railroad collision.

Paper Theater Demolished.

The theater-building-on-paper industry in New York has suffered a backset. One of the numerous theaters to be erected in and near Broadway, which have been described in such detail in the last few months, is not to be built. This statement is official. The structure was to be in Seventh avenue at the corner of Thirty-seventh street, in the heart of the present theater district. It was to have a hotel, an automobile warehouse and a few other modern conveniences in connection. Now the owner of the property has decided to keep it as it is, believing that it will increase in value materially in the next few years, without calling for any extra expenditure. The owner is a woman, and she exercised the privilege of her sex of changing her mind.

Department Store Dances.

The big department stores have an annual custom, which is becoming more general each year, of giving an entertainment and ball for the pleasure and benefit of their employes. Some such affair takes place every few nights now. There was one last night with a vaudeville show and dancing until daylight and another is scheduled for Monday, with three or four others in close perspective. As it is etiquette for the attaches of other stores to be invited to the entertainments given by fellow employers elsewhere, it is not peculiar that clerks in most of the big department establishments were not very lively in their movements today.

Namesake from Waterbury.

J. Pierpont Morgan departed slightly from his usual custom yesterday when he told his factotum to introduce at once a man who had just arrived and sent his card in. Most men who wait on the big financier have to cool their heels outside his office for an hour or two before getting audience. It is not that Mr. Morgan is so exclusive but that actually he has not time to meet people as soon as they come. The name on the card of the man who got in ahead of half a dozen men, any of whom could have written a check for a million that would be good in any city bank, was "J. P. Morgan." The financier's curiosity was aroused and so he said that his namesake could come in. The latter was a Yankee, from Waterbury, Conn. He said afterward that he had not received any valuable advice as to "playing the market" from the banker, but that he had been courteously received. With all his business preoccupation, J. P. Morgan enjoys a little pleasantry now and then.

Greatsinger Steps Out.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company will have another president. Jacob L. Greatsinger, after a comparatively short term, has resigned the presidency, the way being cleared for him by his name being dropped from the board of directors at the annual meeting of the company today. Edwin W. Winter, formerly president of the Northern Pacific railroad, is scheduled to succeed Greatsinger. The annoyances suffered by the president are reasons enough for him to want to drop his thankless job. Trolley and "L" service in Brooklyn is execrable. The president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit gets the blame for it. Perhaps Mr. Winter will like the job. The average observant New Yorker takes the liberty to doubt it.

An Unfortunate Exception.

A reminder that the sanitary law against spitting in public places was afforded today in the arrest of an aristocratic looking man who turned out to be an attache of the Russian consulate at this port. He inadvertently broke the law at the Chatham Square station of the elevated railroad and was pounced on by a patrolman of the sanitary squad. The prisoner was fined $1 or a day in prison. He had not a dollar with him, and it was not until a lawyer of his acquaintance came to the rescue that he could be released from the Tombs. This Russian gentleman was unfortunate. The law has been a dead letter for months, so far as ordinary observation goes, for people seem to spit as they list. If the zealous officer had but happened to be around just then there would have been a lot of trouble saved for the Russian and the health of the city might not have suffered either.

Winter Afternoon Attractions.

One of the pleasant occupations of dull winter afternoons in New York is to visit the collections of pictures, objects of art and curiosities which are sold by auction at frequent intervals at the rooms of the American art galleries. An exhibition that will open next Wednesday is one that is generalized under the title of the "Art of Old Japan." According to the official announcement, it comprises ancient decorative leathers, wood carvings and other examples of Buddhist art. Pittsburghers visiting this city and having an odd half hour to spare will probably find this worth their attention.

Heavy Citizens in Trouble.

Swearing off taxes is not such a trifling matter as some New Yorkers seem to have supposed. Three well-to-do men were indicted by the grand jury today for attempted subornation of perjury, which offense they are alleged to have committed in trying to cheat the municipal revenue department by swearing off taxes. Each prisoner was held in $5,000 bail, and there may be some edifying proceedings, which will be an object lesson to other citizens, when the cases come to trial next week.

Day of Funerals at Plainfield.

Many New Yorkers went to Plainfield today to be present at the funeral of one or other of the victims of the Jersey Central collision. Plainfield was a city of funerals, although some of the dead will not be buried until tomorrow or Sunday. In the sermons preached at the various services this afternoon there was no direct reference to the railroad. As one mourner put it, everyone was too deeply steeped in grief to think about blaming anybody.

Public Spirited Maidens.

Young women over on Staten Island have discovered for their very own an "abuse" that should be corrected. So many reforms have been suggested by women's associations of late, the members of which have been out of their teens at least, that this independent move of maidens is worth noting. They say that in the trolley cars on the island the motorman is shut off from the view of passengers by a curtain. The argument is that if the motorman were to drop dead going down a hill the car might be smashed to pieces before the people inside knew that there was anything wrong with him. The board of health will look into the matter, and the 20 damsels are passing resolutions of self-gratulation on their public spirit.

Investing in 'Frisco Common.

In Wall street today 8,000 shares of San Francisco common were bought in the first hour by Darr, Lake & Moore. This firm has important Pittsburgh connections, and the assumption is that the purchase was for Pittsburghers, although that does not necessarily follow.

A Bolt from the Skyscraper.

There was an assault on the sub-treasury in Wall street today which created considerable excitement, although it was not the work of would-be thieves. An immense skyscraper for the Hanover bank is going up across the street, and one of the workmen managed to drop an iron bolt about three inches long through the skylight of the United States' local money box. It shook up the nerves of the grave clerks and pert messenger boys that are always in the treasury building, but did no further damage. Neither the clerks nor messenger boys have nerves easily disturbed.

PERSONALS

Shining resplendent among his more lowly countrymen a young Bulgarian strutted around the Baltimore & Ohio station last evening, dressed in raiment of many colors. He was one of about 500 foreigners that came into the city on immigrant trains yesterday, and of that number 388 remained here. They were mostly Bulgarians and Italians. He could not speak a word of English, and therefore his name was not obtainable, but it was explained by an interpreter, who met the train, that he is well-to-do and is touring the country. Not knowing what "third class" means in this country, tickets of that kind were obtained for the trip and he finds himself on the railroads quite out of his element. He wore a fedora hat of bright green felt. His coat was embroidered with fancy work. His vest was as multi-colored as Joseph's coat, and bore long rows of silver buttons as large as cherries. He wore short breeches of a brown shade with white wool stockings and leather slippers. Altogether he was a marvel to view, and the women of the immigrant party had not failed to observe his fine appearance.

Joseph O. Roe, proprietor of the Central hotel at Uniontown, and formerly clerk at the Duquesne, is in the city for a short stay. Mr. Roe announces that William J. Houston, who went with him to Uniontown last spring, has now become manager of the Downey house, Greensburg, and G. S. Bowman, formerly clerk at the Boyer, has become clerk at the Central of Uniontown.

George H. Anderson, secretary of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, went east on the Pennsylvania last evening. The main purpose of his trip is to attend a hearing Monday before the rivers and harbors committee of the national house of representatives on the Ohio river improvement plans. There will be other representatives present from Pittsburgh to Cairo.

David Lee of Zanesville, O., consulting engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio, is at the Monongahela house. Mr. Lee comes to attend a conference of Baltimore & Ohio officials to be held here today. Officials from all parts of the system, headed by General Manager G. L. Potter, will be present.

Proprietor Frank A. Brobst of the Lincoln and Mrs. Brobst leave early next week for a two months' stay in Florida. A trip to Cuba is contemplated before their return.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Col. David P. Jones.

Col. David Phillips Jones, chief engineer, United States navy, retired, died yesterday afternoon at his apartments in the Iroquois, Oakland, in his 63rd year. Col. Jones, who was one of the most popular officers in the naval service, was born in Philadelphia in 1840. At the breaking out of the civil war he entered the engineer corps of the navy and filled many important offices till he was retired, owing to physical disability in 1882. He took part in several of the famous naval engagements of the rebellion, and at different times was on duty at the bureau of steam engineering in the navy department, where his ability as a designer found ample scope. His most important work in the navy was in connection with the founding and developing of the engineering department at the Annapolis Naval academy. Col. Jones was one of the fathers of modern engineering in the navy. After the engineering course at the naval academy was started he became one of the teachers at the academy, where he was a most successful and popular professor. He possessed a rare charm which endeared all his pupils to him and made them life-long friends.

It was mainly at his suggestion that the Hon. W. S. Shallenberger of Rochester, Pa., when in Congress had the law passed providing for detail of engineering officers of the navy department to assignments in technical schools, from which the engineering departments of some of the leading colleges received their beginning.

Col. Jones also saw considerable sea duty before his retirement. Since retiring from the navy he had been practicing as a consulting engineer. In 1898, when the Spanish-American war was declared, he was ordered to duty as inspector of steel in the Pittsburgh district, since which time he made his home in the city. At the close of the war he opened an office in Pittsburgh and enjoyed a large practice as a consulting engineer. Col. Jones was one of the most lovable of men and a great favorite wherever he was known, and as a raconteur had few equals. His presence at a social gathering always greeted with pleasure. In early life he was married to a Miss Kellogg of Erie, Pa., by whom he had one daughter, Miss Anita Jones, who is well known in Pittsburgh society circles. His wife died 10 years ago. A few months ago Col. Jones married Miss Olive Harron of Pittsburgh. To his close friends Col. Jones was known as "Uncle Davy."

Mrs. Anthony Dougherty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy Dougherty, wife of Anthony Dougherty, of Bessemer Terrace, East Pittsburgh, died late Thursday after a long illness, aged 45 years. Mrs. Dougherty had been a resident of Braddock for 25 years and was well known. Her husband is foreman of the Braddock brick works. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Miss Delia Dougherty, a teacher in the Braddock schools; Misses Carrie and Mary, John, Anthony, Martin and Bernard. Mrs. Dougherty was a member of St. Thomas Catholic church, where funeral services with requiem high mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

James S. Welsh.

James S. Welsh, 70 years old, of Dayton, O., died yesterday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. J. McRoberts, No. 82 South Nineteenth street after a brief illness. Mr. Welsh was a former resident of Pittsburgh and became ill while on a business trip for a Dayton manufacturing concern in this city. The remains will be taken to Dayton for interment.

Obituary Notes.

Dr. C. L. Floor of Youngstown, O., died at his home yesterday. He was 45 years of age. His widow and three children survive.

Marjorie Treat, daughter of Charles Dean Treat, secretary and treasurer of the Penzance Mining Company, died yesterday morning at the family home in Thornburg, near Crafton.

John R. Wilson, 59 years old, president of the Oakhurst Coal Company, and senior member of the firm of Wilson & Co., coal dealers, is dead at his home, No. 122 Denniston avenue, East End. His widow and five children survive.

Republicans and the Trusts.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

The man who is constantly howling against corporations to this period of the world's progress must be a demagogue, because all the great things the country has in the way of development have come through corporations. There is not a town in Indiana which would not welcome a corporation with capital. There is not a great enterprise benefiting the people—railroad, factory, what not—which is not the result of a combination of individual contributions to a corporation, but when Senator Johnson declared that he had never known a Reason declared that he had never known a Republican to proceed against a trust, he simply publicized his ignorance. Every action under the anti-Sherman law was brought under the direction of Republicans and the injunctions which have prevented rebates were instituted by Republicans.

POLITICAL DRIFT.

The Boston Herald (Ind.), discussing the re-election of Senator Teller in Colorado recalls a parallel case in Indiana before the war when two senators were to be chosen the same year. "In its legislature," says the paper, "the house of representatives was Democratic, the senate Republican; but on joint ballot there was a Democratic majority. . . . The senate refused to meet the house in convention, on which the Democratic members of the senate went in a body to the house and there met the Democratic members of that branch in convention (the Republicans having withdrawn), and chose two Democratic United States senators, Messrs. Bright and Fitch. The senate, after discussion, admitted them to their seats, and this seems to be very much an analogous case, though somewhat more favorable to Mr. Teller than was the other."

"If congress will not at this time do all the attorney general asks of it," says the Chicago Tribune (Rep.), "it can do something. There should be no objection in any quarter to the voting of a large appropriation to enable the attorney general to investigate and prosecute cases which come within the purview of the existing anti-trust law. There can be no objection to an act to enable the attorney general to secure the hearing of a trust case by several circuit court judges and giving an appeal from the decision directly to the supreme court."

Of the cambria county additional judge matter, the Philadelphia Press (Rep.) says: "The proposition to create an additional judgeship for Cambria county, which has been presented to the legislature by Senator Stineman, appears to meet with Democratic opposition in the district. Two years ago both Democratic and Republican members of the bar united in a petition to the legislature for another judge, but there was not enough sentiment in favor of it to secure action. Since then, however, the Republican judge has been defeated for re-election and a Democrat is on the bench, which situation appears to be entirely satisfactory to the Democrats. They do not want another judge, who would certainly be a Republican. But it should be a question of the necessity of the district, and not one of politics. It is not a matter of population, but one of court business, which for many years has not increased in proportion to the growth of population."

Commenting on the Missouri senatorship, the Detroit Free Press (Dem.) says: "From George Graham Vest to William Joel Stone is a long step in the wrong direction, but the Democrats of Missouri have taken it. Senator Vest's retirement from the office in which he has served his state for so many years with such high distinction was voluntary; but, surely, the Missouri Democrats could have found a more worthy successor of this fine old Roman than William J. Stone, who has never been anything more than an intriguing politician and will never be anything more. There are enough men in the senate who "suck eggs and hide the shells" without displacing a man like George G. Vest with one of them."

After noting that there is no jubilation among Democrats over the election of Senator Teller of Colorado, though Teller is a Democrat, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) continues: "Colorado will thus be misrepresented in the senate during the six years for which Teller has just been chosen. The Republicans carried that state a few months ago, but the presence of a considerable number of men in one branch of the legislature, who were chosen during the silver craze and who hold office for a time longer, saved Teller. There is no chance for the Democrats to claim any victory out of this election. They are in a minority in Colorado, and they are likely to be still farther down in the scale when the next election takes place. In the senate, however, the Republican margin will still be broad. Teller will have no influence in that body."

During the Indianola controversy the New Orleans States (Dem.) made most intemperate comments, predicting that if more

"KENT" GAMBLE NOW SUSPECTED

IS PROBABLY INNOCENT

Eye-Witnesses of Fatal Fight Say He Is Not the Man Who Killed Good — No Carriage Was Used.

"Kent" Gamble of No. 417 Second avenue was yesterday arrested by Inspector Will and Capt. Gallant on suspicion of being the man who inflicted fatal injuries on Anthony Good on Wednesday night. The detectives do not believe that Gamble is Good's slayer, but, on the other hand, the uniformed officers are just as confident that he is.

Gamble resides at No. 417 Second avenue and is known by sight to most of the denizens of that section. Mabel Sherwood of No. 423 Second avenue, an eye-witness of the assault on Good, declares that Gamble is not the man, and Katie Cook and Clara Brodie, who also saw the struggle, confirm her statement.

Gamble was born in the Second ward and has lived there all his life. On Thursday afternoon the police arrested several other men who live in No. 417, because a man who answered in some respects to the description of Good's assailant entered that house 15 minutes after the fight.

Stories Are Conflicting.

Gamble returned to the house about 40 minutes after the fight and on Thursday, with his wife, went to McKees Rocks, remaining there until yesterday, when he returned and was arrested.

The police say Gamble was seen at Third avenue and Cherry alley at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday night. The fight occurred 20 minutes later. Robert May, janitor at Citizens headquarters, who knows Gamble, says he was not on the corner at the time stated by the police, and Gamble's friends assert that they can prove a complete alibi for him.

Good was known as a desperate fighter when drinking, and Gamble is not only smaller than the murdered man, but is of a peaceable disposition and has seldom been implicated in the fights that often occur in the neighborhood.

The man who struck Good is said by eye-witnesses to have worn a brown soft hat, which fell off in the struggle and fell into the mud and water of the street. Gamble was known to have such a hat, but it was found in his room yesterday, with no sign of having passed through any such experience.

Says Gamble Is Not Man.

"The man who killed Good has escaped," said Mabel Sherwood yesterday afternoon. "Gamble did not strike Good. I was nearer to those men than any one else. I heard Good say to the man who struck him:

"'I thought you were more of a man.'

"With this the man rushed across Cherry alley and knocked Good down. He hit him some five or six times. I spoke to the stranger from the window and told him that it was a shame to strike a drunken man. With this the stranger and his companion walked to Grant street. I don't know what made Good make the remark to the stranger. Good was a fighter when he was drinking.

"He was carried into Cherry alley by two men. He was not placed in a carriage. The men simply became frightened when they saw he was severely injured and dropped him where he was found."

There is some doubt as to the injuries Good received. The post-mortem examination showed that Good's ankles were broken. Two other physicians who examined his limbs yesterday say they were not. This has puzzled the police some. They cannot understand how Good's ankles could have been broken when he was knocked down in the street.

If they were broken, it must have been after he was carried into First avenue. Good was lying with his head on the curbing and his feet in the street. The police believe that his feet were run over by a carriage driven rapidly through First avenue. However, there were no marks found on the legs to indicate this.

"Drunk or sober, Gamble could not have knocked Good down," said a front office man yesterday. "Tony Good was a fighter and Gamble is not."

Gamble Tells His Story.

In his cell at the Central police station last night Gamble told Inspector Fred Will of his movements on Wednesday night.

"I was with my brothers, Joseph and Jessie, and William Price, from 7:30 o'clock until 11 o'clock," he said. "They had three girls with them. We ate supper in Dowling's restaurant in the Diamond. After that, we went to Murphy's saloon and remained there until 11 o'clock.

He also gave Inspector Will the names of the women who were with his brothers and Price. Gamble's hat was identified yesterday by Supt. P. K. Bechtel of the Homeopathic hospital at the police station as like that worn by the man who hit Good.

Inspector Will says that Gamble did strike Cook at Second avenue and Cherry alley. After that he went out Second avenue to Grant street and went in Lutz's saloon. He came out of the saloon and walked down to First avenue. He went out First avenue to Cherry alley, to Second avenue and then down Second to Smithfield street. Inspector Will says that Gamble tried to get in No. 417 Second avenue by the rear. Failing in this he came around to the front door and entered the house.

Gamble has secured Attorney William B. Hunter to look after his interests. The attorney called at the Central police station last night and talked to Supt. McAleese about his client.

The police are now looking for the man who is supposed to have been with the man that struck Good.

SCHUMANN-HEINK WARMLY RECEIVED

Great Contralto Appeared With Pittsburgh Orchestra Last Night.

The most successful concert of the Pittsburgh orchestra's present season was given last evening at Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall. Madame Schumann-Heink, the famous contralto, who was the soloist, was welcomed by an audience which taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium. This is the fourth season that Madame Schumann-Heink has appeared with the orchestra, and she has won for herself a wide popularity, no less on account of her superb voice as for her gracious personality. Her reception last evening was an ovation which well evinced the enthusiasm she always arouses. She was in wonderful voice and sang her two numbers with her usual perfect mastery of technique and artistic comprehension.

After her rendering of the recitative and rondo from Mozart's "Titus," the audience was not satisfied until she had returned and sung that magnificent selection from "Paulus," "For the Lord is Mindful of His Children." As an encore to her second number Madame Schumann-Heink sang Arditi's "Bolero," but her hearers would not be stilled until she returned again, this time to sing a delicious little slumber song.

Madame Schumann-Heink is so easily the leading contralto of the whole musical world that it is unnecessary to attempt to add a word to the praise which she has everywhere received. Beyond her marvellous voice, with its great range and strength, her chief attraction lies in her perfectly natural and easy tone production. She is the complete artist, with all that the phrase can possibly mean.

The orchestra has played nothing better this season than the Beethoven "Leonore." They gave to this graceful composition an interpretation which was poetic and full of charm. No touch of the musical spirit was marred by any instrumental roughness. It was an orchestral triumph, and was thoroughly appreciated by the audience.

In the Tschaikowsky theme and variations, Mr. von Kunits was given an opportunity to display his virtuosity in some solo work, of which he made the most.

As an orchestra concert is hardly complete without some of Wagner, the second half opened with the song of the Rhine Daughters from "Die Gotterdamerung," while the last number was composed of two studies in brilliant tone color, "Scheherazade" of Italy and Spain, by Moszkowski. Played with much spirit, they made a fitting close to this exceptionally fine concert.

Madame Schumann-Heink will appear again with the Pittsburgh orchestra this afternoon, at 2:15 o'clock.

and the apparatus with which he is curing all Bronchial and Lung Troubles.

Of all diseases there is none so dangerous, none so fatal, as those affecting the respiratory or breathing organs. You catch cold today, neglect yourself, thinking you will get well without medicine, and instead you grow gradually worse; the disease either overcomes you or takes on a chronic form—

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, CONSUMPTION!

In former years such diseases were incurable, but the genius of man has invented this apparatus by means of which the medicines are turned to a fine smoke-like vapor, which is inhaled right into the lungs, depositing its soothing, healing, curing properties right on the diseased surfaces, destroying any germs which may exist — restoring life and health to thousands who were surely doomed to a consumptive's grave.

My charges are but $5.00 a month and I supply everything. Remember, $5.00 pays for consultations, treatments, medicines, everything necessary for a month's treatment.

DO YOU LIVE OUT OF TOWN?

If you do, you want to know that instead of wasting time and money with local doctors who cannot have any knowledge of chronic diseases and their cure, you can be cured by my new method of HOME TREATMENT as surely and quickly as if you consulted me in person.

Continued today.

Semi-Annual Remnant Sale proved to be just what we started out to make it—the greatest Remnant Day the Store ever had.

Last year's business grew more—increase of business greater—than any other year of the thirty-four since the store was started. Hence more remnants and more odd lots to sell. We realized this fact and marked prices accordingly.

In such a sale any amount of remnants and other goods get soiled and mussed. These are re-red-inked, and on such a low price basis as will pay to see and get.

Silks, Laces, Embroideries, Dress Goods, Black Goods, Curtains and Rugs and all other remnants, and all other articles ready to wear and otherwise—Furs included—upstairs and down—all on the same price scale, as yesterday.

No doubt many people did not get waited on yesterday as they should. In fact, we know they didn't, and regret that we could not do better for them—notwithstanding we had over one hundred and fifty extra sales-people in addition to our own regular force of over twelve hundred employes.

Those who were here and did not get what they wished—and those who were not—if they come today will get as great values. Saturday after our Remnant Day is of course never so large a sales day as the main Remnant Day—Friday—but we purpose to make this a larger sales day—with goods and prices—than any other Saturday that ever followed any of our Remnant Days.

Large lot—almost a yard wide—Fleeced Wrapper goods, light and dark, 12½ and 15c kinds—7½c.

Lot 15c Velour Flannelettes, stripes and allover patterns—7½c. Splendid goods for Bath Robes, Winter Wrappers, Children's wear and other useful uses. These extra good Printed Velours are extra for today.

Notice—that's interesting to our employes and the public. Store will close at 5:30 every day commencing next Monday.

GOVERNOR HEARS THE OTHER SIDE

Attorneys Tell Him He Has No Right to Hold Up Charters.

DUTY IS TO SIGN THEM

Precedent Is Cited and It Is Argued His Ruling Would Result in Injury to Business Interests of the State.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.

Gov. Pennypacker gave a private hearing today on the legal points raised as to the right of the executive to hold up applications for charters in which the capital is not supposed to be sufficient to carry on the enterprise.

The governor said he would decide the matter as soon as possible. He particularly desired from the attorneys their views as to whether his duties in the granting of charters are ministerial only, or whether he is vested with executive discretion and, if so, to what extent.

Attorney General Carson was present but took no part in the argument. Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth Beitler, Corporation Clerk Whitworth and other attaches of the state department were also present.

Corporations whose applications were held up by the governor were represented by Robert Snodgrass of Harrisburg, Richard E. Cochran of York and R. K. Wright of Washington. William C. Farnsworth of Harrisburg was present by invitation of the state authorities.

Mr. Snodgrass took the position that under the law there is no minimum amount of capital stock fixed and the governor has no discretion to impose any condition upon the granting of a charter other than those named in the statutes.

Has No Alternative.

He argued that the governor's duty in the granting of a charter was purely ministerial and that he was only authorized to pass upon matters of form and to determine whether the purpose for which the corporation was to be created was within the statutory provisions.

Mr. Snodgrass contended that when the governor examined a charter, if he found it to contain the averments required by law and for a purpose that was lawful, he had no discretion to refuse his approval regardless of the amount of the capital stock named in the application. He said that it has been the unbroken practice of the state authorities ever since the passage of the general corporation law of 1874 to place no restriction on the minimum capital to be named in an application for a charter.

Mr. Cochran, former deputy secretary of the commonwealth, contended that the act of 1874, which provides for the incorporation of corporations of the first-class by the courts, as well as corporations of the second-class by the governor, in distinct and positive language vested in the court a discretion to grant or refuse a charter according to its own judgment. That inasmuch as no such discretion was given to the governor by the act in relation to chartering corporations of the second-class, the necessary inference was that no such discretion existed and that the governor, was, therefore, authorized to pass only upon the form of application and was without the power to inquire into the amount of its capital stock.

Would Hurt Business Interests.

Mr. Farnsworth spoke upon the effect which the governors' ruling in the Donora case would have upon the business interests of the state and upon the state's revenue from corporations. He said that nearly all of the very large corporations of Pennsylvania were originally chartered with a nominal capital, because the interested parties were not disposed to pay out large sums to the state in the way of bonus until they had ascertained whether their project would be a success.

Mr. Farnsworth said that in every instance where such corporations were created with a nominal capital stock and the enterprise was perfected the capital stock was increased to the amount necessary to carry out the corporate purposes and the full amount of bonus due upon the increase then paid into the state treasury.

He also said that if the incorporators of a proposed enterprise of great magnitude were compelled to incorporate for the full amount of capital and required to pay the bonus thereon before the enterprise was found to be successful, in nearly every instance the charter would not be applied for. The result would be that the state would lose not only the very large amount paid in bonus, but the large sums annually paid thereafter into the state treasury as tax on capital stock.

State Would Lose Money.

Mr. Farnsworth said the governor's ruling would work a financial hardship upon both the state and proposed incorporators. He cited several instances to show where the state would have lost $500,000 in bonus and an equal amount in taxation by the failure of the parties to incorporate had they been compelled to name the full amount of capital that might be required and pay bonus upon the capital before it was definitely known whether the enterprise could be successfully launched.

The applications of the Canadensis Water Company of Monroe county and three illuminating gas companies of Cumberland county are being held up pending the governor's decision.

DEMOCRATS WILL BACK UP MR. QUAY

Favor Tacking of Statehood Bill as Rider on Appropriation Bills.

ACTION COMING SOON

Delegate Rodey of New Mexico Will Have Hard Fight for Reelection—Payne Attempts to Block Private Claim Bills.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 50, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.

Nothing occurred today to indicate an approaching solution of the deadlock in the senate over the statehood bill. Both sides appear to be firm in their intention to fight to the last ditch and each day of this attitude makes a special session more probable. The opponents of the bill are watching Senator Quay like a hawk. They do not propose to be surprised by any more flank movements such as the introduction of the bill as riders to appropriation bills, although they say that this move will amount to nothing and quote rules of the senate to sustain their claim that the action is illegal. But if they had been vigilant and had known what the innocent looking amendments contained they could have had them referred to a committee that would have promptly forgotten to report them. But instead, Mr. Quay had the amendments referred to his own committee, which has authorized a favorable report, as all the members except two are with him in this fight.

Senator Bate was asked as to the truth of the report that the Democrats would not back up Senator Quay in his move to put the riders on to appropriation bills. He denied the rumor and said that with the possible exception of Senator Cockrell, the Democrats would support the action.

Rodey Is Confident.

Delegate Rodey of New Mexico said: "You can put it down as a certainty that the bill will be passed within a few days. The action of the Republican leaders is going a great way toward making all three of the territories Democratic. I was elected by a Republican majority of 10,000, but when I go back I will have to contend against the charge that the Republicans of the senate repudiated their national platform and slandered the territory. There will be difficult charges to refute in the light of what is being done here."

This was the last private claims day of this congress in the house, and members with bills on the calendar carried everything before them in committee of the whole. In the absence of the speaker Mr. Dalzell presided. Forty-five bills in all were acted on favorably, despite the efforts of Mr. Payne, the Republican floor leader, assisted by Mr. Cannon and others, to defeat some of them.

Many of the claims were old, dating back to the civil war, and a few originated prior to that time. The latter were for balances due for carrying mails in the south when the war broke out. Mr. Payne was particularly insistent in his opposition to these bills, calling attention to the exposure of the fraudulent character of many similar claims in the Forty-fifth congress. He expressed the opinion that all these claims had been paid before. The members interested stood together, however, and voted him down every time he demanded a division.

Had to Seek a Quorum.

When the committee of the whole reported the bills to the house, Mr. Payne blocked their final passage today by making the point of no quorum. But the friends of the claims refused to be balked. A motion was made to recess until tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in order to continue the legislative day of today and the sergeant-at-arms and his deputies were sent out to arrest and bring in absentees. It was 8 o'clock at night before the requisite quorum was secured to carry the motion and let the session go over until 10:30 tomorrow forenoon.

The house committee on postoffices and post roads today authorized a favorable report on the bill introduced by Mr. Gardner of Michigan to prevent robbing the mails and to provide a safer and easier method of sending money by mail. It provides for a system of post check notes which are made exchangeable at money order post offices and banks.

Senators Penrose, Lodge and Fairbanks of the senate committee on immigration, who have in charge the immigration bill, have been in conference today with other members of the senate with a view of obtaining an agreement on the bill whereby its passage can be secured. Senator Lodge, who has been the especial champion of the educational test for immigrants, has agreed to allow that provision to be withdraw providing unanimous consent is had for the passage of the bill after the amendment is withdrawn.

The senate committee on foreign relations today authorized favorable reports upon the Alaskan boundary treaty and the protocol for the extension of time for the ratification of the Cuban reciprocity treaty, but failed, for lack of time, to reach a decision upon the Panama canal treaty.

Arrested on Workhouse Steps.

When George Mason of New York stepped out of the workhouse, where he had served 90 days, yesterday, he was arrested by Detective A. Boat of Harrisburg on a warrant charging him with larceny. Mason was taken to Harrisburg for trial. Mason was arrested in this city by Detective James Egan three months ago, and after being committed to the workhouse it was learned he was wanted for stealing trunks and satchels from the Harrisburg railroad station.

SUB-COMMITTEE STIRS UP STORM

Improvement in Downtown Water Service Is Demanded at Once.

POLITICS THE CAUSE

Effort to Disobey Order of Councils and Put Item in Bond Issue to Keep Millage Down—Larkin to Blame.

The failure of the sub-committee on finance to make provision for the extension and improvement of the downtown water system at its meeting Thursday night when the appropriations for the water bureau were fixed has aroused a storm of protest.

County Fire Marshal W. D. McGill called upon Director J. Guy McCandless yesterday to obtain information regarding the matter. Director McCandless referred the fire marshal to W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the finance committee. Dr. McCandless said:

"It is the intention of the members of the finance committee to put this appropriation in the bond issue, but they will probably have to come to time when the property owners downtown get after them. Councils have passed an ordinance directing the finance committee to insert an item of $215,000 in the annual appropriations for the downtown water mains and the finance committee can not afford to ignore the action of councils and the demands of owners of millions of dollars worth of property."

Director Urged Action.

Dr. McCandless stated that he had submitted to the sub-committee on finance resolutions passed by the board of underwriters which promise to take off what is known as the "ouch slip" just as soon as the appropriation for the downtown mains is made and asking that provision be made in the annual appropriations for the downtown water system.

It is estimated that the sum of $215,000 equals about two-thirds of a mill and the committee is taking out of the annual appropriations every item that can be transferred to the bond issue, to be voted on in March. In spite of the fact that enough items have been transferred to the bond issue to run it up to $3,000,000 the appropriations are still higher than last year.

The committee has abandoned Controller Larkin's 13-mill tax levy scheme and it is now working to keep the millage down to what it is now, 15 mills.

Larkin for 15 Mills Now.

Controller Larkin was elected on a 10-mill platform. A few weeks ago and again less than 30 days ago he announced that he was for a 13-mill levy. A couple of days ago in a speech delivered on Duquesne heights he said the Republican organization was trying to raise the levy to 28 mills and that he was trying to keep it down now to 15 mills.

The sub-committee on finance meets tonight to continue its work on the annual appropriations. The committee will probably complete the appropriations for the department of public works tonight, but the repaving schedule and the numerous resolutions introduced in councils will remain for consideration. It is not likely that the sub-committee will get through before the next week.

Its report will then be made to the finance committee which will go over the appropriations before they are presented to councils. It is evident that the finance committee will not make its report to councils before Monday, February 9. A couple of meetings of councils will have to be held to consider and pass the appropriations and this can not be done before the election unless several special sessions are held.

Will Violate Charter.

The new charter requires that the annual appropriations shall be made prior to the first Tuesday of February and not prior to the city election, as alleged to have been stated yesterday by W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the finance committee.

Chairman Stevenson is quoted as saying yesterday that the sub-committee has been holding four meetings a week. This is not correct. The sub-committee has held but two meetings each week and some weeks but one meeting.

A meeting was scheduled for last week on Thursday night and was postponed to permit Controller Larkin to read a paper at the Citizens party meeting in Old City hall. Just two meetings were held last week and two meetings this week so far. W. C. Reitz wanted a meeting held last night, but agreed to postpone it at the request of Controller Larkin and Chairman Stevenson.

Sports Were Too Hasty.

Officers of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society yesterday turned a neat trick on a number of men who attended the chicken fight at Monaca last Saturday night. Informations had been preferred against about 70 men, and yesterday several men called at the society's headquarters to learn if their names were on the list of those prosecuted, and offered to settle if charges had been made against them. They were told that they would have to settle with the justice of the peace before whom the informations were made. In the meantime informations were sworn out against the callers, who had left their names behind.

PREACHER OUTWITTED

In Another Preacher's Family.

"It is easy to sing the praises of Postum Food Coffee; in fact, I should be most ungrateful old I not," says Mrs. R. B. Wright, the wife of the minister of the First Congregational church of Boise, Idaho.

"Five years ago I was a nervous wreck and yet hard to convince that coffee was injurious. Postum was recommended by a friend and found to be delicious and strengthening. In a short time my nervousness left me and today I am well and hearty without a moment's sickness.

"My husband has been relieved of biliousness by its use and our eldest daughter, who was a delicate child, has wonderfully improved in health. She has gained in flesh and is stronger than ever before in her life, while I scarcely know I have any nerves. The whole family, children and all, prefer Postum to coffee.

"How sorry I feel when I hear any one say, 'I don't like Postum.' I know they have not properly prepared it and have frequently suggested another trial—four teaspoonfuls of Postum to a pint of water, which must boil at least 15 minutes after boiling commences, have cups warm and serve very hot with good cream—this is a cup fit for a king.

"I know many who have been benefited from its use; nervousness, dyspepsia, with countless other ills, vanish when Postum becomes the family breakfast drink and coffee is left out.

"At our table recently a clergyman was asked if he would not have his cup refilled. He replied, 'I never allow myself but one cup of coffee,' and when informed that he had been drinking Postum, he exclaimed, 'Indeed, I will have another cup,' surprised and gratified that he had been outwitted. This was considered a good joke by the younger members of the family."

COUNTY FUNDS CHANGE HANDS

Treasurer Collingwood Will Give Second National $803,000 Today.

WANTS TO SAVE INTEREST

Methods of Crediting Interest to Redemption and Road Redemption Funds Changed to Aid County's Standing.

County Treasurer David L. Collingwood gave notice to the Freehold bank, a merger interest of the Colonial Trust Company, that he would lift the county funds amounting to about $803,000, today, and deposit the same in the Second National bank, which was the second highest bidder for the funds, agreeing to pay to the county 3.77 per cent interest to secure the same. The money will be transferred to the new depository this morning, through the medium of the clearing house and by check.

This action is taken pending the decision of the court in the mandamus proceedings brought by the Pennsylvania Trust Company to compel Treasurer Collingwood to make the plaintiff institution the depository for the funds, and to show cause why such is not done, the Pennsylvania Trust Company being the highest bidder for the funds. If the court should decide that the trust company is a regular banking institution, Treasurer Collingwood will again change depositories, and has notified the Second National bank to hold itself in readiness to give up the funds should the court recognize the claims of the trust company.

"I took this action today," said Mr. Collingwood, "because I believe the county should profit by the additional percentage afforded by the Second National bank's bid. It may be some weeks before this matter is finally decided and the county cannot afford to lose one cent, at least not while I am in office. It may mean a gain to the county of over $1,000, which I wish to save."

Treasurer Collingwood has made a number of changes in the method of keeping the accounts in the treasurer's office. He has separated the redemption fund, the road redemption fund and the poor fund, and credited the interest to each account. The redemption funds are both permanent accounts, receiving 3.77 per cent interest, while the bonds pay only 3.5 per cent interest, a gain of .27 per cent above what is paid out. The permanent accounts now get the credit for the next three years, and if Treasurer Collingwood's successors in office keep this up it will show a considerable increase in the funds and strengthen the county's credit with bond buyers.

In this action Controller R. J. Cunningham has acquiesced and the two officials are working together to further the interests of the county. A number of other changes will be announced shortly, all tending to more stable business methods than have been in vogue heretofore.

Walked on Wooden Leg to Scaffold.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—John St. Clair, alias Sinclair, a negro, was hanged at the District jail today for the murder of his sweetheart, Daisy Maddox, eight months ago. St. Clair had a wooden leg, which he jokingly said would be sure to "break my neck." On account of his handicap, a platform was built from his cell to the scaffold, obviating the necessity of his climbing steps.

Another New Jersey Wreck Victim.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Jan. 30.—William M. Clark of Plainfield, one of the victims of the wreck near Graceland on Tuesday evening, died today. The condition of Samuel McCarthy, fireman of the Reading flyer, is critical, and J. Everett Leighton of Plainfield, another victim, is very low.

CASTRO WRITES TO PITTSBURGH

A TEN BILLION CONCERN

Letter from President of Venezuela to R. D. Coulter, of Larkin's Office—Company Seeks Aid of United States Senators.

R. D. Coulter, an attorney, who is connected with Controller John B. Larkin's office, is in receipt of a letter from President Castro of Venezuela in reference to property in the war-ridden South American republic owned by a big mining and development syndicate in which Mr. Coulter has an interest.

This company has large holdings in Venezuela, and the communication from President Castro is in reply to an inquiry from Mr. Coulter. President Castro's letter is written in Spanish and is brief. It acknowledges the receipt of Mr. Coulter's letter and advises him that the government of Venezuela is doing all that it can to take care of the interests of foreign investors, but that it is hampered on one side by the revolutionists and by the foreign powers on the other.

Mr. Coulter is acting as an attorney for the International Construction and Development Company, which has the distinction of being the largest capitalized corporation in the world, not excepting the United States Steel Corporation.

A little over a year ago it was published in the newspapers that the International Construction and Development Company had been chartered at Phoenix, Ariz., with the immense capital of $10,000,000,000. The fact was scarcely credited.

The name of Mr. Coulter, who is said to be a relative of the late H. L. Gourley, was published as one of the incorporators. Mr. Coulter verified the report that his company was a $10,000,000,000 concern. Recently the fact was disputed by a local trust company that had some dealings with the company, and Mr. Coulter was called upon to produce the charter which shows that it is permitted to organize with a capital stock of $10,000,000,000.

Mr. Coulter said yesterday that he is not ready to disclose the names of the parties backing the enterprise financially. He stated that they were leading lights in the financial world and insisted that the corporation is organized and operating on a legitimate basis. He said the company has no stock on the market for sale, and is doing nothing at present but acquiring property in various parts of the United States, Central and South America.

The company, so Mr. Coulter says, has holdings in Honduras, Arizona, Mexico, Venezuela and Argentina, comprising copper and gold mines, anthracite coal lands, and even asphalt properties.

Some valuable tracts are held in Venezuela and the company is seeking the influence of United States senators and prominent government officials in Washington to intervene in the dispute between President Castro and Germany. Attorney Coulter has written to Senator Quay and also to United States Senator James P. Tollafearo of Florida.

Senator Tollafearo was elected to the United States senate in 1901, when Mr. Coulter was a member of the Florida legislature. Mr. Coulter yesterday exhibited a letter he had received from Senator Tollafearo in which the writer stated that the United States government and the members of congress were keeping a sharp eye on Germany's attitude toward Venezuela and that this country was ready at the first improper move on the part of Germany to enforce the Monroe doctrine.

Help For Working Women

The suffering and pain endured by many working women is almost beyond belief.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livlihood, or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching! She is so tired she can hardly drag about, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is quickly traced to some derangement of the female organism.

When the monthly periods are painful or irregular, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when "I-can-hardly-drag-about" sensation attacks you, when you are "so-nervous-it-seems-as-though-you-would-fly," it is certain that some female derangement is fastening itself upon you. Do not let the disease make headway; write your symptoms to Mrs. Pinkham for her free advice, and begin at once the use of

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Profit by the Experience of the Women Whose Letters Follow:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to write and thank you for all you have done for me. I have been suffering with womb and ovarian trouble for about four years and tried everything, but found no relief. I went to the best specialists in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago. I thought at times I would go crazy, I suffered so. The doctors told me the only thing would be to have an operation and my ovaries taken out. I at last decided to quit the doctors and give Mrs. Pinkham's remedies a trial. I used both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash, and now find myself completely cured. I had the doctor to make an examination and he said I was cured. I cannot say enough for what your remedies have done for me, and have advised all my friends to try it."—MRS. CLARA MALL, with N. P. & Nat. Express Co., Ashland, Wis.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, 243 East 114th Street, New York, N.Y., says:

"It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now enjoying better health than I ever did. It seemed to me that I had no strength at all. I could hardly drag about. I was in pain all over.

MRS. FRANCES STAFFORD.

"I began to feel better after taking the first dose, and am now like a new woman. I know that if other suffering women would only try it, it would help them.

"I thank you with all my heart for what your medicine has done for me."

Mrs. Lou Davis, 74 Institute Place, Flat 5, Chicago, Ill., says:

"August 24, 1901.

"For the good of others I wish to testify to the merits of your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I was certainly in a very bad condition. I suffered terribly with a continual backache and headache. I had pleurisy in my right side, bearing-down pains, and those dizzy, sinking or fainting spells, was nervous, peevish and despondent.

"I was advised to try your medicine, and was greatly surprised at the benefit I derived from its use. I am now entirely cured of these ailments, and consequently feel and look like an entirely new person.

"I shall always be pleased to influence suffering women to try your Vegetable Compound. It has done wonders for me, and I am very thankful."

WILL CELEBRATE AN ANNIVERSARY

Recognition to Be Given an Important Church Adjunct Tomorrow.

PROGRESS OF PASTORS

Several Interesting Special Features Will Mark the Religious Services to Be Held Hereabouts Tomorrow.

The 22d anniversary of the inauguration of the Christian Endeavor movement in the United States will be celebrated in several churches of Pittsburgh and vicinity tomorrow. Many pastors will give a review of the work of the organization. The Rev. Thomas Clayton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Allegheny, will preach a sermon tomorrow evening on "The Past, Present and Future of the Christian Endeavor Movement." Mr. Clayton will thoroughly discuss the entire work of this important adjunct to religious worship.

Two Lutheran ministers will celebrate anniversaries tomorrow. The Rev. John Weidley, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, has held his pastorate there for the past 15 years. He will preach a special anniversary sermon tomorrow morning. The Rev. Alonzo J. Turkle, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny, has been pastor of that church for the past four years. He will preach a sermon tomorrow evening, entitled "Companions," and it will be of the nature of an anniversary address.

The Rev. J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, has arranged for a series of cartoon talks that he will give on five successive Sunday evenings, commencing tomorrow. His topic for tomorrow night is "Seed Time and Harvest." There will be special music.

At the temple of the Reform Jewish congregation, Rodeph Shalom, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rabbi J. Leonard Levy will deliver a lecture on "The Faith of Our Neighbors." This will be a continuation of the rabbi's series of lectures on "Jewish Affirmations."

At entirely new set of views of Henry Hirsh, the Rev. S. Edward Young's sermon at the Bijou theater tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Among the special musical features will be singing by the child artists, Frida and Amalia Wichens von Gogh, who are known as the "Juvenile Opera Singers." Benjamin F. Burts will direct the music.

DYNAMITE IS USED

WATERBURY, CONN., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—There were several explosions tonight on the trolley lines. The company is positive they were of dynamite. Stones were thrown through windows and several of the strike-breakers had narrow escapes. Crowds are blocking the cars in South Main street.

One of the strike-breakers was arrested tonight, he having been found with a revolver concealed.

The situation is becoming desperate. The boycott is the most successful ever inaugurated in the east.

French Battleships Collided.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The minister of marine has received information that the French battleships Gaulois and Bouvet collided during maneuvres by the Mediterranean squadron, which sailed from Toulon yesterday morning. A preliminary examination of the two warships shows that the Gaulois has one of her forward plates loosened, while the damages to the Bouvet are insignificant.

A HANDSOME entertainment was given yesterday by Mrs. Ella D. Coffin and her daughter, Miss Edith Coffin, at their home in Wellesley avenue, East End. The unique distinction of having four brides as the honor guests was theirs. They were Mrs. William Barker, formerly Miss Adessa Fritz; Mrs. Willett P. Hughes, who was Miss Reed; Mrs. William Henry Hastings, nee Carson, and Mrs. J. Stewart Lacock, formerly Miss Florence Aull. The hostesses and their honor guests, all of whom were brides of the late fall and early winter, received together. They were smartly gowned, the guests of honor wearing their wedding gowns of rich white silk or satin and exquisite lace.

Progressive euchre was played and the tables for a couple of hundred guests were scattered throughout the rooms upon the first floor, with others on the second. The prizes were very handsome, consisting of silver and hand-painted articles. The house was tastefully decorated, the flowers in each apartment harmonizing with the tints of the furnishings, yellow and white being the predominating colors, with a rich background of green.

The four honor guests, with Miss Edith Coffin, are among the popular East End girls. Mrs. Lacock and Miss Coffin are officers of the West Penn Hospital Cot club, and the others are interested in the work which it is doing.

Receiving with the host and Miss Zeigler was Mrs. Hugus' mother, Mrs. Harry C. Hugus. Over 100 young people were in attendance at the dance. The house was handsomely decorated with white narcissus, white and pink roses and a profusion of southern smilax gracefully wreathed about the halls, parlors and dining room and also groups of tropical plants.

Miss Zeigler, who arrived in Pittsburgh a few days ago and will remain as Mrs. Hugus' guest for a couple of weeks, is a former student at the Pennsylvania College for Women. She was a member of the class of 1902 but left before finishing her course.

THE BEST THING ABOUT BLACK.

The Color That Makes Clothes the Most Serviceable.

You can wear a black coat to church, on the street, to the theater, on the train —anywhere and be in "good form."

And the next best color for general utility purposes is blue.

You can wear a black skirt with almost any kind of a waist and be appropriately dressed.

You can wear a black or a blue suit with the serene satisfaction of being correctly attired almost anywhere.

No wonder Campbell buys most largely of the blacks and blues when he selects women's made-up apparel for "The People's Store."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

THE new bath house and gymnasium given by Alexander R. Peacock to the Columbian Council school will be dedicated and formally opened on Tuesday evening, February 10. Formal exercises, consisting of addresses and music, will be conducted and the building will be thrown open for inspection. The reception will be a general one.

The Peacock baths and gymnasium are the result of a gift of $10,000 made by Mr. Peacock to the Columbian Council school for that purpose and are located in Lyden street, near Green, directly back of the Columbian Council school, which stands in Center avenue. It is a large and commodious building, of handsome and appropriate style of architecture, and is placed in a densely crowded neighborhood reached by the school, which is really a social settlement conducted by prominent Jewish men and women of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. It is built of red pressed brick, with white stone trimmings and green tile roof, and stands two stories in height.

On the first floor are the baths, large waiting room for men and women opening on either side of the main office. Beyond these waiting rooms are 14 private shower baths, seven for men and seven for women, with an equal number of lockers, and one general shower. In the rear is the swimming pool, 34 by 14 feet. From this there is a private entrance to each of the bath rooms. The walls and floor are finished in white tile.

The second floor is devoted to the gymnasium and an auditorium with a concert platform and anterooms and is finished throughout in hardwood. The entire building is 54 by 51 feet. The bathing facilities are sufficient for 500 baths a day. The auditorium will accommodate 400 seats.

The Columbian Council school board is composed of Mrs. A. Leo Weil, chairman; Mrs. Enoch Rauh, vice chairman; Mrs. Albert Blumberg, treasurer; Mrs. Abraham J. Sunstein, secretary; Mrs. J. Leonard Levy, Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg, Mrs. Samuel G. Rosenstock, Mrs. Benjamin H. Hirsch, Mrs. Charles H. Weinhaus, Mrs. Benjamin L. Hirshfield and Miss Minnie Affelder. The bath committee is composed of Mrs. Benjamin H. Hirsch, chairman; Mrs. Herschel N. Benedict, Mrs. Leo Newman, Mrs. Isaac N. Wilnberg, Mrs. T. Goldberg, Mrs. Marks Browarsky, Mrs. Louis H. Adler, Mrs. Morris N. Klinordinger, Miss Fannie Hannach, Miss Forst and Miss Hirsch.

Stock Subscribed.

Stock was subscribed yesterday at the meeting of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association for the new Tenement Improvement association recently chartered in Harrisburg. The subscriptions secured were the result of a very interesting and instructive talk given by Miss Bakewell, one of the charter members of the new society, before the board of managers of the Free Kindergarten association, who met yesterday morning in the Kindergarten college in Fifth avenue, Oakland.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the board. In addition to the officers' reports presented Miss Jessica Childs, director of the free kindergarten in the Lucky school, told of some interesting experiences with the children there and the present condition of the school. Miss Lida Packer, director of the free kindergarten in the Ralston school, also told of her work among the children in that district, one of the most densely populated in the city. It is one of the localities which the Tenement Improvement association is watching, in order to put into effect some of its plans for improvement. Miss Packer has done a great deal of unusually effective work in this district, aside from the school work. She has organized girls and boys' clubs, systematically visits the homes in the close, ill-smelling streets and alleys and has become a personal friend of the people there. Miss Klinkeiy, first vice president, presided yesterday in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. A. Herron.

Social Settlements Discussed.

The Columbian council met yesterday afternoon in Rabbi J. Leonard Levy's parlors in the Eighth Street temple. The discussion of the afternoon centered about the interesting talk Miss Schoenfeld gave of her three months' visit to New York city, where she spent day after day at the University and the College settlement, the social settlement established by the Educational alliance. Miss Schoenfeld is assistant superintendent of the Columbian council school and is a college girl, who has given several years now to resident settlement work. She told the Columbian council yesterday afternoon of the methods pursued in New York city of the clubs which are formed, classes conducted and the social and home circles formed for the people of the neighborhoods in which the settlements are located. Columbian council school is established on somewhat similar lines, being a social settlement in the crowded hill district, founded and supported by the Jewish men and women of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Miss Schoenfeld's talk yesterday was made more interesting by the announcement of the opening of the Peacock baths in February. An additional feature of interest in the program was the music, Miss Elsie Rosenthal of Cincinnati singing several songs.

HEAVY DUTIES ON AMERICAN GOODS

New German Tariff Practically Prohibitive on Finished Products.

IT IS EFFECTIVE IN 1904

Tax on Grain and Cereal Products, Horses, Bicycles and Other Articles Bars Them Unless Special Treaty Is Made.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Detailed information of much value to exporting interests concerning German trade is contained in a report to the state department by United States Consul General Mason at Berlin. Mr. Mason points out that the date on which the new tariff act is to go into operation will depend on the time occupied in arranging new commercial treaties, which he places at from 12 to 18 months, thus bringing the new law into effect somewhere between January and July, 1904.

Mr. Mason analyzes the act tersely, showing how it will affect the future import trade of Germany from the United States unless meanwhile modified by a reciprocity treaty. Especially significant are the largely increased duties on grain and cereal products, that on wheat rising from the minimum rates of 80 cents to $1.73 per 100 kilograms. The duty on horses, now uniform at $4.75 per head, rises to a figure varying from $21 to $85. Bicycles, instead of paying $9.52, will pay $35.70 per 100 kilograms. Similar increases are reported in other important staple exports from the United States, such as shoes, lumber, machinery, railroad apparatus, and raw material. Most raw materials remain on the free list. Agricultural implements of small type are given reduced duties, which Mr. Mason cites as illustrative of the scrupulous care with which the new act favors the agricultural as opposed to the industrial and mercantile classes. He shows that the duty on grain, which will be about 5½ cents per bushel in some years would have been a fair average price for the grain itself in the American market, while on corn there is placed a practically prohibitive duty of $4 06 per barrel.

By an ingenious provision of the act apples in bags or loose in canalboat loads will come in from neighboring countries free during the apple harvest and at all times under a nominal duty, while fruit coming from over-sea or long rail distances will be assessed $2 per barrel. Mr. Mason says the American apple probably could not stand this duty. The reichstag to be elected in June is depended on to ratify the new treaties, and Mr. Mason says that for this reason the coming election will have an exceptional interest for other nations than Germany.

BIRTH KEPT SECRET

Existence of Another Rockefeller Heir Made Known at Burglars' Arraignment.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—At the arraignment of the burglars who were caught trying to rifle the house of E. Parmelee Prentice, for the first time outside of his immediate family circle it became known that another heir to the millions of John D. Rockefeller has been born—a grandson who may take the place left vacant by the death two years ago of little "Jack" McCormick, whom an offer of $500,000 to physicians could not save.

This latest addition to the Rockefeller family was born six weeks ago, but the news of his birth never became public and it became known today only through the inadvertence of one of the witnesses called to identify the burglars, who happened to mention that the noise of the struggle downstairs between the burglars and one of the burglars had not aroused the baby.

Mr. Rockefeller's grandson has not been christened, but it is believed he will be named John Rockefeller Prentice.

Mrs. Prentice, who before her marriage, in 1901, was Miss Alta Rockefeller, was none the worse today for the excitement of the day before, although it was somewhat of a shock to her to find that burglars were actually in the house. Her husband, who has been in Chicago for several days, is expected to return home Sunday.

NOT A CHURCH AT A BARGAIN.

South Sharon Lutherans Purchase the Unitarians Old Edifice.

The one-story frame building in Craig street, opposite Duquesne garden, for several years used as a house of worship by the First Unitarian congregation of this city, is to be taken apart and shipped to South Sharon, where it will again be erected and used as a church.

The Rev. Mr. Fiskhorn, pastor of the English Lutheran church at South Sharon, as soon as he learned that the little church building was to be disposed of, somehow, opened negotiations with the trustees of St. Paul's Cathedral and as a result considers that he has secured a bargain. The price he paid has not, however, been made public yet.

The trustees of St. Paul's church obtained possession of the Unitarian church about one year ago, the property on which the edifice stands being the last piece of ground purchased for the site for the new Cathedral, the excavations for which are already about finished, included in the deal by which Mr. Fiskhorn secured his new church is the $1,000 pipe organ contained the building.

THE ACADEMY RECITAL.

Miss Miller and Her Assistants Scored a Success.

A select audience filled every seat in the Conservatory of Music last night at the recital given by Miss Christine Miller, assisted by Miss Jean Miller, Lieut. George Dauberger and the Pittsburgh Academy Glee club, for the benefit of the Cadet corps of the Academy. Miss Miller, teacher in the vocal department of the Academy, sang "My Heart is Weary," and several other selections. Lieut. Dauberger's cornet solos were exceptionally good, and Miss Jean Miller delighted the audience with her readings in Scotch dialect. A chorus of 25 young ladies and eight young men, all of the Academy, sang "The Vesper Bell" and "The Clang of the Forge." Cadet drills in the manual of arms, the bayonet exercise and rifle drill were conducted by Major Lee of the Academy. There was a military appearance within, and outside a set of guards were stationed in military fashion.

MORE TRACK NEEDED TO RELIEVE FREIGHT

At Altoona Meeting P. R. R. Officials Plans Break Blockade.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ALTOONA, PA., Jan. 30.—At a conference here today the division superintendents of the Pennsylvania railroad were given instructions by General Manager W. W. Atterbury and General Superintendent G. W. Creighton that are expected to break the freight congestion which exists over the entire road. Mr. Atterbury has been here since Wednesday making a thorough study of the situation. He formulated a plan of action, and the meeting of the division superintendents took place solely to apprise them of all the details concerning the arrangements.

No statement was given out about the plans, but it is understood that the work of breaking the blockade will start at once. It was stated that what can be devised that will greatly relieve the congestion until there is additional trackage laid. It was shown that the company's business was so enormous as to have gone beyond all precedent, and no system of handling freight could be regarded as sufficient without more tracks. As a consequence the improvements which the company is now making will be hurriedly rushed to completion.

Similar meetings will be held here each week until the congestion is effectually broken.

SKIN-TORTURED BABIES

And Tired, Fretted Mothers

Find Comfort in Cuticura Soap and Ointment

When All Other Remedies and Physicians Fail

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies and rest for tired, worried mothers in warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, purest of emollient skin cures, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted and pimply skin and scaly humors, with loss of hair, of infants and children, as well as adults, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scald head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures and humor remedies of the civilized world.

JOHNSTOWN PEOPLE WANT A NEW COUNTY

Legislature Will Be Urged to Divide Cambria—Too Far from Ebensburg.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Jan. 30.—Johnstown is active in a movement for a new county, with Johnstown as the county seat, and a mass meeting looking to a formidable demand on the legislature is in prospect. Mayor John Pendrick, backed by the officials of the Cambria Steel Company and business and professional men, are urging the step.

People in the valley in which Johnstown is situated are at a great disadvantage, the nearest railroad route to Ebensburg, the county seat, being 68 miles. It is proposed to form a new county out of the southern portion of Cambria and small parts of Somerset, Indiana and Westmoreland counties, which are adjacent to Johnstown, and 90 per cent of the people in which are in favor of the movement. It is proposed that the new county shall be named Conemaugh.

CAPT. DELANEY SLATED FOR CAMPBELL'S PLACE

Pittsburgher to Be Removed as Factory Inspector to Make Opening.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
HARRISBURG, Jan. 30.

Capt. John C. Delaney of this city has been selected by Gov. Pennypacker for factory inspector and his nomination will probably be sent to the senate on Monday night. Delaney managed the campaign of ex-Lieut.-Gov. Watres of Scranton for governor and his appointment will be credited to the Lackawanna county organization.

James A. Chambers of Pittsburgh, president of the American Window Glass Company, is making a strong effort for the retention of James Campbell of Pittsburgh, whose commission expires next January. Mr. Chambers will come to Harrisburg on Monday to make a final effort to prevent the proposed removal of Campbell.

The governor is also expected to send to the senate on Monday the appointment of Thomas Lynch Montgomery of Philadelphia, as state librarian to succeed the Rev. Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, who resigned during the campaign to take the stump against Pennypacker.

A committee representing the shipping interests of Philadelphia will call on the governor tomorrow and ask that Dr. Henry D. Heller of Hellerton, quarantine physician of Philadelphia, be reappointed.

Louis Emanuel of Pittsburgh is being urged by the Pennsylvania State Pharmaceutical association for member of the state pharmaceutical examining board to succeed William G. Minnick of Allegheny. Mr. Emanuel served on the board for 10 years before he was removed by Gov. Stone a year ago and Minnick appointed to his place. Gov. Pennypacker recalled Minnick's nomination from the senate and will probably appoint his successor when that body convenes on Monday night. A committee from the State Pharmaceutical association called upon the governor today in behalf of Mr. Emanuel and to protest against the retention of Minnick on the ground of incompetency.

The committee was composed of Maj. H. Radsecker, Lebanon; Theodore Ehrig and B. F. Pritchard, Pittsburgh, the latter being secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Retail Druggists' association; J. C. Cunningham, Beaver; H. C. Fraley, Lancaster; W. C. McIntyre, W. Leedom and H. C. Blair, Philadelphia.

The committee is also opposed to the appointment of Paul W. Houck of Shenandoah and George Davis of Pittsburgh, appointees of Stone, whose nominations were recalled by Pennypacker after they had been confirmed by the senate.

PASSENGERS AND CREW ARE MAROONED ON ROCK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—The steam schooner Crescent City ran on Fish rock, off the Mendocino coast, during a gale early this morning. Her passengers and crew, numbering in all about 25, took refuge on the rock.

The steamer Scotia was signaled and after heating about for several hours, launched a boat which transferred 11 persons to the Scotia. The life saving crew from Point Arena could not launch a boat, but attempted to shoot lines over the rocks from the shore. Owing to the wind all efforts in this direction were unsuccessful.

About 15 persons are still on the rocks. They are in no danger, except from exposure. Tugs from San Francisco will make an attempt to rescue the marooned persons. The sea is very rough and it may be necessary to leave the people on the rock all night.

The Crescent City is slowly breaking up, and unless the storm shall cease, will probably be a total loss.

Four Injured by Explosion.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—As a result of an explosion at the works of the Standard Oil Company today, four men were burned. One of them, John Slater, will probably die. A safety valve on an oil still blew off and a tremendous explosion of gas followed.

A sale that carries conviction on its face

THE above figures give you the "ins" and the "outs" of this season-end clothing clearance in plain, unmistakable terms—a brief, but clear and concise presentation of the facts. And what a striking contrast is thereby furnished of the vast difference between our methods of doing business and those so much in vogue elsewhere. The object of many "ads" is to confuse rather than to enlighten the reader. Statements are purposely worded in such a manner as to prove misleading—to create or convey wrong impressions—to seem to say other than what the facts justify. For instance: it's a common practice elsewhere to pick out certain lines of goods (and almost invariably undesirable or out-of-date styles or "slow sellers") mark them down a little and then so word the "ad" as to leave the reader under the impression that the entire stock has been reduced in like manner. Such is never the case here. We always state the truth, the full truth, and nothing but the truth, and in such a way as not to be capable of being misconstrued. When we say that

Any suit or overcoat marked $8.00, $9.00 or $10.00 goes for 6.00; or
Any suit or overcoat marked $12.00, $14.00 or $15.00 goes for 8.50; or
Any suit or overcoat marked $18.00, $20.00 or $23.00 goes for 13.00; or Any suit or overcoat marked $25.00, $30.00, $35.00 or $40.00 goes for 20.00

we mean any—none being excepted. In other words, this discount of 20 to 45 per cent applies to each and every suit and overcoat in the house. We've simply divided the entire stock (with the exception only of the suits and overcoats marked $5.50, $6.00, $6.50, $7.00 and $7.50, which go for 4.50) into four lots as above.

And there's no doubt here about the reductions either. How could there be—it's not we, but you who take off the discount. We don't show you a garment marked $6.00 and tell you it was reduced from $10.00. We've simply left the old prices intact and let you do your own price cutting.

Thousands of men have already availed themselves of this sale, but, owing to our policy of each day filling up the gaps from the reserve goods in the stock rooms, the assortments are, as yet, in nowise impaired. They will soon be, however, if the present heavy selling keeps up. To make positively sure of getting just the style, pattern and size you want, better come in at once. No better time than today.

All pants, too, go at 20% to 45% discount

1.75 buys choice from all men's pants marked $2.48 and $2.98.
3.00 buys choice from all men's pants marked $4.00 and $5.00.
4.50 buys choice from all men's pants marked $6.00 and $7.00.

WABASH BRIDGE MEASURE WAS INTRODUCED BY JOHN DALZELL

TO CARRY STREET CARS

Telephone, Telegraph and Traction Companies May Use It Upon Payment of Reasonable Compensation.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.

Representative Dalzell introduced a bill today to authorize the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company to construct, maintain and operate a bridge across the Allegheny, 75 feet east of the southeast corner of Fourth street and Duquesne way, in Pittsburgh, to a point on the opposite shore at right angles with the current of the river, the exact location, length of span and height to be determined by the secretary of war on the recommendation of chief engineers. The bridge is to be a highway for railway trains and street cars and right of way with equal privileges is granted to all telephone or telegraph companies.

All companies desiring the use of it shall be entitled to the same upon payment of reasonable compensation; and in case the owners and several companies, or any of them, shall fail to agree on sums to be paid and rules and conditions to which each shall conform, all matters at issue shall be decided by the secretary of war upon hearing the allegations and proofs of the parties. The bridge shall be maintained at all times to afford proper means and ways for passage of vessels, barges or rafts on the river by day or night. Work on the construction must be commenced within two years and completed in four from the passage of the act.

Happened a Year Ago.

Senator Quay called at the White House this morning in relation to some Pennsylvania appointments and he was congratulated upon his escape. When he asked for an explanation, he was informed that a Philadelphia paper contained a story to the effect that he had taken a dose of strychnine in mistake for calomel and that he had escaped death through the prompt efforts of his physician.

"Oh, yes," said the senator, "that is correct. But it happened a year ago; last February in fact."

It seems that a correspondent was told of the incident yesterday and supposing that it was of recent occurrence, sent an account of it to his paper.

Hurrying the Marine Hospital.

Assistant Secretary Taylor of the treasury wrote today to the state authorities at Harrisburg for an official copy of the act repealing the law which prohibited erecting hospitals or pesthouses in built-up sections of cities. When the document arrives he will proceed to expedite the arrangements for constructing the marine hospital in Pittsburgh. Mr. Taylor thinks from unofficial reports he saw of the repealing act that the case now stands as if there had never been such a prohibitory law; and when he has the official copy to give him right of way to proceed he will arrange the transfer of title to the old arsenal grounds from the quartermaster's department to the treasury department. It may be necessary to make compensation to the quartermaster's department for the title, but that, he said, can be adjusted in short order.

Mr. Taylor received a petition from the Association of River Pilots to build the hospital on one of the elevated sections of land in Pittsburgh, but the request was denied. They were informed the arsenal grounds have been highly recommended by the surgeon general.

COL. QUAY WILL URGE BALLOT REFORM BILL

Pledges Made by the Party Will Be Fulfilled by the General Assembly.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—"As soon as the sub-committee is ready to report, I will call a meeting of the state committee to decide upon a new ballot law to be submitted to the legislature," said Senator Quay, chairman of the state Republican committee, tonight.

The Republican party of Pennsylvania is pledged to pass a new ballot law, and it is the intention of the leaders to have that pledge carried out. At the state convention last summer a sub-committee was intrusted with the work of drafting a new law to be reported to the state committee.

"I do not know how soon the sub-committee will be ready with its report," said Senator Quay, "but it should be in a short time, in order that the bill may be acted upon at this session of the legislature. I think there is no doubt but it will be in time.

"Personally, I favor a small ballot—that is, a ticket for each party. Every voter should be allowed to write out his own ballot if he wishes, preserving, of course, the privacy of the booth. He should be permitted to go into the booth and make up his ticket to suit himself, seal it in an envelope and deposit it in the ballot box."

"Are you opposed to a candidate being upon the ticket more than once; that is, under different party columns?" was asked.

"Yes; and the plan I suggest would do away with that," he replied. "A voter could use the printed ticket furnished him, or he could vote a mixed ticket if he desired by erasing and writing in the names of the candidates for whom he wished to vote. If the ballot is sealed in an envelope, there can be no danger of any voter putting in more than one ballot without detection."

L. W. STRAYER.

Two Tickets Are Named.

Swissvale Republicans and Democrats last night nominated candidates to be voted for at the election next month. Seven of the candidates hold office at the present time. The candidates who will oppose the ticket of the Citizens party are: For burgess, J. M. Linn; justice of the peace, Robert McKim, Sr.; council, D. D. Little and R. W. Cummings; school directors (three-year term), David Addle, Franklin Wentzel, (one year) Alonzo M. Long; tax collector, T. F. Hodge; auditor, Dr. H. S. Fisher; judge of elections, John McCurdy, Jr.; inspector of elections, Edward Strong.

Eye Knocked Out in Falling.

Patrick Reilly, 35 years old, of No. 16 Archers lane, Allegheny, fell, late last night, at Beaver and Island avenues, and struck his face on a sharp stone. His left eye was knocked out. He was taken to the St. John's General hospital in a patrol wagon.

VOITLE HAS STEPPED DOWN AS PRESIDENT

Head of American Flint Glass Workers' Union Suddenly Resigns.

Charles T. Voitle has tendered his resignation as the president of the American Flint Glass Workers' union, to take effect at once. It came about through the storm raised by the malcontents of the organization in the Indiana gas belt, which led to his recent trial on charges of exceeding his authority, along with Vice President Thomas W. Rowe. The conduct of the affairs of the organization, by reason of the diversity of the craftsmen represented, puts no light task on the shoulders of the president. This has led to the resignation of three of the union's presidents in the past four years.

The resignation of Voitle, according to the law of the organization, makes Thomas W. Rowe president. There are reports that he, too, may retire, in which case the union will have to take special action to elect a new president and vice president.

President Voitle was entirely exonerated in the recent trial, it being shown that the constitution and by-laws gave him full authority for everything he had done in connection with the chimney workers' strike over the skimming rule.

FORTUNE TELLING CASE

Good Looking South Side Woman Held to Answer the Charge of Being a Seeress.

Alderman D. J. McGarey of the South Side last night heard testimony in the case of Mrs. Agnes Smith, who was arrested several days ago charged with being a fortune teller. The woman is the wife of Theodore Smith, a glassworker. She is young and stylish-looking. The woman was arrested on information made by Inspector William McShane, who had received numerous complaints from parents living in the vicinity.

The testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Smith charged 25 cents for revealing secrets and foretelling events. The complaints made by parents were based on the influence the alleged clairvoyant had on young girls. In one communication received a mother declared that her daughter had left her and refused to return because Mrs. Smith had told the girl that she was not living with her real mother.

Other complaints were to the effect that young women had spurned former suitors to await the coming of more heroic persons predicted by the alleged seeress.

Alderman McGarey held the woman in $300 bail for court.

FIRE IN TOBY FACTORY.

Midnight Blaze Does Damage Estimated at $2,500.

In some unknown manner a fire broke out in the stock room of David Marshall's toble factory at No. 13 Scott street about midnight and destroyed about $2,600 worth of tobacco and damaged the building to the extent of $500. Most of the destruction was caused by the water. An alarm was sent in from box No. 91 by Officer William West.

The origin of the fire is not known. Officer West was walking down Scott street and saw the smoke coming from the second story window. Without waiting to make an investigation he pulled the box. The firemen soon arrived and after breaking in the windows soon let the smoke escape from the building. The water was turned in on the second and first stories and the flames were soon extinguished.

There was considerable tobacco in the stock room on the first floor, which was destroyed by water.

George Hess, colored, who lived in the adjoining building, was coming home when the firemen were working on the burning factory. He became frantic when he saw the fire, thinking that it was his home. Lieut. Milton Bailey was compelled to take him home to prevent further excitement. The building was fully insured. The property is owned by P. Wolff.

CLYDE LINER ASHORE

Strikes Bar During Dense Fog While En Route from New York to Philadelphia.

ANGLESEA, N. J., Jan. 30.—(Special.) During an impenetrable fog the Clyde Line steamer Gulf Stream, commanded by Capt. Jacob Swain and carrying a crew of 20 men, from New York to Philadelphia, came ashore at 2 o'clock this morning on the north bar of Hereford Inlet, at Anglesea.

After two hours of hard pulling the lifesavers reached the wreck. Six of the crew were landed at 9 o'clock and are now quartered at the life-saving station.

Capt. Swain, Chief Engineer Fulton and the rest of the crew declined to leave the vessel and are still on board, the lifesaving crew remaining with them, and if it becomes necessary will land them.

He will be held and turned over to the proper authorities for extradition to Italy.

MARCONI SENDS NEWS TO REACH STEAMER CROSSING ATLANTIC

Wireless System Employed to Give Tidings to In-coming Vessels.

THIRTY MILES AT SEA

Messages Can Be Received a Few Hours Before Liners Reach Queenstown—First Attempt to Install the Service.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The first attempt to supply incoming steamers with a news service was made today, when Reuters' Telegram Company filed with the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company 100 words of news for the Cunard line steamer Lucania, which left New York Saturday last and which is due to arrive at Queenstown tomorrow.

The Wireless company thus far will only engage to attempt to transmit messages 20 miles from Brow Head, so the news will only reach the steamer a few hours before her arrival at Queenstown.

The company will have a better chance with the Atlantic Transport Line steamer Minnetonka, which also left New York on Saturday, to which a news message will be transmitted tomorrow. The Minnetonka passed 20 miles from the Scilly Islands, but only reaches London 48 hours later.

LARKIN'S RESIGNATION

Controller Says He Did Not Declare He Would Quit if Haymaker Wins.

"Is it true, Mr. Larkin, that you will resign if John C. Haymaker is elected recorder, as Congressman James W. Brown declared last night at a Citizens party meeting on the South Side?" was asked of City Controller John P. Larkin last evening.

"I refuse to talk on the subject," replied the controller.

"But what foundation had Mr. Brown for his assertion?" was asked.

"Brown can say what he pleases," replied Mr. Larkin. "I am not on the witness stand, and refuse to answer any questions."

"Well, didn't you make the statement? Else how would Mr. Brown make his assertion?" were the next queries.

"What I did say," at last the controller was induced to state, "is that I have declared that if I do not get more help in the controller's office I will resign. As to the statement that I would resign if Haymaker is elected, there is nothing in it."

THE CORONER'S LIST.

Four Violent Deaths Reported for Investigation.

Andrew Washky, 39 years old, of Duquesne, died Thursday night at the West Penn hospital from shock resulting from having his leg amputated. His body is at the morgue.

George Morrison, 45 years old, of Irondale, died Thursday night at the West Penn hospital from a fractured pelvic bone. His body was taken to the morgue.

Joseph R. Armstrong died at his home at No. 8 Maria place, Allegheny, yesterday from blood poisoning, caused by an accident on December 24, when one of his toes was crushed. He was a machinist and was hurt at Fourteenth street and Penn avenue. He was 37 years old and married.

Aunlcare Simoni, 18 years old, died last night at the West Penn hospital from shock, resulting from the amputation of one of his limbs. He was a resident of Latrobe and was injured on the Pennsylvania railroad at Braddock.

Deputy Coroner Charles Bender yesterday closed his investigation of the death of the man supposed to be John Murray, whose body was found in the basement of a church at Clairton last Monday. An autopsy was held and it developed that the cause of death had been alcoholism and exposure.

Girl Killed By a Train.

WALKED 14 BLOCKS WITH ARM CRUSHED OFF

George Andrews, 46 years old, a Hungarian, employed in the wire department of the Ninth street, Braddock, plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, was yesterday, as he left the mill yards, struck by a shifting engine which passed over his left arm, close to the shoulder. Andrews walked 14 blocks to a doctor's office. When the physician attempted to remove Andrews' coat the arm came off in the coat sleeve.

THEORIES ABOUT CATARRH.

Peculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case: his plan was to eat nothing whatever for twenty-four hours or presumably until the trouble had disappeared.

Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy, but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties.

Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become a fad, would make of us a nation of fasters; an army, emulating the example of the immortal Tanner who achieved world-wide fame by fasting forty days.

Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly overeating, is a very common cause.

Most people, however, are more interested in the cure of the trouble than in the cause, and modern medical science has produced more effective and less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's.

Hydrastis is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of Catarrh. Red Gum is another which on account of its antiseptic properties is very valuable, while many severe cases of Chronic Catarrh have been entirely cured by the sanguinaria, or extract of Blood root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable, and convenient, and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is so apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular demand.

They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of traveling men because they can be carried in the pocket and used any time and in any quantity, being free from cocaine, opiate or any poisoning drug.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours' time.

For nasal Catarrh they are far superior to any wash, lotion or ointment the use of which is often as inconvenient and annoying as the disease itself.

For coughs, colds, bronchial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure where lotions, douches and inhalers make no impression whatever.

This preparation is a boon to catarrh sufferers and any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a remedy that has come to stay.

STEINWAY PIANOS

Would it be a matter of pride with you if you owned one of the world's best pianos?

Certainly it would.

Well, if you are thinking of securing a new piano, keep the Steinway before you. It is preeminently the world's greatest instrument—the one by which all others are measured.

It is reasonable to assume that the Steinway would not be adopted by the royal courts of Europe if it were not superior to every other piano on the market. The fact that the nobility of Europe prefer the Steinway is evidence of the high esteem in which America's famous instruments are held the world over.

Steinway pianos leave nothing to be desired. They are the ideal instruments—and are so considered in all circles where society pretends to exact knowledge on the subject of musical affairs.

Pittsburgh Pool Expert Was No Match for Champion

CHAMPION EBY RETAINS TITLE

Defeated W. H. Clearwater by Very Large Margin.

CLEVER CUE WORK

Grant Eby still retains his title of pool champion, having successfully defended it in the contest which ended last night against William H. Clearwater. The final score was: Eby 600, Clearwater 466, which was a great surprise to the friends of the local man, who looked for him to put up a much cleverer contest.

With the score standing, Eby 404, Clearwater 399, the third and deciding game started. Eby lost no time in getting down to work. And on the first frame he scored 13 out of the 15 points, while on the second frame he cleared the table, thereby increasing his lead materially. He had his stroke with him, and had apparently made up his mind that he would finish the game in the shortest possible time. He was putting up a genuine championship article, and his exhibition was liberally applauded. In the fifth frame each of the performers was guilty of some very poor playing, missing shots ordinarily made by 10-cent players.

In the sixth frame one of the spectators angered Eby by remarking "shoot" after he had drawn back his cue several times. Some spectators cried to put him out, and Eby remarked "That's what should be done. He has no business at a gentleman's game." The man who made the remark right subsided. Clearwater put up the worst exhibition he has shown yet, and it looked very much as though the game Eby was playing had taken all the nerve out of him. Again he showed his weakness on long table shots, falling down on almost every attempt made, whereas had he pocketed the balls he would have had an elegant chance to have cleared the table.

In the ninth frame one of the spectators bet $2 to $5 that Clearwater would clear the table, saying he was due to score the 15 some time during the night. He lost his $2, for on the eleventh shot the ball got jawed in the pocket, and Eby then proceeded to clear the table. The latter seemed to have a world of confidence, and went ahead with the air of a dead sure winner.

One of the greatest shots of the entire contest was made in the 7th centh inning, when with the balls all in a bunch, and the cue ball frozen against the end rail, Clearwater called the "2" ball for the corner pocket, and going to the side rail, came back with great force and sent the ball true as a die into the pocket. The fans called for applause, which continued for a couple of minutes.

While Clearwater occasionally made a spurt, he was clearly outplayed by his opponent, who had himself well in control, and whose position playing was about perfect. There is no disguising the fact that while Clearwater did not put up the game he is capable of, it must be admitted the element of luck was against him, as on numerous occasions, when he did score a hard shot, he frequently found himself sewed up, so that the making of another ball was almost an impossibility.

The first foul of the contest was made by Eby touching one of the object balls with his hand in the ninth inning. The only penalty attached was the loss of his shot, which probably cost him as few balls, as he had perfect position to clear the table at the time.

At the end of the eighteenth inning the score stood, Eby 568, Clearwater 451, and the former playing with great steadiness. While the result of the contest was never in doubt after the first frame, the crowd of 500 or more stayed to see how badly the ex-champion would be beaten. The final result of the game is shown in the following frames, which tell the story:

Eby—15, 15, 9, 15, 2, 15, 15, 6, 5, 10, 6, 9, 11, 8, 0, 9, 14, 5, 15, 10, 2—176. Grand total, 600.

Clearwater—2, 0, 4, 0, 13, 4, 0, 0, 0, 10, 10, 5, 15, 6, 4, 9, 14, 4, 1, 10, 0, 5—116. Grand total, 466.

GOOD TEAMS WILL MEET.

South Side and Manchester Will Do Battle Tonight.

There will be another important game in the race for the championship of the Allegheny County league at Odd Fellows hall, South Side, tonight, when the Manchester and South Side teams will come together for the second time in a championship contest. South Side won the first game at Manchester's hall, but encouraged by the recent showing of both teams against the Carnegie team, the Manchester boys are coming over to the South Side loaded down with confidence, and they are certain they will add another black mark to the champions record.

The South Side boys, although greatly disappointed by the defeat of Wednesday night, with the large number of games yet to play, are yet in the race for first place, and are confident they will be back in second place after tonight's battle is over. Following will be the lineup:

Manchester.	South Side.
Rosenbloom	R. F.
Koch-Shillinger	L. F.
Walliser-Metzkes	Center
Graham	R. G.
Burry-Hay	L. G.

THE STEUBENVILLE FIVE.

It Will Meet D. C. and A. C. in Lawrenceville Tonight.

Tonight at Keane's auditorium the D. C. & A. C. team will line up against Steubenville. It will be Steubenville's first and last appearance in this city this year.

Manager Farren intimated that he will give the red and black team a great surprise tonight. In Kirkpatrick and Rodgers, the two eastern men, he has undoubtedly two of the finest players in the country. Last year Kirkpatrick played a star forward game for the Pennsylvania State A. A. team of New York. In '97 he played forward with Sandy Shields for the New York National league team. His work tonight will be watched with interest. Roberts made a kick against these two players participating in tonight's contest, but was overruled.

A preliminary between the Foster and Company P. team will start at 7:30 sharp. The big game is scheduled to start at 8:30.

Will Have Boxing and Wrestling.

The East Pittsburgh Athletic club will have one of the best boxing and wrestling tournaments at Singer hall, East Pittsburgh, on Tuesday evening, February 10, that has been pulled off in the Turtle Creek valley for many months. There will be a half dozen four-round boxing bouts. The principal one will be a wrestling match between Reb Roy Mackey and L. T. Knox for a $100 purse, 70 per cent of the purse to go to the winner, and 30 to the loser. Mackey and Knox wrestled last Thanksgiving Day, and Referee Jamison gave the decision to Knox. Mackey is confident that he can reverse the decision. He says he is willing to back himself for $50 or $100. Knox weighs 175 ponds, and Mackey will weigh about 155 pounds at the ring-side.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

Jones, Railroad's utility man, will probably get the position of guard made vacant by the resignation of Gillespie, and will probably prove good.

On Monday evening the Railroad Juniors will meet the Creek Trinity A. C. of Pittsburgh at the Railroad A. M. hall, in Allegheny, and a hot game is expected.

Owing to the Nationals canceling the game with the Trentons last night, the latter team was without a game. Any 13-14-year-old teams desiring games, address A. Meyers, 28 Trent street, city.

The Nationals of the Junior league will play the Alpine Grays at Glendorn hall tonight. The both teams are about the same weight, a warm game is expected. All members of the Nationals are requested to report at store not later than 7:30 o'clock.

The Railroad Midgets would like to hear from some 9 or 10-year-old team in Western Pennsylvania for games away from home for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights throughout the season. The Company second and St. Mathew Cubs of Homestead preferred. Address W. E. Gillespie, No. 227 East Jefferson street, Allegheny.

BURLESQUE HOCKEY BY KEYSTONE TEAM

Last Night's Contest Was a Farce and Was Hooted by Angry Spectators.

The exhibition of hockey put up by the Keystone seven out at Duquesne garden last night would have brought a blush of shame to any of the 10-year-old teams that do hockey stunts in the side streets and alleys. The contest was only an exhibition game, still the spectators paid to see hockey, and the reward they got was a poor one indeed. The Banks won the game 13 to 1.

Of course, in exhibition games players are not expected to display as much energy as they would in a championship contest, yet there was no reasonable excuse for the display made by the Keystone's last night. The wonder of the shy-ers was so bad that the onlookers became disgusted and hooted them, and there was good cause for it. Evan Riley Herd, whose work at goal is generally the feature of all contests the team takes part in, was off color last night and would hardly have been able to stop a lame horse in an alleyway, let alone shots at a goal net.

The first half of the contest started off as though the players meant business, and in a fifty three of them. Bright and Willett of Keystone and Roberts of Bankers, were sent to the bench to take a rest for tripping and other infractions of the rules. That ended the seriousness of the game, and from that time on it was a farce pure and simple. The Keystones had absolutely no defense at all and the Bankers, without the least trouble, scored eight points, while the best Keystone could do was a lone one.

The second half of the contest was equally as bad as the first. The Keystone players made a show at hockey playing for about three minutes; then they became tired and so did the spectators. The Bankers again started to run in scores, and there is no telling where the scoring would have ended had it not been for the time limit. The game was really the worst exhibition of the season and if the hockey promoters want to save the game from disgrace they will put an end to such contests as that of last night. The score and lineup:

Bankers—13.	Keystone—1.
Richardson	Goal

Stuart	Cover Point
Campbell	Rover
Roberts	Forward
Lake	Forward
Lifilton	Right Wing

FOOTBALL AT YALE.

Officers Elected and Finances Are in Good Shape.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The Yale Football association held its annual meeting tonight and elected the following officers for the coming season: President and manager, Herbert G. Miller of Bloomingburg, N. Y.; assistant manager, Edward Elbridge Spaulding of Lynn, Mass., and secretary, James J. Warring of Savannah, Ga.

The election for captain will not be held for another week, when it is expected that Edgar Glass, the giant guard, will be chosen. Football at Yale cost $30,922.65 last year, but as the annual receipts were $56,490 50, there was left a surplus of $17,077 55. Alan Fox, president of the football association for last season, addressed the annual mass meeting held for the election of officers tonight, and said that the reason that the surplus was so small was that $16,000 was paid for new grandstands and repairing the old stands last fall. The total receipts are never as large as when the Yale-Harvard game is played here as when it is played at Cambridge.

STILL AFTER McCLELLAND.

New England Champion Insists on Fighting in St. Louis.

Andy Daley's manager is still after a match with Jack McClelland, to come off in St. Louis. He claims to have a forfeit of $100 posted in Chicago for a match at 126 pounds, weigh in at 3 p. m. James Mason, McClelland's manager, is perfectly willing to make the match, provided that he can be shown there is more money in St. Louis than there is here, and he wrote Daley's manager to that effect yesterday. If Daley's manager cannot show up Mason will give a good guarantee for the match to come off in this city.

"Kid" Tyler is training hard every day with Jack McClelland for his match with Eddie Zang, which comes off at a smoker on Tuesday, February 10. Considerable money is ready to be bet on Zang at even money, but the Tyler people want odds, as Zang has been in the ring for a long time. He beat Frank McCloskey at 115 pounds and refused to make weight for Tyler, who is giving away over 10 pounds as the bout is scheduled at catch weights.

THE HANDBALL TOURNEY.

Tiger Buerger Still Holds to the Lead.

The handball tournament under the auspices of the Woodlake organization for the individual championship, was continued yesterday, in which all the players took part. The games are becoming fast and snappy, as all the contestants are in almost perfect condition.

The games yesterday were all very close and exciting, and so furious was the playing that when the games were over Wixong, O'Donnell and Buerger were the only ones that were not exhausted. The start event of the meet was the contest between O'Donnell, the famous Dublin expert, and Tiger Buerger, the Woodlake crack. The game was very close for a time and the playing was pretty, but suddenly Buerger changed his style of play and finished the game in a whirlwind manner, giving as remarkable an exhibition of foot work as has rarely been seen. Wixong was also in a fine condition and his return of difficult shots brought forth cheer as cheer. Score:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.

Game Ended in a Dispute.

The basketball game between the Sterling and Homestead Red Stockings last night ended in a disturbance over a goal thrown. The Reds claim the goal was a fair one, but the referee ruled otherwise and awarded the game to Sterlings.

SICK MADE WELL WEAK MADE STRONG.

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

Wonderful Cures Are Effected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret of Long Life of Olden Times Revived.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realms of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 3405 First National Bank building, Fort Wayne, Ind., makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissues, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail.

WE HANDLE YOUR COMMISSIONS.

To obviate leaks over the wire, and to prevent anyone from thwarting our planned daily coups, we are ourselves placing, through the foremost bookmaker of the country, Mr. Sol. Lichtenstein, all of the money our clients wager on our selections.

Nothing is communicated over the wires by us before the races to our subscribers. As a symbol of good faith, however, the day's selections are placed in a sealed envelope, addressed to each subscriber, and put in the mail at the New Orleans General Postoffice at 1 p. m. daily. We guarantee that no horse will be played for any client, except the name of that horse has been mailed to him in an envelope bearing the New Orleans postmark not later than 2 p. m. of the day the races are run. After the races are run New Orleans clients can learn at our New Orleans office the names of the horses Mr. Lichtenstein has been instructed to play. New York clients can learn at our New York office, and out-of-town clients will receive the news by telegraph, if they so order—all telegrams at cost of subscriber. In addition, we undertake to place in the hands of the editor of the New Orleans ITEM before the races the selections the money will be played on, and also to advertise next morning the names of the horses in the New York DAILY AMERICA, which is the recognized racing authority of the country.

For the security of persons to whom our fame and financial standing are unknown, and who wish to follow us at New Orleans, the Maxim & Gay Co. refers to the State National Bank of New Orleans and turfmen generally.

SO-CALLED BANK POOL RELEASES ITS GRIP

Call Money Loaned Freely in Wall Street at Lower Rates--Stock Market Dull and Narrow--Crucible and Pittsburgh Coal Active.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

More interesting than the fluctuations in the eastern stock market yesterday was the evidence furnished of the dissolution of the so-called bank pool. It will be recalled that during the stringency last fall the report was circulated and generally accepted as correct that a pool had been formed by influential New York banks to regulate the loaning of money to Wall street, the object being to restrain speculation until monetary conditions became more promising. Later the formal announcement was made of the formation of a $30,000,000 "emergency pool" which proposed to loan that sum providing the need of it became apparent to avert a needless sacrifice of stocks. This pool was formally dissolved on the 8th of the present month, and it was stated that not a dollar for the $50,000,0000 had been required to bridge an emergency. The banks and bankers forming this pool, together with some of their friends, are understood to have continued the policy of restricting accommodation to stock market operators, and up until this week had declined to make any call loans under 4 per cent. Yesterday morning, however, three of the largest banks are reported to have loaned $10,000,000 at 3½ per cent during the first hour's business, and this established the tone of the call loan market, the rate subsequently declining to and closing at 2½ per cent. The pressure of outside funds was evidently too great to warrant the maintenance of a 4 per cent call rate, and the pool bowed to the inevitable. Up to last Saturday the associated banks of New York had gained something like $31,000,000 in cash and about $20,000,000 in surplus reserve. Within the same period the expansion in loans amounted to $15,000,000. The preliminary estimates as to today's bank statement places the gain through receipts of currency from the interior at about $6,500,000. The loss through subtreasury operations was a little less than $2,500,000, so that the apparent net gain to the banks for the week was at least $4,800,000. Some of the estimates placed the gain at a higher figure. The change that may occur in the loan item is a matter of guesswork, but the guessers were inclined to look for a reduction today. In Pittsburgh there has also been a decided change toward ease in the call loan market. The reports by stock exchange brokers yesterday indicated that about $500,000 call loans had been negotiated here during the past week at 5 per cent, and quite a number of banks have notified borrowers that beginning with tomorrow the rate on old loans will be reduced to 5 per cent until further notice. This rate, however, cannot be said to be general, many of the banks still quoting 5½@6 per cent on call and time loans.

The eastern stock market yesterday was again made up principally of dealings in a few specialties, and during the early part of the session the tone was steady. Among the active stocks was St. Louis & San Francisco common, which advanced to 83¾. The fact that a Pittsburgh house was the largest buyer its purchases being estimated at 10,000 shares, was responsible for the rumor that large local interests were in a deal to acquire control of the road, which is supposed to be held by New York and St. Louis people. There were other rumors in connection with the movement, one being to the effect that the road was to obtain an eastern outlet through the Pennsylvania or Southern Railway. That there is some sort of a deal was evidenced by the fact that senior securities of the same system were quoted lower than the common stock, which is not yet on a dividend paying basis. Trading in the Erie continued active, and there was more than the usual amount of dealings in Delaware & Hudson, which advanced to 177½. Reading and Rock Island were moderately active but moved within a comparatively narrow range. In the latter part of the day several weak spots appeared among the higher priced railway shares, and the remainder of the list sympathized with the depression. Pennsylvania sold down to 151¾, the lowest point of the month, and 5½ per cent below the price at which it was quoted just before the announcement that the stockholders would be asked to vote upon a proposition to increase the capital and bonds. St. Paul declined 1 per cent to 177 at the close. Union Pacific declined 1½ per cent, while the preferred broke 2¼ per cent on reports of labor troubles on the system. Southern Pacific, which is controlled by Union Pacific, declined in sympathy. Some weakness also developed in Metropolitan, which sold down to 136, but Brooklyn Rapid Transit was not seriously affected by the announced change in the management. In the industrial list the only change of note was in General Electric, which continued its advance, reaching 196, the highest point recorded on this movement. Amalgamated Copper was firm at the opening, but declined with the remainder of the list, while the fluctuations in the steel stocks were spanned by the smallest fractions. The market did not close at the lowest in all cases, but the tone of the final dealings was rather heavy. The total sales reached 422,0000 shares.

Crucible Steel and Pittsburgh Coal furnished the bulk of the business on the local stock board yesterday. The dealings in Pittsburgh Coal common were in large blocks, and the same prominent houses which figured respectively on the buying and selling side of the stock last week again practically monopolized the trading. Nearly all the business was at 28½. The preferred stock sold at 89¼ and was in good demand at that price. The dealings in Crucible Steel common were better distributed than on the day before, but the total was smaller. A considerable part of the selling no doubt represented the taking of profits on stock bought earlier in the week, while the buying was by traders who believe that there must be something in the vague rumors that have been current for a week past of a deal with the United States Steel or some other company. Rumor yesterday mentioned the possibility of some sort of a deal with Jones & Laughlins Steel Company, but there were no plans and specifications to indicate the nature of the proposition, if one really exists. Only 10 shares United States Steel common and 100 shares preferred changed hands all day. Pressed Steel Car sold at 64¾, a decline of ¼ from the last previous sale. Westinghouse Electric opened at 108¾ and subsequently sold off to 108. National Fire Proofing was steady at 29¼@29½, and Window Glass, after selling at 55¼, recovered to 55⅝.

The feature of the banking group was the advance of $15 a share in Marine National to 140, the highest price ever quoted. American Trust was strong, rallying to 190 at the close. Real Estate Trust was also higher, advancing to 296, Federal National bank sold at 148, and North American Savings was firmer at 120½. Iron City Trust advanced to 141 and reacted to 140 at the close, a net gain of 3 points. The bond list was quiet but steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Movements in the stock market during the past two years have been so generally based upon deals that the public has come to look upon every advance more in the light of foreshadowing important events than discounting legitimate business developments. This feeling is responsible for the curiosity regarding the advance of 3 points in Crucible Steel within the past two days on sales of about 8,000 shares, and for the gossip aimed at accounting for the same. Officials of the company are quoted as saying that they know nothing of any proposition affecting the affairs of the company. They refer to the latter's good trade prospects, etc., but these things "don't go" with a public for "deals." There have been rumors both here and in the east of a deal for the merger of the company into the United States Steel, but officials of the former tell their friends they are in ignorance of such deal, and they die probably sincere. Yesterday gossip got the Crucible and the Jones & Laughlins Steel companies into closer relations. The only plausible theory connecting the two lies in the fact that the Jones & Laughlin Company has projected a railroad from Geneva Harbor, O., to Pittsburgh. At one time it was reported that the Union Steel Company would be associated with Jones & Laughlin in the enterprise, but when the Union-Sharon plants were taken into the United States Steel Corporation the question of the Union being interested in a new road to the lakes was settled. The plant of the Clairton Steel Company (owned by the Crucible), will make it a large shipper of ore, etc., and there is a bare possibility that it might become interested with Jones & Laughlin in the building of an independent ore road. Such a project would put the interested concerns more on a parity with the United States Steel Corporation in the matter of freights, all three companies controlling their own ore supplies. Whether there is any foundation for the rumor remains to be stated, and they are merely repeated here as a part of the street gossip of the day.

Another illustration of the desire of the public to unearth a "deal" was furnished by the sudden advance in Marine National bank, which yesterday jumped to 140, the highest price ever quoted. Officials of the bank were ground, making inquiries as to the cause for the sudden activity and strength in the stock. They say there is no deal on hand. Marine National stock is closely held, and as the stock has been paying only 4 per cent on par for some time, it has been overlooked in the general upward movement in bank and trust company stocks.

Darr, Luke & Moore bought 1,000 shares Pittsburgh Coal common, and Martin bought 1,000 shares, all at 28½ and all sold by Sproul & Co. Hill & Co. were large buyers of the preferred, and at the close bid 89¼ for 500 shares. Sproul & Co. were also sellers of the preferred stock.

Pittsburgh & Charleroi 5s were firmer at 103¾ bid.

Standard Security Trust closed at 180 asked; Iron City Trust, 139@140; Merchants Savings and Trust, 62¼@65; North American Savings, 120 bid.

A small lot of Central Savings and Trust changed hands yesterday at 62½. Morris, Brown & Co. to W. A. McCutcheon. The bank is located in the Lawreneville district, and this was the initial public transaction in the stock.

The principal sellers of Crucible Steel were Dory & Sutton, Kuhn Bros., Preston, Watt & Schoyer, Whitney & Stephenson and Lawrence & Co. Buyers were Wettengel, Penny, Darr, Luke & Moore, McClure & Way and Masten & Co. Robinson Bros. were both buyers and sellers.

Hall and McElroy & Boyle were buyers of Marine National bank at the advance. Doty & Sutton and Whitney & Stephenson sold.

Holmes & Sons were sellers of American Trust on the advance. Carothers & Co., Fink and Bayley were buyers.

Barbour was a buyer of National Fire Proofing. Stevenson sold.

The net earnings of Union Pacific for December decreased $47,650.

A Wall street dispatch says Darr, Luke & Moore bought 10,000 shares 'Frisco common stock yesterday, and the impression prevailed in the street that large Pittsburgh interests were in a deal in the road.

A new trust company has been formed in New York with $1,000,000 capital and $500,000 surplus. It is composed of presidents or vice presidents of the banks now loaning money and no outside directors except one of Morgan's partners. The president and directors of the new trust company are: E. C. Converse, president; George F. Baker, George F. Garrison, president Fourth National bank; J. A. Blair, of Blair & Co.; H. P. Davison, vice president First National bank; A. B. Hepburn, vice president Chase National; William Logan, Hanover National.

A Boston dispatch said: New York has reported that Calumet & Hecla recently sold 30,000,000 pounds of copper at 12c a pound. If Calumet made such a sale, which may well be doubted, it is not of consequence at the present time, because it must have taken place more than two months ago. From knowledge of what has been purchased by consumers of Calumet & Hecla who have to a considerable extent pursued a hand-to-mouth policy, it is safe to say that if Calumet has recently sold 30,000,000 pounds of copper, it has been at advancing prices of 12c, 12¼c, 12½c, and 12¾c a pound; with an average of nearer 12½c than 12c. Calumet's present price for many weeks, if not months, until recently, was 12½c.

During the first 25 minutes yesterday three of the largest New York National banks loaned $10,000,000 at 3½ per cent. The largest lender was the First National, who loaned $6,000,000. The others were the City and Western.

According to Boston gossip the New York directors of the General Electric Company at the last meeting were favorable to an increase in the dividend from an 8 to 10 per cent basis, but that the Boston directors objected.

The weakness in the eastern market was ascribed to the sudden breaking off of the negotiations between the Pacific railroad strikers and President Burt. Mr. Burt absolutely refused to accede to the demands for the abolition of piece work and the strikers consequently left with a determination to use every effort to get the other employes of the Union Pacific to join the strike. Naturally, under these circumstances, there was heavy selling of Union Pacific common and preferred and Southern Pacific. The latter stock was sold on the supposition that owing to its close relations with the Union Pacific the strike would extend to its employes.

The Pressed Steel Car Company reports enough orders on its books now to keep its plants working to their greatest capacity well into next fall. Last week it built nearly 50,000 cars. Pennsylvania railroad contracts last year aggregated more than 15,000 cars. Other orders came from the New York Central, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Lehigh Valley and Philadelphia & Reading companies. This year it will pass the 50,000 mark.

Superintendent Kilburn of the banking department indorses the bill of Senator Marshall, introduced this week in the New York legislature, to prohibit trust companies and departments of banks from carrying on a savings bank business. "I know a trust company in New York," he declares, "which sent out 17,000 little iron toy banks and the return was abundant evidence of the power, in approving this bill is to prevent—and not wait until a cure is necessary—the undesirable condition to which affairs are tending. Persons who are looking for a place in which to deposit savings should insist upon the officers of depositors, as any one can see on a Monday morning in a savings bank, are persons of small intelligence, who need to be protected. It is necessary that the institutions in which they place their small savings should be greatly safeguarded."

At a regular meeting of the governing committee of the New York stock exchange it was decided to admit to quotation on the exchange the securities of the Virginia Coal and Coke Company, as follows: $8,641,000 capital stock and $6,696,000 first mortgage 5 per cent 50-year coupon bonds of 1949. Accompanying the application was the following statement: "The Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company was formed by the consolidation of companies in Virginia on the 18th day of January, 1899. It was authorized to issue $10,000 of first mortgage bonds and $10,000,000 capital stock. The company, after its creation, issued all its bonds and stock, except $5,000 of bonds, for the purchase of property and for collateral to secure payment of money borrowed and to retire prior liens existing on the property and other obligations. The company became insolvent and was placed in the hands of receivers; during the receivership, which continued from February 6, 1901, the date of the appointment of the receivers, to January 1, 1903, at which date the receivers were discharged and the company took possession of its property, the amount of bonds, by payment of moneys on the part of the receivers' commission and reorganization and the sinking fund, by making purchase of bonds, was reduced to $7,822,000."

THE MONEY MARKET.

The bulk of call loans made by brokers yesterday was reported at 5 per cent. Time loans have also been made at the same figure, but some banks still quote 5½@6 per cent. Clearing house comparisons:

BUILDING END GOES ABOVE SALES SECTION

Renewed Activity in Construction Department of Real Estate Business--Investors and Residence Purchasers Active.

The building development of the real estate business went considerably above the sales department yesterday, although there were a number of sales of importance under way that were not in shape to be made public. The leading of the business section of the town is illustrated by the work of two well-known brokers, who were commissioned to secure a 100 to 200 foot store front on Fifth avenue, in the Fifth avenue district, for a store and apartment to be combined. He went all along the avenue and Ross street, but could not get anything for less than $1,500 a foot front, except in a few cases in which he could secure only small frontage. As the prospective purchaser did not want to pay more than $1,000 a foot front, he refused to buy. The same broker stated that the Fifth avenue property in the vicinity of the High school was placed at from $1,000 to $1,600 a foot front.

Joseph McGroarty, of Bergh & Co., has purchased from C. L. and R. Sands, Borough Samuel W. Black & Co., for $16,000 cash, the property Nos. 22 and 25 Sandusky street, on the easterly side, between Water and Fifth avenues. The lot is 40x120 feet to an alley, and has on it two three-story brick buildings. Investment was the object of the purchaser, as the property rents for about $2,500 a year.

Another Penn Avenue Sale.

L. A. Clark & Co. sold for Robert T. and Jeanette McClure to John Frazier, the property No. 2481 Penn avenue, for $7,800. The lot is near Twenty-fourth street, and has a frontage of 24 feet on Penn avenue by 100 feet to an alley, on which is erected a brick dwelling. The purchaser secured it for an investment.

Mrs. Margaret L. Hetchinson of New York City has sold to Dr. E. B. McGraw, through M. J. Rosenfeld, a brick house of nine rooms, with lot 22x70 feet, on the south side of Fifth avenue, No. 2010. Dr. McGraw will occupy the house and will occupy it about April 1.

Henry W. Armstrong sold for Catherine A. Clark and Oliver D. Clark to the Rev. C. Swanson a tract of land in Emsworth borough, at Clifton station, Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad, containing 3 acres, with large frame dwelling and barn, for $25,000 cash.

Elizabeth C. Thomas has sold to Otto J. Hranitzky a lot on Ella street, near Stanton avenue, in the east side of Amber street, near Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $16,000.

H. W. Oliver has purchased from Thomas Wallace, through George Bros., 1½ acres on the Watson road, Lett township, adjoining Mr. Oliver's country residence, for $5,000.

A frame dwelling on Beech avenue, near Stanton avenue, has been sold for $8,250 to J. F. Stiles, through F. H. Lloyd, for Mrs. S. C. Rose. The lot is 60x150, and the house will be occupied as a residence by the purchaser.

J. Pernod sold to S. Smith a lot 40x125 on Jackson street, Nineteenth ward, for $900. A fine residence will be erected by the owner.

The Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company has sold the property at No. 4506 Penn avenue, between Craig and Dithridge streets, lot 40x144, containing a nine-room two-story brick dwelling, for $9,000 cash. Mrs. A. Wood was the seller, and John Cramer of Henry Auction Company was the purchaser.

To Build an Apartment House.

Real capitalists are after desirable property in Wilkinsburg for the purpose of erecting a first-class apartment house.

George Fry has purchased the Morton property on Penn avenue, Allegheny, above the Seventh street bridge, for $22,000. The old two-story building on the land will be torn down and a store room for the erection of a warehouse.

Among the other real estate sales reported yesterday were the following: Mrs. Margaret Bersch has purchased from C. L. and R. Sands, Borough Samuel W. Black & Co., for $16,000 cash, the property Nos. 22 and 25 Sandusky street, on the easterly side, between Water and Fifth avenues. The lot is 40x120 feet to an alley, and has on it two three-story brick buildings. Investment was the object of the purchaser, as the property rents for about $2,500 a year.

Lizzie Bersch has purchased from C. L. and R. Sands, Borough Samuel W. Black & Co., for $16,000 cash, the property Nos. 22 and 25 Sandusky street, on the easterly side, between Water and Fifth avenues. The lot is 40x120 feet to an alley, and has on it two three-story brick buildings. Investment was the object of the purchaser, as the property rents for about $2,500 a year.

FEELING OF ALL IS PESSIMISTIC

Evidence of Deadlock in Conference of Miners and Operators More Pronounced.

SITUATION IS STRAINED

Intimation That Wage Scale and Other Differences May Be Taken Before Commission Named by President.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 30.—The Indiana coal mines are again being optioned to representatives of a combination of capitalists who propose to merge the mines under one management. Absolute ownership is to be secured by the company. The transactions involve an outlay of $35,000,000. The men who are securing options on the property are A. M. Ogle of Indianapolis, J. Smith Talley of Terre Haute and George Seifert of Sullivan, Ind.

Already many of the largest coal mining interests in the state are covered by options. Neither Talley, Ogle or Seifert, all of whom are attending the joint wage scale conference between the miners and the operators, will talk. It is understood that the company contemplates equipping itself with its own coal cars.

Breaking every precedent with their haste, the operators sitting in joint conference with the miners of the bituminous fields of the central competitive field, at today's session, made public their determination not to yield to the demands of the miners. In joint conference heretofore, when either side felt any disposition to concede to the demands made, the introduction of the miners' petition has been the signal for the inauguration of a debate continuing for several days.

Quickly Goes to Committee.

Today, however, President Mitchell had no sooner concluded the reading of the miners' demands than the whole matter of a new wage scale was referred to the joint scale committee.

The haste with which the conference dropped the subject is taken by the miners as the most pessimistic indication yet presented. The operators, by their action, practically voiced the sentiment heretofore intimated that they would make absolutely no concessions.

The Illinois operators a moment later buried another obstacle in the conference that will block a settlement, by insisting that the run-of-mine basis under which they operate must be extended to the other states participating in the joint agreement, or else Illinois will withdraw. A tollmax was reached when President Mitchell, replying to Commissioner Justi of Illinois, called into question Justi's statements regarding Illinois conditions. Mitchell demanded proof and Justi refused an apology until investigation should convince him of his error.

The miners' demands are as follows:

1. Absolute run-of-mine basis for the entire competitive field.
2. A flat differential of 7 cents a ton between pick and machine mining.
3. An advance of 12½ cents a ton on pick and machine mined coal.

Advance for Laborers.

4. A 53 per cent advance on all inside day labor, based on the Columbus inside day wage scale agreement; a uniform scale for all outside day labor with appropriate advance at the mining rate.
5. That drivers and cagers shall be paid the same as track layers and timber men.

Tonight the sentiment expressed by both operators and miners is in line with the pessimistic view taken yesterday. The opinion was expressed that the operators will be willing to refer the entire matter to the anthracite strike committee appointed by President Roosevelt or to any similar committee that the president may name especially for the purpose of adjusting the differences that seem inevitable in the bituminous field. The idea of such a committee was briefly touched upon in the conference today, but was not proposed.

Ohio—Operators: J. H. Winder, W. K. Field, H. L. Chapman, T. E. Young. Miners: T. L. Lewis, W. H. Haskins, D. H. Sullivan, G. W. Savage.

LETTER TO GIRL WILL FIGURE IN MURDER CASE

William J. Byers, John McWilliams and Nellie McWilliams to Be Tried Next Week on Charge of Killing Woman's First Husband.

The grand jury will convene on Monday and proceed with the grind of business brought before it for action. At present almost 100 persons are in jail, and their cases will be the first to be considered by the grand jury.

Among the most important trials set for next week is that of William J. Byers, John McWilliams and Nellie McWilliams, charged with the murder of Thomas Layton, which occurred on May 11, 1901. The trial promises to contain sensational features and to be strenuously contested, as the defendants have retained several prominent members of the bar.

Layton's dead body was found in the bushes along a roadside near Turtle Creek. He had been on his way to work and his dinner pail was beside him. Suicide was suspected, but almost a year later Byers is alleged to have written a letter to a young woman named West, in Cleveland, disclosing the details of the killing of Layton, implicating the three defendants in the conspiracy. His death, it is alleged, was to enable Byers to wed his wife, who subsequently ignored her agreement with Byers and married McWilliams.

The West woman communicated with the police bureau and an investigation was made by Detectives Elmore and McGovern, resulting in the arrest of the three defendants on April 29, 1902. Since their arrest they have remained in jail, the woman giving birth to a child during her incarceration. An application to remove her to a hospital was refused by the court. The case is set for next Wednesday.

Another case, to be called on February 10, is that of Randolph Sayers, charged with obtaining $770 from the National Bank of Western Pennsylvania on Penn avenue and Ninth street, on two forged checks. Sayers' arrest was made sensational by a foot race between Sayers and the president of the bank over seven squares along Penn avenue.

TROUBLES ARE AIRED

The master in the divorce case of Flora G. Strang against John A. Strang, recommended that a decree be granted. The respondent is an insurance agent, living at Canton, O. Two divorces were granted in common pleas court No. 1. One suit was that of Rosa Rall against August Rall. They were married February 15, 1897, and separated May 1, 1901. Cruel and barbarous treatment was charged. Mrs. Rall testified that when her baby died she was compelled to send to a club for her husband, and at another time he threatened to throw a lighted lamp at her.

In the case of Ray Chamberlain against Ella Chamberlain, the libellant accused his wife of intimacy with Hammond K. Bell, a telegraph operator, whom he testified, she said she intended marrying.

Libels in divorce were filed as follows: W. H. Steele against Emma Steele, desertion; Agnes H. Webster vs. John Webster and Josian Smith vs. Rosanna Smith, infidelity.

STRIKE HEARING NEARING AN END

All Operators' Testimony Except Some Statistics Presented to Commissioners.

REBUTTAL NEXT WEEK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—With the exception of the presentation of statistics the coal operators closed their case before the coal strike commission today. The striking miners will begin calling witnesses in rebuttal Monday, using three or four days, after which the commission will adjourn to the following Monday. The arguments will begin February 9. The commission has heard 490 witnesses.

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company occupied all of today's sessions. Counsel for the miners and the paymaster of the Reading company differed in their views as to the reliability of averages shown in the wage statements handed to the commission.

John E. Davis, mine foreman of the Potts colliery, was called. It was testified several weeks ago that a miner named J. P. Clark had lost his position because he testified before the commission at Scranton, and Davis was called to give his version of the story.

It developed that Clark was suddenly called to Scranton and did not have time to notify the foreman, and on the third day Davis filled his place. When Clark came back and told where he had been, Davis refused to take him back. Chairman Gray thought it was not right to deprive a man of his position for testifying before the commission, and Superintendent Veith was requested to reinstate Clark. The superintendent promised to do so.

Patrick F. Brennan, of Shamokin, a division superintendent of the Reading company, testified to the violence committed during the strike at the Henry Clay colliery, near Shamokin. Prior to the strike of 1900, he said, the market regulated the output of coal. Since then, however, the men have been regulating the production.

This train was routed via the C., B. & Q. to Chicago and Fort Wayne from Chicago to Pittsburgh. This is the largest consignment of flour ever shipped to this market, and consisted of 35 cars, aggregating 10,000 barrels. 6,000 barrels of which was for Ward-Mackey Company, the large bakers who make the celebrated Mother's Bread, and it would seem that the phenomenal success they have made is due to the fact that they use only the best flour.

AMALGAMATION PROMISING.

Two Unions of Sheet Metal Workers Will Arbitrate Their Differences.

As a result of the conference at Washington, D. C., there is said to be good promise of an amalgamation of the Sheet Metal Workers' National alliance and the International Association of Sheet Metal Workers. M. O'Sullivan, vice president of the alliance, who returned to Pittsburgh yesterday from Washington, says there seems little in the way of a settlement of all differences and an amalgamation of the workers.

The matter is in the hands of an arbitration committee consisting of President Frank Buchanan of the Bridgemen, Vice President P. J. Conlin of the Machinists, and Organizer Thomas H. Flynn of the American Federation of Labor. Representatives at the Washington conference are pledged to recommend to their organizations the acceptance of the committee's decision. The alliance will have its convention in Chicago in May, and the other organization in Milwaukee in April. These conventions will take final action.

A Jumbled Lot of Saturday Bargains.
Things have little time to grow old in this store, and in asking you to come for the bargains on this last day of our fiscal year we are not asking you to buy old goods, but practically new goods.
After the many successful special sales of this month, lots are small, really a jumble of things, but things that are wanted right now.

Blankets and Comforts Today.
Time was when women liked to make their own Comforts, but like a great many other things, now that Comforts can be bought ready-made really cheaper than material sells for retail, the making of Comforts is a past occupation in households.
Selling Cotton Comforts, pure white cotton, the best of coverings, for $1.25, $1.50, $2 and up to $4.50 each.
Wool Blankets—nothing but wool, and good wool—for $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4, $4.50, $5, and up to $15 for the finest.

A Suit and a Skirt Item.
Two pointers from the women's Suit Department, which is filled with other just as good bargains:
Different styles of Suits for $10, the same kind that we have sold through the season for $20 and $25. Various colors. Both walking and dress styles.
Walking and Dress Skirts, 5, 7 and 9 gores, some plain, some trimmed, $5, sold for $10 and up to $20. Cheviot, broadcloth, mohair and novelty mixtures.

Women's Fur and Cloth Coats.
In the entire collection of reduced Coats, any style of Coat that your notion calls for—not all given here, just a few paragraphs by way of illustrating the absurdly small prices now very active.
Box Coats and hip seam Coats and fitted back Coats, either of black kersey or black cheviot, for $5, original prices $10 and $12.50. Either silk or satin lined.
Ulsters, Monte Carlo Coats, Alexandra Coats for $7.50 that sold for $20 and $25. Choose either smooth or rough cloth.
Nearseal Coats, so near the real thing that it is difficult to tell one from t'other, for $25, original price $40. Latest style as to cut; lined with satin.

Not Much to Pay for Men's and Boys' Clothing.
We notice many men are buying Suits and Overcoats now and will not wear them until the beginning of next Winter. It pays to buy Clothing now and carry it over. That is one reason why we make the prices so small—rather you would carry it than we.
Men's black and blue Suits for $10 that sold for $15 and $18.
Men's $20 and $22 fancy Suits, either single or double breasted Coat for $15 that sold for $20 and $22. Another line for $18 that sold for $25 and up to $32.
Men's tan covert Short Topcoats, nice for warm days like we had Thursday, $10.
Men's three-quarter length Topcoats, black and oxford gray unfinished worsted and thibet, silk lined and some silk faced to edge, $15 for those that sold for $20 and $25.
Men who desire a pair or several pairs of real fine Trousers, can for $5, come and buy Trousers that sold for $7.50, $8 and $10.
Boys' Knee Trouser Suits, plain blue and black and fancy mixtures for $3.50 that sold for $7.50.

Little Prices for Millinery.
You'll not find big assortments, because the Winter Millinery has been sold down very low—but what there is will interest any woman, as much for its beauty as for the very small prices we ask you to pay.
Think of only 50c for tastily trimmed hats that sold formerly for $3.50.
Or 10c for an untrimmed Hat that sold for $1. And for the flowers with which to trim it, 5c and 10c a bunch for those that sold for 75c and $1.
Children's Winter Caps and Hats and Tams, long months yet in which to wear them, are selling for 25c each. These same grades sold for $1 and $1.50.

Fur Neckpieces.
Most attractive prices yet made. Any woman can have two or three different kinds of Neckpieces. The following tell you of similar unmentioned bargains:
Scarfs of South American Beaver, cluster tails, for $2, sold for $5.
Boas of Sable Fox, brush tails, for $3.50 that sold for $7.50.
Boas of Sable Fox and Isabella Fox, very large tails for $10 that sold for $18.

Various Kinds of Waists.
Think of a dollar for a warm flannel Waist, and also notice the other ridiculous prices for Silk Waists.
Several styles of blue, red, pearl, tan, navy and pink Flannel Waists, $1 each, sold for $2 and up to $4.
Wool Waists such cloths as Crepe, Cords, Novelty weaves, all colors and sizes, $2 for those that sold for $5 and $6.
Black and colored Silk Waists for $3.50 that sold for $6 and $10.
By the way, a good many young ladies think Golf Vests are the nicest kind of a thing in cold weather. Selling $4.50 Golf Vests for $2 each.

PENN AND FIFTH.
